Horse, Dog, Mustache, Wife Fainting, Then Booming England Is Mistaken Steel Profits, One Billion

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE rules of West Point forbid the cadet to have "a horse, dog, wife or mustache."

Cadet Paul Capron, Jr., found he could get along without the horse, dog or mustache. But when he saw Marguerite Gillespie, Cadet Capron decided that the academy rules were too strict.

Miss Gillespie is now Mrs. Capron, and Mr. Capron, no longer at West Point, is now looking for a newspaper job in Boston. This writer will give him one temporarily in New York while he looks for something better.

ANCIENT Sparta had rules similar, but more severe for young men. It is wise to bar mustaches that gather germs. Horses and dogs are not necessary. But, why shouldn't a young West Pointer marry if he wants to marry.

WALL STREET began business yesterday with a fainting spell, everything dropped, some pessimists said, "now the real trouble is coming."

Confidence returned, the prices went up from 5 to 20 points, and optimists said, "all the trouble is over."

Both were mistaken.

SOME little speculators that rejoiced and were exceeding glad when Mr. Rockefeller said he and his son were buying stocks that were good investments wonder what is the matter with the Rockefeller Standard Oil stocks. They apparently have not been bought to any considerable extent and are still in the doldrums.

ENGLAND, badly mistaken, says, "American stocks will decline to a yield level," meaning that American stocks that pay $5 in dividends will sell not above $100. Those that pay $10 dividends will sell not above $200, etc.

That is fallacious. Those that know the United States consider present yield for present income, and future greater earnings as the basis of real value.

GOOD stocks are controlled by enormously rich men, that dislike income tax payments. They say to their managers, "Don't pay me big dividends and make me give so much to the government.

"Reinvest my earnings, buy more good properties, make your company more valuable, then hand me 'stock dividends' on which I don't have to pay the government anything."

DON'T gamble. But don't believe for one minute that the value of things in America depends on present dividends or on the rent that real estate happens to pay at the moment. "It hath not yet been shown what we shall be." That applies particularly to dividends.

IF you have a steel business and run it well, you can make money in America, with help of a protective tariff.

Income tax reports of the leading steel companies show that in six years past they have paid income tax on one thousand million dollars of profit.

A billion in six years is good profit, but no more than a great industry should make in a prosperous country.

THE benefit of buying at home from your own people, even if you pay a little more, resides in the fact that the money stays here, goes into other American enterprises, more factories, more production, more prosperity.

AFTER hearing about profits of steel companies, the solemn senators yesterday voted to increase the tariff on manganese, which steel companies need, instead of putting it on the free list.

Apparently the senators think the steel industry too prosperous.

They suggest some proud father, observing that his son is fat, deciding to give him no more food.

GENERAL MOTORS, in its report just published, shows that during the first nine months of this year the company's sales surpassed by $77,000,000 sales for the same period in 1928.

The company's surplus in the third quarter of this year in-

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(INS.)—Curtailed sessions of the New York Stock Exchange will be held again next week. The board of governors this afternoon voted to close the exchange at 1 p. m. every day next week from Monday to Friday, inclusive, and to close all day on Saturday, November 16. There will be no session tomorrow, this having been agreed upon previously.

The normal sessions of the stock exchange are from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. Recent markets have been so heavy, however, that they have overtaxed the physical facilities of the exchange.

Today, with volume of trading materially reduced and fluctuations much less spectacular than they

GIRL LOSES $50,000 OF THAW DAMAGES

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—The $75,000 verdict awarded by a jury to Marcia Estardus, night club hostess, in her $100,000 suit for mistreatment against Harry K. Thaw, was reduced to $25,000 by Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy.

The verdict was returned two weeks ago after second trial of the suit in which the girl charged that Thaw had bitten her and beaten her at a New Year's Day party in his apartment in 1927.

Justice Levy had under consideration a motion by Thaw's attorney to set aside the verdict, and announced he would grant the motion unless the girl, whose real name is May G. O'Neill, would take $25,000. Her counsel said he felt confident she would take the smaller sum.

Thomas A. McGrath, Thaw's lawyer, announced after Justice Levy's ruling that he still intended to appeal.

PITT, W-J PRIMED FOR TILT SATURDAY

By JESS CARVER

In secret practice sessions here and in Washington, Pa., Pitt and Wash-Jeff put the finishing touches on their elevens in preparation for tomorrow's meeting in the Stadium.

The Panthers, primed to the second for the invasion of the Presidents, went through a long signal drill on the Pitt practice field. Ray Ride and Bill Amos, youthful mentors of the Red and Black, gave their charges a drill on College Field in Washington.

The Presidents will not move to Pittsburgh until tomorrow morning, arriving here shortly before lunch time and taking up their quarters at Webster Hall. They will remain in seclusion until game time. The Panthers will be kept at the University Club tomorrow and will eat their final luncheon there.

The rivals will line up tomorrow in the same manner as they have in their major tests all season. For Pitt, Donchess and Collins will be at the ends; Tully and MacMurdo will play the tackles; Capt. DiMeolo and Montgomery will be guards, and Daugherty will be at center; Baker is to play quarterback; Uansa and Wiliams or Rooney at the halves, and Tom Parkinson at fullback.

Secrist and McNiel will be at the ends for Wash-Jeff, with Capt. Douds and Levine at the tackles and Demas and Malcolm at the guards. Rigney is slated for center with Butler, Rush, Lewis and Wilson in the backfield.

Duquesne University's Dukes are in Washington, D. C., where tomorrow they meet the strong Catholic University eleven. The Dukes were slated for a workout on Georgetown University's gridiron this afternoon.

SEWICKLEY WOMAN ROBBED OF GOWNS

Mrs. J. B. Cullum, Jr., young Sewickley society matron, left her limousine parked near the county jail this afternoon and went shopping.

She returned an hour later to find three evening gowns, valued at $1,000, had been stolen.

Mrs. Cullum, who lives at 234 Broad street, Sewickley, said that she had driven into town and had forgotten to lock the doors. She gave detectives a description of the gowns.

One of the gowns is a green chiffon with a coat attachment; the second is a flesh color satin, and the third is a black velvet.

SCHOOLBOY'S DEATH BLAMED ON BEATING

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(INS.)—An unidentified youth committed suicide today by jumping from the famous Brooklyn Bridge. When he landed in the East river, 132 feet below, he fought off the crew of a tugboat who tried to rescue him. Then he sank.

A light gray overcoat was found on the bridge. It contained 9 cents and a white metal watch and chain.

G. R. WALLACE DIES; LAWYER 35 YEARS

Attorney George R. Wallace, former president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, died from pneumonia today at his home, 7131 Penn avenue.

Mr. Wallace was born in Newville, Pa., December 5, 1865. He received his arts degree from Princeton University in 1891, and his master's degree in 1892. He was admitted to the bar March 10, 1894.

In 1916 he married Miss Jacquetta Clements who, with their four sons, survives him.

Mr. Wallace was vice president and director of the Amortization Mortgage Company; director, Paden City Land Company; president and director, Paden City Pottery Company; secretary and director, the Penn-Pitt Coal and Coke Company; director, Keystone Stores Company, and president of the Pennsylvania-United States Bonded Mortgage Corporation.

He also was a member of Phi Beta Kappa fraternity; Oakmont Country Club; University Club, and the Princeton Club.

Attorney Wallace was president of the Chamber of Commerce in 1325 and 1926 and at the time of his death was a member of its board of directors. He was senior member of the law firm of Wallace, Patterson & Collins.

EXTREME PENALTY ASKED IN SLAYING OF FATHER-IN-LAW

BULLETIN

Otto Hindman, 29, of New Eagle, was found guilty of murder in the second degree by a jury in Quarter Sessions Court late today. The jury recommended he be given "the extreme penalty." The maximum penalty for second degree murder is imprisonment from 10 to 20 years.

The jury had been out 24 hours.

The jury in the case of Otto Hindman, 29, of New Eagle, who has been on trial in Quarter Sessions Court on a murder charge, late today had been out more than 24 hours. Visiting Judge Miles I. Potter, who presided at the trial, returned to his home in Snyder County late today. Judge Harry H. Rowand arranged to receive the verdict, if one is found, up until midnight.

Judge Potter was asked to explain again the difference between first and second degree murder when court opened today.

Hindman was tried for the shooting to death of his father-in-law, Anthony Schragl, 46, of Baldwin township. The request for additional explanation of legal technicalities came after the jury deliberated all night.

Jurors also asked what bearing temporary insanity would have upon their verdict, and when instructed that such a condition would necessitate a verdict of manslaughter, they again retired to the jury room.

DIPLOMAT RUM QUIZ BY SENATOR BALKED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS.)—A gentle hint that the Treasury and State departments are protecting the diplomatic corps against any senatorial inquiry into the diplomatic liquor situation was dropped today by Senator Howell (Rep.), of Nebraska, as the national capital continued to agitate over prohibition enforcement.

Howell announced to International News Service that he has been trying for six weeks to get from the two departments a record of diplomatic liquor imports in the last few years. The Nebraskan said he could get no response from the two departments to his requests for information. He apparently hoped to use the information in a speech replying to President Hoover's demand for specific evidence of dry law violations in the national capital.

The Federal inquiry into the "Wall Street booze party," described to the Senate by Senator Smith W. Brookhart (Rep.), of Iowa, meanwhile continued before a grand jury here. Edward E. Loomis, president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad and a member of J. P. Morgan & Co., who was "invited" to appear before the grand jury Monday via telegraph, last night informed District Attorney Rover he would appear as requested. Loomis got into the case when Brookhart told of seeing him drink

Negro Grabs Girl On Street, Holds Captive in House

Frances Seriana, 22, of Miami street, Oakland, was walking in Allequippa street today when a Negro grabbed her, forced her into a nearby house and kept her prisoner for two hours.

She escaped after a battle with the Negro, notified police and a suspect was arrested.

Miss Seriana managed to dash out of the house when the Negro grabbed a razor and threatened her life if she told police.

As she was escaping she said she heard him cry out, "I'll probably end up on a slab in the morgue after this."

Miss Seriana was taken to Homeopathic Hospital, where she was treated for shock.

Plainclothesman Thomas Meade arrested the suspect at Moultrie and Wyandotte streets. Meade said the man had admitted the attack. He is on police records as Nat Neil, 38, of the Allequippa street address.

PLOT SEEN IN ERIE COURTHOUSE FIRE

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 8.—Fire in the basement of Erie Country Courthouse, near a pile of ballot boxes, early today was branded by the Voters' Civic League as the attempt of an opposing political faction to frustrate a recount of votes cast at Tuesday's election.

The blaze started in rubbish, 25 feet away from the boxes. The burning of wires attached to a burglar signal, soon after the night watchman departed, gave the alarm.

Firemen extinguished the blaze with slight damage. Fire Chief Michael Leonard, placing the damage at $300, said he was not certain the fire was of incendiary origin.

Edward J. Murphy, attorney for the Voters' Civic League, and Sheriff Thomas G. Sterrett joined in attributing the fire to a plot to destroy the ballot boxes.

With the returning board count completed in five of six wards of the city, Theodore Eichhorn, Republican, was leading Edward J. Allen, Democrat, backed by the league, by 58 votes, for one of two seats in city council.

Representatives of the league had declared the intention of demanding a recount on the ground of fraud in event Allen was defeated.

The returning board count, it is expected, will be completed today.

BANDITS BLACKJACK 2 IN STORE HOLDUP

Two robbers held up the Potter-McCune Company chain store, 110 Church street, Turtle Creek, today, beat two employes unconscious and fled with $350.

"Get into the back room," ordered one of the robbers, pointing a revolver at Orville Chalmers, 15, a helper.

Chalmers and Paul Eschelman, 38, the manager, obeyed. Each of the robbers swung a blackjack and the two dropped to the floor unconscious.

The thugs took the money from a till under the counter and speeded away from the scene in an automobile.

A few minutes later Eschelman regained consciousness and telephoned police.

County detectives took up the hunt for the thugs, described as about 28.

MOORE, BROKER'S SON, WINS DIVORCE

William Moore, 33, son of the late J. H. Moore, of the brokerage firm Moore, Leonard & Lynch, today was granted a divorce from Alice Moore by Judge James H. Gray.

Moore charged that his wife deserted him in 1925 with the information that she no longer cared for him. They had been married in 1917.

It is understood that reconciliation efforts failed.

'JACKASS' CHARGE EMBITTERS SENATE TARIFF FIGHT

INSURGENTS DENOUNCE MOSES

President Pro Tem Admits Epithet; Reed Condemned As 'Stupid and Selfish'

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Bitter personal quarrels over the tariff broke out afresh in the Senate today when insurgent Republicans from the West took the floor to flay Senator George H. Moses (Rep.), of New Hampshire, for describing members of the ruling Democrat-Progressive coalition as "sons of wild jackasses."

With Moses presiding as president pro tem., Senators Wheeler (Dem.), of Montant; Brookhart (Rep.), of Iowa, and Nye (Rep.), of North Dakota, indulged in personalitits in total disregard of the usual rules of senatorial courtesy.

MOSES CALM

Moses maintained his usual complacency as he was forced to recognize the embattled westerners when they took the floor. He did not deny taht he had characterized the coalition as "Sons of wild jackasses" at a dinner of New England exporters here last night.

When Senator Wheeler suggested that he might want to explain, Moses said:

"If the Senator can find a more fitting appellation for the gyrated crew who run the Senate I'll be glad to use it."

The recent statement of Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, that Republican Insurgents from the Northwest who are fighting the rates in the Hawley-Smoot bill "are more dangerous to the country than all the Communists combined" also was discussed during the controversy.

HEADS CAMPAIGN

"I want to call the attention of those Republican senators from the west that this man (Senator Moses), who has made these remarks, is the man selected to run the campaign to re-elect Senator Norris next year and to make a strong campaign for all those who come up for re-election in the northwest," said Senator Wheeler, referring to Moses' chairmanship of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

"In the days before dry dinners, the senator from New Hampshire referred to the 'farm bloc' as being composed of 17 lawyers, one editor and one well-digger," interjected Senator Brookhart (Rep.), of Iowa. "Since it has become the fashion to have dry dinners the senator calls them sons of wild jackasses."

Wheeler declared that Moses and Reed both expressed the thought of manufacturers in New England and Pennsylvania and said the Northwest would resent it.

KAHN ACTION CITED

As Senators bandied such terms as "silly" and "stupid" in their quarrel, Senator Wheeler suggested that Otto H. Kahn, Wall street banker, who declined Moses' offer to become treasurer of the Republican Senatorial Committee, did so because of the "wet dinner" exposed by Senator Brookhart.

"The fact that Kahn declined shows you don't need wet dinners to rise to new levels," said Brookhart.

Senator Heflin (Dem.), of Alabama, suggested that perhaps Moses' complaint that the coalition was writing a sectional tariff bill to injure eastern manufacturers was made on the theory that "the ox knoweth his owner and the ass his master's crib."

"The cat is out of the bag," said Wheeler. "At last the people of the northwest have wakened up to who has been running the Republican party, why they have demanded tariff duties on manufactured articles and want the products of the northwest on the free list. They know that they have been handed a 'sop' by duties on wheat and other articles which mean nothing."

Senator Nye (Rep.), of North Dakota, particularly condemned Senator Reed for his declaration that the insurgents were more dangerous than Communists. He read an editorial from the Fargo (N. D.) Forum calling Reed's statement "stupid and selfish" and referring to him as "a spoiled boy."

Declaring the northwest is united against the tariff bill—both insurgents and regulars—Nye told Moses that he could get plenty of members for "the Order of Sons of Wild Jackasses" in the northwest.

NORRIS SPOILS EXHIBIT

Using the Republican "five and ten store" to illustrate his speech, Senator Norris charged the Republicans with seeking to place an embargo against foreign imports through the new tariff. His speech, in which he referred to the exhibit of imported articles as "Joseph R. Grundy's store" spoiled the plan of tariff leaders to use the merchandise to illustrate protectionist speeches.

Norris cited the tremendous profits accruing to importers on various articles. He demonstrated with clay bowls, dolls, books and violins, but cited how the articles carried duties ranging from 40 to 80 per cent.

"We love the housewife, we love the student, we love children, we love the workingman, says Mr. Grundy," Norris argued. "But will he relieve their burdens? Oh, no, not by reducing profits or reducing prices, but by making them pay the profits to Mr. Grundy and his associates instead of to the importers.

GUN BATTLE SUGGESTED

"Grundy doesn't offer to sell any cheaper. No, he only says, 'these are our importers. We have a right to rob them without competition. We have a right to rob them without interference from importers.' They are like the bootleggers in Chicago. When one bootlegger gets into the territory of another, they kill them. These importers have no right to rob the American people, says Grundy, 'I want to rob them.'

"Now we're asked to help Grundy. I say it would be cheaper to turn over a few guns to them and let Grundy defend his preserves against the importers just like the buccaneers in Chicago."

Personal antagonism was again evidenced when Senator Barkley criticised Representative John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, Republican leader, because of Tilson's statement that the House would reject the Senate tariff bill.

"I question the propriety of the Republican leader of the House, either in a speech or an interview, undertaking to lecture the Senate of the United States on the tariff bill or its disposition," said Barkley.

Rivera Denies Break In Spanish Cabinet

liquor from a silver flask in the party.

Walter F. Fahy, New York broker, who staged the party, probably will get a chance to tell his side of the story to the grand jury week. Fahy, however, has told friends he had nothing to do with furnishing any liquor at the party and could not recall having seen any. Brookhart said that silver flasks, filled with whisky, were distributed as "favors."

LANDLORD CALLED

Frank S. Hight, manager of the Willard Hotel, where the dinner was given, was requested by Rover today to appear Monday before the grand jury. Hight was asked to bring with him all hotel records relating to the dinner.

Howell's personal inquiry, growing out of a speech he made in the Senate last September, seemed to be running into official snags. The Nebraskan has charged that Washington diplomats had no immunity against the prohibition law. He further argued that all railroads, steamships and truck companies, engaged in importing embassy liquors, were guilty of dry law violations. That was why he called on the Treasury and State departments for a list of diplomatic liquor imports.

"I am still endeavoring to secure from the State and Treasury Departments a statement showing the records of common carriers in handling diplomatic liquors," said Howell. "I've been trying to get this information ever since I spoke to the Senate September 22."

"Have you got it?"

"No, I haven't," replied Howell, "but I'm going to keep on trying."

Senate developments over the "Wall street booze party" seemed to be awaiting some action by the grand jury. The lobby committee continued its tariff inquiry and indicated no immediate intent to probe Brookhart's story that Otto H. Kahn and Loomis had sought to influence him on railroad legislation at the Fahy dinner. This sort of table talk, it was indicated, will not be characterized as lobbying—and therefore can be ignored by the lobbying investigating committee.

Junior Coolidges To Be Wedding Guests Here

Mrs. John Coolidge, of New Haven, Conn., formerly Florence Trumbull, daughter of the Governor of Connecticut, will be matron of honor and her husband, son of ex-President Coolidge, will be a guest at a wedding in Pittsburgh tomorrow.

The bride will be Virginia Emily Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Henry Rogers, of Northumberland avenue, a classmate of Mrs. Coolidge at Mt. Holyoke College, and the bridegroom will be Nathan Hofer White, of Spring Glenn, Conn.

Year Probation for Girl Racer Guilty

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Joan La Coste, auto race driver from Memphis, Tenn., convicted of attempted robbery, was placed on probation for one year. She faced a sentence of one to 14 years. A jury found her guilty of entering the hotel apartment of Mrs. Rebecca Bobbe early in October with the intent to rob. Mrs. Bobbe struggled with her. The girl was captured. A toy pistol and a handkerchief saturated with chloroform were found in her possession.

CLEVELAND MAN VANISHES AS AUTO BURNS

No Trace of City Official in Mystery Disappearance; Police Suspect Foul Play

International News Service.

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 8.—Mysters today shrouded the disappearance of Dr. Ernest Watzl, Cleveland water department official, following the discovery of the charred, twisted wreckage of his automobile on the Schuykill River banks, near here, late yesterday.

The car had been burned by flames apparently originating from a leaking gasoline connection.

Dr. Watzl was reported to have left Philadelphia yesterday on a return motor trip to Cleveland. There was no trace of the missing chemist.

NOT FOUND AT HOME

Cleveland police were unable to locate him in the Ohio city, and a telephone conversation with his wife also failed to locate him.

State police and state highway patrolmen began grappling in the river near where the charred car was found.

Dr. Watzl had been sent to Philadelphia by Ohio officials to make tests of water in this vicinity. He carried chemicals in his car which might have exploded and ignited the machine.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED

Dr. Watzl has two daughters. He is said to be about 40 years of ago, five feet, eight inches tall. He wore a blue chinchilla overcoat, with a derby and spats. He also wore a monocle and had blue eyes.

Police suspect foul play.

PITTSBURGHERS IN FATAL CRASH

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 8.—W. B. Dugan and James Ward, both of Pittsburgh, were seriously injured, and William Stolber, 50, Toledo, was killed, when the autos in which they were riding collided at the crossing of Corduroy and Wynn roads.

Each failed to see the other. The Toledo car was overturned and the gasoline tank exploded. Stolber was burned to death, trapped in his car. The Pittsburghers' car was demolished when it hit a stone abutment.

Passersby extracted the Pittsburghers and sent them to the hospital.

Mrs. Baker, 31, suing William R. Baker, Cleveland, for divorce in Common Pleas Court in Pittsburgh, as she appeared before Judge Moore and charged that he fell in love with other women.

LOVE IN CAFE DIVORCE BASIS

The patience of Mrs. Katherine Baker, 31, of 25 South Eighteenth street, is long-lived. But even her patience snapped, according to her libel in a divorce action against William R. Baker, of Cleveland, when her husband made love to another woman in Mrs. Baker's restaurant.

Baker defended that he thought the woman was his first wife.

Mrs. Baker started to look for married bliss back in 1927. She thought she found it in the person of Baker. They were married and lived together eight months, she testified. Through her attorney, Henry Kaufman, it was brought out that she set herself up in the restaurant and confectionery business on the South Side with her own money.

Supt. Walsh, With Cold, in Hospital

Suffering a heavy cold, Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh was ordered to the Mercy Hospital yesterday by the family physician. The superintendent has had a cold for several days and yesterday, on advice of his physician, he went to the hospital. This morning he was reported slightly improved.

STOCKS RALLY, THEN DROP

have been, the stock market returned to what might be described as "normalcy." It was just like one of those old-time routine sessions.

Price changes were held to a narrow range and total sales for the three-hour session were only 3,214,600 shares, compared with 7,172,700 yesterday and 5,914,700 Wednesday.

Closing prices today were irregular, with the majority of stocks slightly lower. Some issues, however, finished the day a shade higher.

The market today opened with a rally, helped by short covering on the news that brokers' loans for the week had decreased $656,000,000. But in the second hour profit-taking set in and prices slipped off a point or two below the highs for the day.

CLOSING PRICES

At the closing, United States Steel was quoted at 171, down 3½ points. Other closing prices included: General Motors 43, down ½; Radio 35½, down 2; Anaconda Copper 86¾, up 1¼; General Electric 215, down 9; Chrysler 33, up ½; Bethlehem Steel 89½, down 3½; Montgomery Ward 58½, down 4; American & Foreign Power 67¼, down 5⅝; Radio-Keith 19, up ½; National Cash Register 78½, up 2½; Erie 55⅞, up 2⅞; American Can 115¼, down 4¾; Texas Gulf 56¼, up 2¼; National Dairy 51½, up 1¼, and New York Central 184¼, down ¾.

Wall street breathed easier as the outlook for the immediate future of the stock market brightened up. With close to $2,000,000,000 in bank and "other" funds squeezed out of the stock market since the first week in October, American trade and industry will not be short-rational in credit supplies as it has been in the last year or two. Industrial earnings for the third quarter are running well ahead of the last two years and forecasts of a business slump are not taken very seriously in Wall street.

ODD LOT BUYING

A feeling prevailing in bullish circles that yesterday's rally and today's steadiness was a sign that determined pools had again begun operations also added to the arguments of optimists.

Brokerage houses reported unprecedented odd-lot buying orders, which was taken as an indication that public confidence was again on the ascension.

LONDON CHEERFUL

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Wall Street's rally infused a more cheerful tendency into the stock exchange generally today. Trans-Atlantic favorites opened better and continued to improve slightly over parity gains from yesterday's close, ranging from one to three points. Nickels registered the most improvement.

Other sections were steady except British funds which still were under the influence of the conversion loan.

Reds Raid New York Italian Consulate

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Two hundred alleged Communists today made a raid on the Italian consulate at Broadway and Twenty-second street, but were repulsed by police. Nine men and two women were arrested.

EDGE LINKED WITH LOBBY 'TRAITOR'

New Jersey Senator Helped 'Line Up' Tariff Support; Fund Auditor Ex-Convict

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Senator Edge (Rep.), of New Jersey, joined J. A. Arnold, manager of the Southern Tariff Association and American Taxpayers' League, in efforts to compel southern Senators to "trade" support of the pending tariff bill as a whole for tariff protection on products of their individual states, correspondence exchanged between Edge and Arnold revealed to the Senate's Lobby Committee today.

Senator Caraway (Dem.), of Arkansas, chairman of the committee, termed the exchange of letters a "delightful correspondence of love letters between you and Senator Edge."

LETTER USED AS CLUB

"There is one thing mighty sure," one of Edge's letters to Arnold declared, "that some of us will resist to the bitter end efforts on the part of Senators from any section to be protectionists in their votes for products directly affecting their sections and anti-protectionists for other parts of the country. This practice in the past has been entirely too flagrant."

Other correspondence showed Arnold asked Edge's permission to use this letter to show southern state agriculture commissioners who were attempting to pursuade southern Senators to vote for the bill. Edge allowed this to be done, requesting that it be withheld from general publication, however.

Caraway said the exchange of letters showed the existence of an "understanding" between Arnold and Edge in this "laudable scheme" of attempting to slash tariff protection for the states, the Senators of which would not vote for the whole bill, from the schedules when the measure finally was drafted.

An ex-prison inmate has been auditing the books of the Southern Tariff Association and the American Taxpayers' League, the two organizations which in the year ending September 1 collected more than $200,000 over the country for the purpose of "building up high tariff sentiment," the Senate lobby committee learned earlier in the day.

Arnold, on the stand for the sixth day, denied this. William A. Gillespie, the auditor, Senator Caraway declared, was convicted of conspiracy to defraud in his report of the books of a Baltimore "bucket-shop" and served a year in jail.

"Did he skip your books that year or do them in jail?" Caraway asked.

UNAWARE OF TERM

"I didn't know he was in jail," said Arnold.

"Oh, Mr. Arnold, wasn't that the reason you employed him?"

"No."

Caraway asked Arnold why in 1926 he refused to tell the House Ways and Means Committee where the funds of the Taxpayers League were kept. He said he didn't consider this the business of the House committee.

More letters were introduced showing Arnold's organizations made efforts during the past year to influence the votes of Democratic senators on the tariff question.

LETTER LISTS SUPPORT

One letter was to the effect that the vote of four Democratic senators, Fletcher, of Florida; Broussard and Ransdell, of Louisiana, and Kendrick, of Wyoming, were assured, but that the votes of "at least two more Democrats" were necessary to pass the pending tariff bill. The letter suggested that "at least one Texas senator's vote should be secured."

Senator Blaine (Rep.), of Wisconsin, developed that "only a few thousand dollars" were in the treasury of the organizations and that this was kept in the Munsey Trust Company here. More questions revealed Arnold had "a few hundred dollars" in his personal account in a Fort Worth (Tex.) bank.

Arnold testified several days ago that Florida, by an act of the Legislature, contributed approximately $2,000 to the two organizations' campaign to "build up high tariff sentiment."

DENIAL FROM FLORIDA

"The governor of Florida has just issued a statement that your organization didn't get a cent from the Florida Legislature," Senator Caraway told the witwitnesses. "What have you got to say to that?"

"The record will show it," was the reply.

"Then you or the Governor of Florida has told an untruth."

"I wouldn't say that."

"But you say the contribution was made by an act of the Legislature.

"We have a check. I'll check the matter up."

"How?"

"I'll get in connection with the state treasurer of Florida."

Gigli to Appear At Mosque Monday

Beniamino Gigli will appear at the second concert in the May Beegle series at Syria Mosque Monday night, it was announced today.

Gigli's engagement was made by telegraph after it was learned that Giovanni Martinelli, originally engaged for the concert, could not come to Pittsburgh Monday night. Subscribers have been asked to use tickets dated November 8.

Run Down by Auto, Norris Given Ovation on Escape

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS.)—Alarmed by reports that Senator George W. Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, had been struck by an automobile and injured, the Senate today revealed its deep affection for the veteran insurgent leader.

When he entered the Senate chamber bearing no marks of injury, he was immediately surrounded by a group of Senators inquiring about his condition.

By a coincidence, the first to reach his side was Senator Hiram Bingham (Rep.), of Connecticut, who was censured by the Senate a few days ago at Norris' insistence.

Then Senators Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, and Shortridge (Rep.), of California, two veteran "regulars," expressed their regrets to the Nebraskan.

Senator Capper (Rep.), of Kansas, was next, followed by Senators Kean (Rep.), of New Jersey, and Fess (Rep.), of Ohio, both regulars, who had to cross the chamber to reach Norris.

The Democrats next sent a delegation across the chamber, led by Senator Wagner (Dem.), of New York. All congratulated Norris on his escape from serious injury.

"It was nothing," said Norris. Then with a smile, he added: "It didn't hurt my voice a bit."

A few moments later he demonstrated this, too, by making a characteristic speech, flaying the attitude of his regular Republican well wishers on the tariff.

DORAN ACTS TO AVOID HOLIDAY TOLL OF POISON ALCOHOL

AGENTS SCAN OUTPUT OF PLANTS

Strict Control Exercised to Keep Industrial Liquid From Bootleg Channels

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Industrial alcohol production and distribution has been placed under such effective control that there will be no poison Thanksgiving and Christmas liquor from that source, Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran declared today.

From two to eight dry agents are on duty at each of the 60 industrial alcohol plants of the country, checking every step of production, while distribution likewise is supervised by experts to prevent diversions to bootleg channels.

BOOTLEGGERS MAKE OWN

Virtually none of the 100,000,000 gallons of denatured alcohol produced during the past year has got into bootleg channels, Doran said. He explained that the denaturing formulas are so effective that the bootleggers abandoned industrial alcohol as their principal source of intoxicants and turned to the manufacture of moonshine alcohol out of sugar and other commodities.

That doesn't mean that it will be safe to drink anything distributed by the bootleggers during the holidays, however.

Doran pointed out that occasionally a consignment of bootleg whisky or gin concocted from wood alcohol, a deadly poison, gets on the market, frequently causing deaths. He also declared that much of the illicitly distilled alcohol and whisky is poison because of improper methods or haste in manufacture.

CARELESSNESS FATAL

Because of the abnormal demand for whisky, gin and other intoxicating drinks during the holidays there is greater carelessness in production that frequently places poisons on the bootleg market.

Most of the deaths from drinking during the last Christmas holiday season were traced to acute alcoholism, rather than to poison.

Half of the total production of alcohol goes to the manufacture of anti-freeze solutions for automobile radiators. Anti-freeze is not healthy as a beverage. The remainder of the output is distributed among about 4,000 manufacturers of chemicals, perfumes, tobacco, leather, automobiles and other articles.

Half of the prohibition force is required to regulate the use of alcohol and other legitimate employment of intoxicating liquids. This section of the bureau will remain at the Treasury when the enforcement end is transferred to the Justice Department, if the recommendations of Attorney General Mitchell are carried into effect by Congress.

TERRY YIELDS ON TAX LIEN

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(INS.)—Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackidge today knows how polite nad gallant a former beer lord can be to representatives of the United States Government.

Terry Druggan, the former beer hustler in question, has completely capitulated to Mrs. Blackidge, collector of internal revenue, after his henchmen ran her off Druggan's country estate near Lake Zurich when they went to the farm armed with liens on Druggan's blooded Guernseys to satisfy a $300,000 debt.

"It was all a mistake," he explained when Mrs. Blackidge and three assistants visited the farm again yesterday.

"Anybody might make a mistake like this," he declared, escorting the visitors about the farm. "Look at President Hoover. Didn't he forget to invite Senator Hiram Johnson to dinner the other day? And wasn't he forgiven?"

ILLEGAL JUROR PERILS CASES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—The legal disqualification of a woman member of the grand jury that indicted Robert A. McPherson on a charge of murdering his estranged wife, Virginia Hurley McPherson, made it appear probable that a new indictment would be sought.

Along with the indictment in that case, 195 others were said to be illegal because of the service on the jury of the widow of a former naval officer who was drawing a pension from the government while she served on the jury.

If the present charge should be set aside, McPherson would be freed until a new indictment could be brought. The grand jury in making a new examination of the evidence would have the benefit of facts unearthed by the investigators of the Department of Justice who have been working on the case for the past several weeks.

The original indictment was returned against McPherson after a coroner's jury had decided that his wife strangled herself with a pajama cord.

If Rutgers Wins He'll Carry Cane

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—John M. Thomas, president of Rutgers University, is having a gold-headed cane polished, expecting to take it to church Sunday. If Lafayette beats Rutgers at football tomorrow the cane will be returned to the place it has been since 1926, when Mr. Thomas said he would not wear it till Rutgers won.

GIRL'S REVENGE, NEW THEORY IN CHILD'S DEATH

Letter Written by Cabaret Dancer Gives Police Clue in Children's Disappearance

International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—A former chorus girl's desire for revenge against the father of two children today was blamed for their disappearance—and possible death.

Following discovery of the skeleton of a little child at National Park, N. J., Allan Rogers, insurance agent of Woodbury, N. J., turned over to police a letter purported to have been written by Gladys Parkes Baker, former showgirl and cabaret dancer, to whom he had intrusted the children, Dorothy, 4, and Timothy, 2.

WANTED CHILDREN AS OWN

"I am going to take them far, far away where you won't see them again," the letter threatened.

Mrs. Baker, it was said, had demanded that Rogers cease claiming fatherhood of the children as she wished to be known as their mother.

The letter read in part:

"I am writing to let you know that there is no use of your coming around to the neighbors and blowing off your face about your being the father of the children.

"I thought that when I took the children we had an understanding. You told me you might want to get married again and no woman would want you with six children. I am going to move and take the children far, far away, where you won't see them again. I am not going to leave any address, because I am raising the children, not you."

OTHER DEATH THEORIES

Another theory—that the children entrusted to the care of the former Philadelphia model may have met their deaths after having outgrown the age when they might be used as principals in a blackmail plot—was advanced by Camden police today. Late developments, according to the New Jersey police, would indicate that both youngsters had been called upon to play the role of illegitimates in order that their foster-mother might collect large sums of money from unsuspecting lovers.

Descriptions of the missing ex-show girl have been sent to every large city in the country, but police believe she is either in Philadelphia or St. Louis, but refuse to reveal their information which leads them to the belief she may be in either of these two cities.

VISITED PITTSBURGH

Other places Mrs. Baker is believed to have visited since she left Camden include Coney Island, Pittsburgh, San Francisco and Atlantic City. Police said she not only went under the name of Mrs. Gladys Baker, but was also known as Gladys Parkes and Ruth Rogers.

During the few months she lived in Camden she occupied 10 different homes. Her father, Benjamin Parkes, a 64-year-old watchman of the New York Shipbuilding Company's plant in Camden, still is being detained by police, although he denies any knowledge of his daughter's whereabouts. Camden police are convinced he was in direct communication with her until he was arrested Monday as a material witness.

Plane Falls in River, Pilot Rescues Aid

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Lieut. Com. George R. Pond, of the United States Naval Reserve, and his mechanic, James Bradley, narrowly escaped drowning late yesterday when a hydro airplane piloted by Pond fell into the Detroit River near Belle Isle.

Com. Pond broke the glass of the closed cabin and dragged Bradley, who was knocked unconscious, to the surface. Witnesses of the accident went to the rescue in row boats and took the men from the water. The pilot was cut about the face, arms and legs getting out of the cabin.

WET ONTARIO TEMPERATE

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—The spread of temperance and the sale of liquor will go hand in hand under new regulations proposed by the government of Ontario.

Literature advocating temperance and warnings against excessive drinking and operation of automobiles while under the influence of liquor will be given with every permit at the government liquor stores.

In keeping with the campaign promises of Premier G. Howard Ferguson that more stringent regulations of the liquor control act would be put into force, Attorney General W. H. Price today made public the proposed regulations.

These also called for cancellation of permits of wineries on proof of sale to minors and instant dismissal of permit issuers giving one man two or more permits.

YOUTH ADMITS CHECK THEFTS

Lorne Allen Shay, 17, of Blawnox, admitted in Morals Court today that he had stolen two letters containing checks from the mail boxes of Miss Mabel Cowden, nurse, and Miss Helen Ives, of the Library Apartments, Fedcral street.

Shay told of forging indorsements to the checks, which were worth $175, and depositing them to an account he opened in the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., under an assumed name. Shay was held for court.

Shay also admitted taking Miss Cowden's charge check and buying perfume and women's hosiery at a department store.

He was arrested at the bank after he had drawn $90 against the account, police reported.

Magistrate A. D. Brandon held Shay on charges of forgery and obtaining money under false pretense.

Dead Man's Vote Arouses Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—(INS.)—Rumors that the name of a dead man was on the voting list of Tuesday's mayoralty election took City Hall by storm today, coming on the heels of a demand for a recount of the vote that gave Mayor-elect James M. Curley nearly 20,000 majority over Frederick W. Mansfield. Mansfield, Good Government Association candidate, said the "tip" of the voting "dead man" had come to him among other charges of alleged irregularities in the voting. It is expected the recount will be made Tuesday.

Plan Charter Vote At 1930 Election

The Metropolitan Plan will be resubmitted to the voters at the 1930 general election. The County Commissioners authorized its resubmission at their meeting yesterday. This action is the first step toward legal action that will bring the question into legal controversy and probably result in the question coming before the Supreme Court.

SNOOK APPEAL BEFORE COURT

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Counsel for Dr. James H. Snook, former Ohio State University professor, appeared before Franklin County Court of Appeals today seeking a new trial for Dr. Snook, who is awaiting execution November 29 for the killing last June 13 of Miss Theora K. Hix.

The Court of Appeals agreed to hear the appeal last week when counsel filed a petition in error and a supporting brief in which the charge of the court, the conduct of the prosecution and the general submission of evidence were attacked.

Prosecuting Attorney John J. Chester, Jr., denied all charges against his conduct in the courtroom in an answer brief.

Snook's counsel in a reply brief claimed the charge of the court on the alleged "confession" was not clear to the jury and insisted that it should have been instructed to ignore the testimony of two newspapermen to whom Dr. Snook told the story of the killing.

SCHAFER, NEWS BOOK MAN DIES

Henry A. Schafer, 65, for nearly half a century, a book, magazine and newspaper distributor, who enjoyed a wide acquaintance among the foremost publishers of the country, is dead at his home, 1416 Dormont avenue, Dormont.

For 30 years Mr. Schafer was proprietor of the H. A. Schafer News Company at Wood street and Third avenue. He retired one year ago.

He numbered among his personal friends Cyrus H. K. Curtis, owner of the Saturday Evening Post and other publications; Adolph Ochs, of the New York Times, and had dealings over many years with Scribners, Harpers, Frank Munsey and other oldtime publishing houses.

For his keen knowledge of distribution, Mr. Schafer was often complimented, according to his friends and on one occasion was presented a gold watch and chain by Mr. Curtis on a visit here.

Mr. Schafer was a member of Duquesne Council, Order of Independent Americans. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Maura B. Schafer; a son, Gordon L. Schafer, and a daughter, Mrs. Laura S. Felton. Funeral services will be held tonight in his home with the Rev. J. A. Wagner, of the Mt. Lebanon Methodist Episcopal Church, in charge.

HOOVERS GOING TO GRID GAME

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—President Hoover will go to Annapolis tomorrow to attend the Navy-Georgetown football game.

Mrs. Hoover will accompany him.

The trip will be made in automobiles after an early lunch at the White House. The President expects to return to Washington immediately after the game.

Others in the Chief Executive's party include George E. Akerson, Lawrence Richey and Walter Newton, the President's secretaries; Mrs. Richey and Mrs. Newton; Capt. Allen Buchanan, the President's naval aide, and Mrs. Buchanan, and Lieut. Col. Campbell Hodges, the military aide, and Mrs. Hodges.

REPORTERS' SECRECY UPHELD

Jailed Trio Morally Bound To Protect News Sources, University Head Asserts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Three Washington Times reporters now serving 45 days in jail for refusing to turn prosecuting witnesses against the speakeasies they have listed in a newspaper expose "were not only not morally obliged to give the grand jury the information demanded, but were morally obliged to persist in their refusal."

This was the "theological opinion" on the actions of the reporters, handed down today by the Rev. Dr. John A. Ryan, of the Catholic University of America.

Dr. Ryan was asked for such an opinion by the Baltimore Catholic Review, the publication in which it appeared today.

"Whether the personal inconvenience of serving 45 days in jail is sufficient to absolve them from the contractural obligation of secrecy is a question that need not be considered in this place," Dr. Ryan added significantly.

PROMISED SECRECY

His theological opinion in full follows:

"On October 30, three reporters employed by the Washington Times were sentenced to serve 45 days each in jail for contempt of court. The action so designated by Justice Peyton Gordon consisted in a refusal of these men to disclose to the grand jury the names and addresses of places where they had purchased liquor.

"The law which they violated when they thus refused to testify as stated in general terms by Justice Gordon when he pronounced sentence:

"'It is the duty of every private citizen when he knows a crime has been committed to give the testimony before the grand jury to enable the government to prosecute the criminal. It is the duty of these men as witnesses to respond to the grand jury's questions.'

"The crime in question was, of course, the sale of liquor to the reporters. They bought it, not primarily, it seems, to quench their thirst, but in order to provide facts for the campaign of publicity which the two Hearst papers in Washington were carrying on with regard to the non-enforcement of the Volstead act in the capital city of the nation. Their refusal to make known to the grand jury the names of the persons from whom and the places in which they purchased liquor was based upon promises which they had made to the liquor sellers.

PLEDGE NECESSARY

"Had they not given these promises, they would not have obtained the liquor, and, therefore, would have lacked the facts which the employing newspapers desired for the purposes of their campaign.

"Were these three reporters morally obliged to fulfill what Justice Gordon interpreted as a legal obligation? Apparently they were not under any moral obligation. The duties of witnesses in such a situation are discussed by the oral theologicans in relation to the keeping of secrets. The treatment of the question by the Rev. Thomas Slater, S. J., in his 'Manual of Moral Theology' is typical.

"After describing the secrets called 'natural' and those called 'promised' he discusses at some length the third kind, which is committed to a person only on condition that it will not be revealed. This, of course, was the case with the three Washington reporters. Concerning this kind of secret, Father Slater writes:

CONTRACT BUILDING

"'A secret which is confided to another under the condition that secrecy is to be observed, constitutes the matter of an onerous contact and binds more strictly than either a natural or a promised secret. Such are secrets of office which officials of all sorts become aware of in the execution of the duties intrusted to them; professional secrets of doctors, lawyers, priests and others, who are consulted as experts by people in doubt or difficulty, as well as all others which are intrusted to any person under the express or implied ad ion of secrecy."

Doctors Put Charge On Telephone Advice

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Nov. 8.—When physicians announced that they were prepared to give medical advice over the telephone at a charge of $1, they were not inaugurating a new service. The move was a simple one to cut off free advice.

Dr. H. F. Hart, prominent Peekskill practitioner and mayor of the town, declared that physicians were being imposed upon and the action was a step toward self-protection.

Syria, Shriners' Camel Pet, Dies in Zoo Here

Syria, the Shrine camel, is dead.

Pittsburgh's most famous camel passed on in the Highland Park Zoo early today.

Syria was the Shriners' pet and many of them knew him. On parade days he was "all dressed up" in his finest and trotted along 'way up front.

Born in Pittsburgh with the Sells-Floto Circus, Syria was obtained by the Shriners, who presented him to the city on condition that they be allowed to have him for parades.

One week ago Syria paraded with Shriners in Greensburg.

Syria's health had been poor. A cold gripped him two weeks ago and his appetite suffered. Zoo attaches watched death creeping over him. Medicine failed to help. He was less than two years old.

S. S. MELVILLE, Nov. 8.—Approaching the Falkland Islands, there is a nip of ice in the air. Borne on the south wind, it stings our nostrils and awakens memories and stirs the imagination. It starts us wondering how long it will be before the warm and scented tropic breezes shall greet us once again.

It is exhilaratingly cool in the sparkling sunshine, and this weather makes us eager to reach our base of Deception Island and stir up our whirlwind engines from their winter slumber, and soar on wooden wings above majestic Antarctica.

EAGER TO WORK

Since leaving Uruguay, Cramer and Chessman, our pilots, are poring over charts and memorizing the contours of the island's conspicuous features. They are eager for the fray. Porter, our mechanic, handles his wrenches and spanners lovingly, anxious to get working. Everyone is spoiling for activity.

Our steam-heated quarters aboard the Melville are most comfortable, and the fare and service are as excellent as aboard a trans-Atlantic liner. Our Norwegian friends are congenial and ultra-helpful, as usual.

Our complete equipment is safely stored, with nothing missing, not even a bolt. Our wireless arrangements will not be complete, however, until we are anchored off Deception Island, which will be in about five days. Then we expect KUP, the radio station of the San Francisco Examiner, to broadcast each morning until we notify of reception, messages for us immediately after their morning press broadcasts, which we hear now on board only faintly.

We heard them distinctly at Deception Island last year, and expect to again in five days from now. We will call KUP nightly at 2 a. m., Greenwich Meridian time (9 p. m. Eastern Standard time), on a wavelength of 35.7 meters. Our call signal aboard the Melville is LCGR.

The Examiner station must inform us of the best Greenwich time to call him thereafter, and we expect to be in daily communication with the San Francisco station.

SENATE ORDERS LIGHT PROBE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS.)—A complete survey of the interstate business of electric utilities in the country was directed by the Senate today when it adopted a resolution of Senator Couzens (Rep.), of Michigan.

The Federal Trade Commission would be required to make a report of the amount of electricity, both for power and light, transmitted from one state to another.

The information is expected to be used in consideration of Couzens' proposal for a new federal commission dealing with interstate communication.

Weather Conditions.

High barometric pressure developed southward and increased in area and intensity. The high now extends from the North Atlantic westward over the St. Lawrence valley, the lake region, the central plains to Idaho, with the peak of the high over Wyoming and Nebraska. Relatively low barometer in the Southwest and Northwest is causing considerable cloudiness over the country and scattered rains over the southern states and the Atlantic Coast states, and snow in Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas and New Mexico. The snowfall was heavy in Western Kansas and Northern New Mexico. The temperature changes were slight, generally towards warmer over the east, and colder in sections of the Rocky Mountain states.

creased $20,000,000. The total assets increased more than $100,000,000.

FORD production for October was 177,483 cars and trucks, increase over last year's October of 55,801.

In the first ten months of 1929 Henry Ford produced 1,810,997 cars and trucks.

DURING the last 10 days of October Chevrolet company sold 36,640 cars against 24,539 in the same 10 days of 1928.

Apparently the automobile industry is doing fairly well. But some net profits are smaller.

UNCLE SAM, you will be glad to hear, has started a really big dirigible for carrying passengers, and for fighting purposes. A golden rivet, driven by Admiral Moffett, completed the "master ring" of the new dirigible yesterday.

The lighter than air ship, 785 feet long, 140 feet high, will carry 6,500,000 cubic feet of helium gas. The Los Angeles carries 2,500,000 cubic feet, the Graf Zeppelin 3,700,000.

THIS newest, greatest of air giants, built by the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, will have as part of its equipment five airplanes to fly around it, warding off airplane attacks in war.

Let us hope that will not come. Let us also remember that we shall be much less apt to have it if we keep ourselves ready for it.

YESTERDAY Douglas Davis flew from New York to Atlanta, Ga., in five hours, a record.

Shortly, New York, Chicago and other cities' business men, after the stores and exchanges close on Saturday, will fly south in the winter, landing in time for dinner at the beautiful resorts on the Georgia coast, in time to swim or play golf before dinner.

JAPAN lets it be known that $25 "Reds" have been arrested, charged with plotting on Japanese soil, including "20 trained Communists from a special school in Moscow."

THE Soviet government makes a note of all this. Some day in spite of all peace talk, there may be another Russian expedition across Lake Baikal, in the direction of Japan.

And results may be different from last time.

KRAFT SUICIDE, SAYS 'IONE'

POINTE-A-LA-HACHE, La., Nov. 8.—(INS.)—John McGouldrick, second mate of the coast-wise steamer Creole, today faced trial November 25 for the murder of Jack Kraft, New York pressman, whose body was taken from the Mississippi River with a bullet hole near the heart.

McGouldrick's trial is to be held despite testimony yesterday that Kraft jumped from the Creole's deck in a suicide leap. Gloria Rouzer, the Ione Ord of the death mystery, testified at McGouldrick's arraignment yesterday she had tried to prevent Kraft from leaping into the river after she refused to marry him.

District Attorney Leander Perez announced following the hearing that McGouldrick must face trial. Perez also stated Miss Rouzer, New York society girl, will be held in the county jail until tomorrow, when he will decide on a parole petition.

BLOW ALMOST SPILLS GOEBEL

LONG BEACH, Cal., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Col. Art Goebel, winner of the Dole air race to Hawaii in 1927, who boasts of flying nine years without "cracking up" an airplane, still was able to lay claim to the record today after emerging from a stunt here in which he narrowly escaped an accident.

As Goebel's open-cockpit plane executed a barrel roll 2,000 feet above the Municipal airport here yesterday, a dry cell from an electric battery became dislodged and struck the flier's head.

The plane was flying upside down.

The blow dazed Goebel. For a few seconds the ship wobbled crazily while a crowd below gasped. Then the pilot's senses returned and he brought the plane to earth safely. A gash on his head was dressed, and he went up again to entertain the crowd.

DEAN ASSERTS GRADS NEED 'FRONT'

Social Qualities Weigh More With Employers Than Ability in Greek

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—When a college graduate asks for a job the employer is not interested in his possible knowledge of Greek, but in his background and social qualities.

"If these are satisfactory his intellectual abilities have an opportunity to assert themselves," declared Dean Herbert E. Hawkes, of Columbia College. "But without these superficial attractions the more solid qualities never have a chance."

Dean Hawkes, one of the country's leading educators, was addressing the opening session of the convention of the Association of American Medical Colleges at the Columbia medical school.

HUMAN INTERESTS

"If the college pretends to make th college residence as complete a preparation for the life work of the -dent as possible, then it cannot fail to give both through the curriculum and through the extra-curriculum activities an opportunity to becom a person full of live human interests," said Dean Hawkes.

The Dean pointed out that the tendency in America colleges was to give the students the opportunity of finding himself intellectually rather than being subjected to a regime of forcible feeding.

He said that this was being accomplished by inter-departmental courses of a survey character, rather than explicit departmental requirements.

The hard-and-fast requirement for certain college courses is not the most effective way of achieving results with students, said the dean.

'If medical schools want students with certain levels of achievement in the various aspects of these fields, let the requirements be expressed in those terms rather than in terms of required residence in college classes, regardless of achievement," he said.

FRESHMAN TESTS

"In Columbia College and other colleges of the highest grade tests are given to incoming freshmen in order to determine whether they ought to go through the regular mill of required freshman English.

"If a boy shows unusual ability in English and is excused from the requirement in English it may be wise for him to take another year of English in college, but the chances are against it.

"I know as well as is necessary that some college graduates are very weak in English—one may say almost illiterate.

"It is even possible, though, of course, quite improbable, that a graduate of a medical school who has been held to this requirement might occasionally make a slip in syntax.

"My only point here is that the requirement of residence in college courses, on the part of this association is not the most effective way of achieving the result that we all have in mind."

APPEARANCES COUNT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 8.—(INS.)—Appearance does play a large part in the business success of college graduates, Prof. Robert E. Rogers, English professor of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and famous for his "Be a Snob" advice to college students and graduates, declared in agreeing with the statement made by Dean Herbert E. Hawkes, of Columbia College.

"Dean Hawkes is absolutely sound in his statement," Prof. Rogers said.

"We have plenty of examples here at M. I. T. of men who do not get the jobs they ought to get merely because they do not have the appearance, the front.

"Manners, voice, actions and grammar do play a large part in success, and many college students ignore them in the search for knowledge.

"The general average of appearance in the business world is far better than that among college students. Business houses demand personal appearance among their employes."

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 8.—Annual Father and Son banquet sponsored by the Newell Y. M. C. A. of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, will be hel in the Y tonight. William Forsberg, Pittsburgh, chief engineer of the railroad, will be principal speaker. One hundred are expected.

Earth Will Pass Through Meteor Cloud Next Week

Between Wednesday and Saturday of next week the earth will pass through a cloud of meteors, or shooting stars, Dr. Heber D. Curtis, director of Allegheny Observatory, disclosed today.

They are known as Leonids because they appear to radiate from a point in the constellation of Leo.

"Whatever maximum there will be," said Dr. Curtis, "should come probably along in the morning hours of November 16.

"Unfortunately this happens to be within a day of full moon. Even if a large swarm were expected, the light of the full moon would cut out all the fainter objects, so as to disappoint the amateur watcher.

"All that can be said in advance is that between the light of the full moon and the electric lights of the cities, any city dweller who arises at 2 a. m. on November 16 probably will be disappointed in his search for the meteors.

"Specialists who study meteor swarms do all their work visually, without instruments."

The Leonids, Dr. Curtis said, are the debris of a disintegrated comet known as 1866-I. They gave a brilliant display in November, 1833, and again in 1866.

"So far as statistics go," he said, "there is just a chance that in 1932 or 1933 we may have another meteor shower worth watching."

Mink Kills Town's Entire Feline Population

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Daniel, Wyo., a country town 115 miles north of here, is a catless village. A mink escaped from a mink farm near the hamlet and wiped out the entire feline population in a single night.

L. W. Sargent, owner of the mink farm, missed the animal in the afternoon but decided against searching for the fur bearer. The next day, tabbies were strewn in various places of the town, with evidence of foul play plainly visible. The mink later had his own trouble. He entered a box trap and was caught.

ASK PAY BOOST FOR BILLARD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, commandant of the coast guard, has so much to do fighting rum smugglers and directing rescue work at sea that his rank and pay should be boosted, Representative Hoch, (Rep.) of Kansas, has declared.

Hoch will sponsor a bill making Billard a rear admiral of the "upper half" instead of the "lower half." This would increase his pay from $7,500 to $9,700 yearly.

"Admiral Billard commands 585 officers, 12,000 men and a large fleet of ships. A man with so much responsibility deserves more pay than he receives," said Hoch.

BUCKLEY BEGINS PRISON TERM

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Bert B. Buckley, former Ohio State treasurer, observed the first anniversary of his re-election by entering the Federal penitentiary here to serve a two and one-half year sentence on conviction of conspiracy to bribe a federal prohibition agent.

He surrendered in Cincinnati Wednesday night after losing an appeal to the Circuit Court. He said he lacked funds to carry his appeal higher.

Before the prison gates closed on him, Buckley issued a statement charging that he had been "framed" to be "put away."

Calling attention to a recent article in a national magazine on prohibition conditions in Ohio, Buckley said he had pointed out these conditions to dry officials last winter and his conviction followed.

Buckley was accused of having planned to obtain advance information of contemplated raids on Cincinnati breweries.

4 Hunger-Crazed Dogs Attack School Girl

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—En route to her home from school, Alice Kelley, 7, was attacked and severely bitten by four dogs. The dogs were believed to have been crazed by hunger. A passerby chased the dogs away from the child who was taken to a hospital seriously injured. Two of the dogs were shot but the others escaped.

SYNOD ASKS U. S. TEXTILE STUDY

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—The synod of the Province of Sewanee, Episcopal Church, at the close of its annual meeting here voted to petition Congress to authorize President Hoover to appoint a national industrial commission to make a thorough and scientific study of the textile industry, both North and South, at the earliest date and that the result be published by the government.

The action followed an address by Spencer Miller, Jr., consultant of the national council of the Episcopal Church on industrial questions.

SUSPECT KILLS OFFICER; SLAIN

SHAWNEE, Okla., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Owen Edwards, alleged to have been a confederate of Fred Davis in the robbery of a bank at Craig, Okla several months ago, and James A Kiersey, 20, an operative of the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation, were shot to death in a gun battle two and one-half miles north of Harjo, Okla., last night.

Claude Tyler, an operative of the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identfication killed Edwards after Edwards had shot and killed Kiersey, who was stationed with Tyler at the back door of a house through which Edwards ran on learning that the house was surrounded by officers.

Jake Sims, chief of police of Seminole, and George Hall, undersheriff of Seminole County, were posted at the front door. The officers went to the house on learning that Edwards was in hiding there.

A man and woman rushed from the back door with Edwards and escaped in the confusion.

Davis hanged himself in his cell in a jail at Chandler last week after telling fellow prisoners that he feared he would be sentenced to death in the electric chair. He was charged with robbery with firearms in connection with the looting of the Craig bank.

FOURTH DEBATE AT BUCKNELL

LEWISBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—Bucknell's fourth international debate will be held in commencement hall here Monday night with the championship forensic trio from Victoria College, of New Zealand, as opponents.

The New Zealanders come to Lewisburg heralded as the greatest debate squad ever to visit America. Other American colleges state that their ability and methods invariably bring successes to them against all competition. Bucknell has never lost an international debate, so much interest centers in the contest Monday night.

75 Cents a Day For Wife—If She Finds It

CHICAGO, Nov 8. (AP)—Gilva McClatchie figured out a great game, but Mrs. McClatchie explained in her suit for divorce today that she didn't care for it.

McClatchie, the wife said, would appear each morning at breakfast with 75 cents in his hand. He would tell Mrs. McClatchie not to "peck," then he would hide the money about the house.

"You'll have lots of fun finding your allowance today," he would say, playfully, the divorce bill stated.

Sometimes she would hunt for hours without results. Often she had a suspicion the money wasn't even in the house.

Once, she said, her husband opened a charge account for her. She bought one item, a 79-cent kettle, and that was the end of the charge account.

POISON TRACED IN MYSTERY

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—An undelivered note written by F. F. Vauchelet, 28-year-old Hollywood inventor, indicating that he had urgently sought help from an attorney shortly before he died here Tuesday, occupied the attention of police today as they attempted to clear up the mystery veiling the cause of his death.

Vauchelet, who was said to have invented a device for use on radios and was declared often to have displayed large sums of money, died after telling his fiancee, Miss Marion Moore, that he had been "double crossed" and believed he had been poisoned.

An autopsy was ordered when Miss Moore informed the police of this. Pending a chemical analysis, investigators turned to the note in search of other clues.

Vauchelet left the missive with the doorman of an exclusive club for delivery to a "Mr. Jessup, attorney." The doorman said he accepted the note believing it was for a man named R. J. Jessup, who was registered at the club. It later was discovered that an attorney named Jessup was helping Vauchelet market a patented device for use on radios. Investigators are attempting to locate this man.

GLASS FAVORS MARKET CURB

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (INS)—Legislation to curb stock market speculation and give member banks more of the huge profits of Federal Reserve banks was proposed today by Senator Carter Glass (Dem.), Virginia, author of the Federal Reserve act, in a letter to the Association of Member Banks of the Boston Federal Reserve district.

Indirectly placing responsibility for stock market conditions upon big private bankers, Glass discussed a further division of reserve profits and then said:

"There are other matters which need grave attention such as modification of the national bank act and the Federal Reserve act so as to make it more mandatory, if possible, upon the administrators of the banking laws to prevent, by penalization, such disasters in stock gambling operations as have recently disgraced the country.

"If there are men in the financial world, as I think undoubtedly there are, who imagine themselves superior to the existing governmental banking system and who are totally indifferent to the real commercial and industrial interests of the Nation, the sooner such men are restrained and severely punished the better it will be for the country."

Pointing out that the reserve banks have already paid high earnings into the federal treasury, Glass said that member banks should have a greater share of profits. Unless this is done, he said there is danger of the Reserve Board's power being supplanted by gigantic bank holding companies.

Californian Given Royal Society Medal

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—The Royal Society, founded in 1660 and the oldest scientific body in Great Britain, last night awarded the Davy medal to Gilbert Newton Lewis, of the University of California, for his contributions to classical thermodynamics.

The medal is given annually for the most important chemical discovery in Europe or Anglo-America. It was founded by the will of John Davy, a fellow of the society.

FISHER URGES SILENT PRAYER

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8 (INS)—In Armistice Day proclamation urging upon all Pennsylvanians to observe the memory of World War dead and to spend two minutes in silent prayer on the eleventh anniversary of the cessation of hostilities next Monday has been issued by Gov. John S. Fisher.

The proclamation in part reads:

"The eleventh anniversary of the termination of the World War will be observed on Monday, November 11. It will be the occasion for the citizens of our commonwealth to join in the national celebration of the victory won by the forces arrayed on the side of free democracies and enlightened civilization.

"Our country entered the conflict only upon the greatest provocation, but our soldiers and sailors acquitted themselves bravely in upholding our national honor and sustaining the highest traditions to our Army and Navy in every noble conflict.

"Let us solemnly remember the sacrifice of those who paid the last debt of loyalty to their flag; let us be grateful for those who were permitted to return to their homes and peaceful callings, and let us make humble acknowledgment to the God of nations who led and shielded them in battle.

"I enjoin upon all of our people to abstain, in grateful remembrance, from their usual occupations and at the hour of 11 o'clock in the morning to suspend all business and employment for two minutes, when every head may be bowed and every heart may reverently remember the sufferings and sacrifices of our heroic dead, who offered their lives as a sacrifice for country and humanity.

"And let all citizens join in offering thanksgiving and prayer to Almighty God for the blessings of the peace which is the price of their devotion."

2-FOOT SNOW HITS WEST

DENVER, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Snow which yesterday laid a white blanket over five Western states, ranging from three inches to two feet in depth, had stopped falling over most of the territory this morning and prophecies of rising temperatures and clear skies promised a respite from the biting temperatures which swept down out of the Rocky Mountains three days ago.

King winter apparently established his headquarters near the Kansas-Colorado line and wreaked havoc with the activities of beet sugar growers, while bringing a precious gift of needed moisture to the winter wheat region.

Goodland, Kan., reported two feet of snow today and flurries of snow still were falling. Highways were blocked and livestock suffered through isolation from feed supplies. Plans for an American Legion Armistice Day celebration were canceled because of the impossibility of pushing motor cars over drifted roads.

Although not so seriously affected, all of Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming and Montana were mantled with the white covering. Temperatures were below normal.

Snow, rain and falling temperatures were predicted today for Eastern Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas.

DRY AGENT RICH, WIFE REVEALS

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—A wife's testimony that a prohibition agent on a salary of $2,500 a year acquired a town and a country house, two automobiles and a speed boat was on record in Brooklyn Supreme Court today.

Mrs. Isabel T. Kerrigan appeared to contest an application by her husband, John J. Kerrigan, that an order requiring him to pay $35 a week pending trial of her suit for divorce be set aside.

He contended he was without funds and dependent upon his father for support.

She said he has considerable sums of money in banks in the names of other persons. Justice Riegelman referred the case to another justice.

Kerrigan recently was acquitted of a charge of conspiring to evade the Volstead act by protecting a liquor convoy on Long Island.

Chinese Hold N. Y. Man for $500,000

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(INS.)—Aaron Brenner, New York merchant, is being held for $500,000 ransom by bandits in Tientsin, China, dispatches from that city to the evening newspapers here stated today.

AUTO MAKERS BUY SHEETS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 8.—This week the Chevrolet Motor Company started to take shipments of automobile body sheets, enabling some producers to schedule their mills on a broader basis.

Ford Motor continues to be a fair buyer of steel products, and the activity of these two makers of low-priced cars is a wholesome influence in light steel materials.

In blue annealed sheets, price weakness has developed, following a period of firmness in quotations. On No. 13 gauge prices have declined to 2.25 cents from 2.35 cents, while on No. 10 gauge the market is also down $2 per ton, to 2.10 cents per pound.

To November 1 water shipments of Lake Superior iron ore to lower lake ports totaled 61,253,954 tons, an increase of 11,534,023 tons over the same period last year.

For this season of the year, there is a fairly active demand for steel bars and structural steel, with prices ranging from 1.90 cents to 1.95 cents per pound.

MIDWEST STEEL MERGER NEAR

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 8.—Indications are that merger of Midwest steel companies may come sooner than generally expected, if business continues slack and irregular. In periods of depressed buying, there is a greater stimulus for consolidation than during periods of activity in steel market. It is believed here that the Eaton and Mather groups of Cleveland will be quick to take advantage of any situation which may force smaller companies into a strong grouping.

In the Youngstown district, there is considerable discussion of a merger involving Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Republic Steel.

Cyrus S. Eaton and associates now control Republic and its affiliated companies. Central Alloy, Otis and McKinney, of Cleveland, Midland Steel Products, and have arranged to acquire control of Union Drawn Steel Company, Beaver Falls, Pa. Midwest Steel industry is now averaging around 60 to 65 per cent, with some departments at only 50 per cent. A continuation of this condition will be conducive to active negotiations for a consolidation, and developments may be expected, especially if new business continues in reduced volume.

POLICE BLOCK GOTHAM REDS

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Police here frustrated plans of 1,000 workers for a rousing reception in Pennsylvania Station to Fred Beal, one of the men convicted recently of the slaying of Police Chief Aberholt, of Gastonia, N. C., during a police raid on a tent colony of strikers.

The crowd had planned to carry Beal triumphantly through the station on his arrival here to assist in raising funds for the aid of his co-defendants. When he arrived, however, police held the crowd in check and ushered Beal quickly from his train to a taxicab, which whisked him away.

Members of the reception committee attempted unsuccessfully to break through the police lines and policemen snatched several banners bearing Communist exhortations. Finally the workers marched to the street singing "Solidarity Forever."

Blasted Stump Kills Road Worker

CUMBERLAND, Md., Nov. 8.—Emory G. Trager, 65, of Hagerstown, a foreman employed by the Cumberland Construction Company on road relocation on the National Highway on Sideling Hill, east of here, was killed when struck by a stump thrown up by a dynamite blast. He was standing by the roadside when struck. His wife and one son survive.

NEW RAILROAD IN WAYNESBURG

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—Waynesburg's dream came true yesterday, when a broad gauge railroad entered the borough limits.

For more than half a century business men here have been periodically enthused over promises made of construction of a standard gauge line here, but each time their hopes ended only in disappointment. Yesterday the tracks of the Chartiers Southern extension from Mather to Waynesburg were laid within the borough limits and will be completed today.

A work train was operated over the line.

Although no ceremonies are planned in connection with completion of work, several hundred Waynesburg residents witnessed the track gang at work.

Four Bandits Rob Attorney, Get Quarter Each

Four bandits, who shortly before midnight robbed Attorney Ralph C. Davis, of 5825 Northumberland street, profited 25 cents each for their "job."

Attorney Davis was walking to his home when the bandits stopped their automobile in Murray avenue, leaped out and, at pistol point, robbed him of $1. In their haste, the robbers overlooked jewelry.

Davis informed Squirrel Hill Police who instituted a search for the thugs.

West Virginians Trap, Kill Bear

DAVIS, W. Va., Nov. 8.—A 350-pound bear was trapped in the vicinity of Red Creek, this county, by Frank Mitchell of Wheeling and his brother, G. S. Mitchell of Morgantown. They baited the trap with mutton.

Bears have been preying on sheep in that part of the county. When the hunters found the bear, he had broken the trap by pounding the trapped paw against a stone. It was killed by a couple of shots and the carcass brought into Davis.

Child Playing In Road Struck

MONASA, Pa., Nov. 8.—While playing along the roadway, near here, John Baker, 9, son of George Baker, Monaca, R. F. D. 1, was struck by an automobile driven by Harry Zisman, 27, Roberts street, Pittsburgh, police say, and is in a serious condition with a fractured skull. Zisman took the boy to the hospital, reported to police, and was released.

Boy Hiker, Gone Year, Back Home

NEWARK, O., Nov. 8.—Ernest Adams, 16, dressed in his Boy Scout uniform with a camping kit on his back and one day's rations, started on a hike a year and two months ago. He is now back home. A week ago his father, O. E. Adams, received a letter from the boy from Greenville, Miss., telling that he wanted to come home. His father went after him and they arrived here yesterday.

Farm Board Lawyer Retires from Post

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—George E. Ferrand, of Los Angeles, general counsel of the Federal Farm Board, announced he will retire from office December 15 to be succeeded by Stanley Reed, of Maysville, Ky.

The board has selected Reed as assistant counsel to serve until that date. He was formerly counsel for the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-Operative Association.

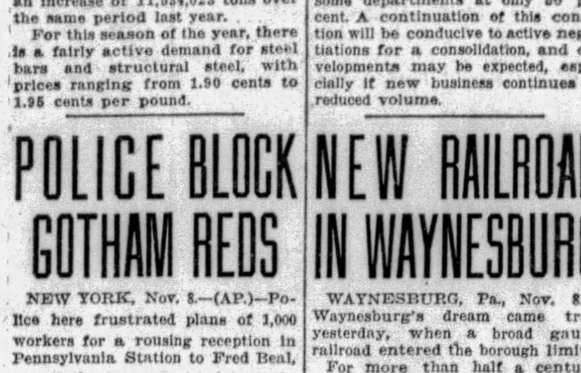
Township Musicians Plan Forming Band

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 8.—Scores of citizens of Fredericktown and East Bethlehem Township are contemplating the organization of senior and junior municipal bands. A. B. Benn, J. O. Christopher and M. B. Armstrong have been named as a special committee to forward the organization. J. Richard Kulitl, Monessen, has been secured to have charge of the bands.

War College Class Set at 75 by Good

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Secretary Good has decided that the class of student officers who will be admitted to the Army War College next September for training for higher command shall total 75, all of the regular Army.

Selections will be limited to officers of field grade less than 52 years of age, and at least half must be available upon graduation for duties on the War Department general staff.



THE WEEPING MUSE

IS Modern Industrialism about to deal the Art of Music the saddest blow of its history?

To blame Machinery as an Instrument of Decadence may seem startling, but it is true that Machinery in the form of Mechanical Music is elbowing Real Music out of motion picture theatres, thus denying to the masses the cultural influence of a Fine Art.

Surely, if machine-made music displaces the artist in thousands of instances, the incentive for any individual to improve his talent—so necessary in all art—is minimized and music can no longer hold the cultural value that it has possessed. Any art is dependent for its progress upon the number of its enthusiastic executants.

Do you, Mr. Reader, find the pleasure in Mechanical Music that you do in Real Music?

If you believe that Real Music should be saved to the masses who attend Motion Picture Theatres, make your opinion known to the manager of your favorite theatre. Very likely he will appreciate your frankness for he wants to please his patrons.

LEGION SOLDIER GIVEN POLICE

SIDI - BEL - ABBESS, Algeria, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—By surrendering a murderer to the civilian police to stand trial for a crime committed previous to his enlistment, the French Foreign Legion has caused earnest confabs in the barracks here and the places frequented by the legionnaires.

For years the idea has been generally accepted that no matter what crime a man was accused of in civil life, he was safe from prosecution so long as he remained in the Foreign Legion.

Civilian detectives have long complained that when they called at headquarters, evasive answers were received concerning alleged criminals whom they sought. Or, by strange coincidences, it appeared that these men had been detailed for service in the lower Sahara or on the fringe of the Hoggar, where the hand of the law, lengthy as it is reputed to be, was too short to reach.

IDENTITY PROTECTED

"A man is known in the Legion by the name under which he enlisted and that alone," the correspondent was once told at headquarters here. "His former private life does not concern us and we are not concerned with it."

This confidence was volunteered at the time of the release of the American, Bennett J. Doty, of Biloxi, Miss.

The case had filled the newspapers of both hemispheres for several weeks and the Paris papers for days had reached Sidi-Bel-Abbes with long accounts of how, owing to the representations of the visiting American Legion to France—that was in 1927—Bennett J. Doty, sentenced to eight years in prison for desertion, would be released.

Yet the correspondent had noted on the desk of Col. Rollet, commander of the Legion, a stack of telegrams addressed to Bennett J. Doty, and which had remained undelivered.

"We don't know any Bennett J. Doty here," the colonel volunteered, "We know one Gilbert Clare of Memphis, Tenn., but I don't suppose you are interested in him."

Clare was the name under which Doty had enlisted and been sentenced.

SEEK SLAYER

Recently the Paris detectives arrived at Sidi-Bel-Abbes, and told the Colonel:

"We have a warrant here for Gaston Froissart, who killed his grandmother with an ax in 1926, robbed her and then enlisted in the Legion as Rene Bernard."

"Prove to me that Bernard and Froissart are the same man," the Colonel asked.

Bernard was sent for, Bertillon measurements were produced, establishing the identity of the man as Froissart without the shadow of a doubt.

"You can have him," said the Colonel.

Froissart is on his way to Paris to go before the Assises and many of his former companions in the Legion are wondering whether this means a radical change in the policy which they had always believed ruled in the dealings of the Legion authorities with the plain clothes police.

One corporal then summed up the situation:

"It served him right for killing his grandmother with an axe and robbing her. Perhaps if it had been a real stand-up murder between men, it would have made a difference."

Frostburg Offers Drum Corps Prizes

Brilliant Frocks of Dull Crepes

A Varied Group for Misses at This Price

$29.50

"Distinguished by qualities which excite admiration"—this dictionary definition of the word brilliant, is almost too mild for these new misses' frocks, for they are really ravishing things in fashion and color.

Don't you adore the two-color effect of the model pictured?—copied from Lanvin, which is, in this particular instance, in brown with old-gold. . . . And the simple chic of the rouge red supper frock, with yoke and cap sleeves of cream-tinted lace?

You'll be equally excited over the many other models, which accent the waistline, lengthen the line from waist to knee, give one the grace of a slim young princess, and with sleeves which do wonderful things to the hands.

Sizes 14 to 20.

COURT ORDERS MT. LEBANON PERMIT

Peremptory Writ Issued Permitting Construction Of Six-Story Apartment

A peremptory writ of mandamus has been obtained in Common Pleas Court by Bernath Herskovits, directing that Mt. Lebanon Township grant him a building permit for the construction of a six-story apartment building.

Judge Elder W. Marshall recently sustained the board of adjustment in granting Herskovits a permit, and his action yesterday granting writ of mandamus permits Herskovits to proceed with the construction of the apartment building. Herskovits will limit it to three stories, pending decision on appeals taken to the Supreme Court by property owners and Mt. Lebanon Township. Attorneys Edwin B. Goldsmith and S. A. Schreiner, representing opposing sides, took appeals to the Supreme Court November 5.

It appears that Herskovitz first obtained a permit for the foundation of the structure. The matter was taken up with the township commissioners and the building inspector, G. I. Irwin, instructed to revoke the permit. In the meantime, the commissioners set about to pass an ordinance limiting the height of any building to three stories. It required 30 days to pass the ordinance.

In the meantime, the board of adjustment, to whom Herskovitz appealed, decided that the ordinance was not effective and granted the permit. Judge Marshall sustained the board of adjustment.

In the meantime, Herskovits is constructing the structure and limiting it to three stories, so it is stated, until such time as the higher courts render a decision on the points at issue.

LOUIS E. GRAHAM MRS. MARY TUTTLE

Mrs. Tuttle, chief clerk of the Federal District Attorney's office with her new chief, who took office yesterday.

GRAHAM BEGINS OFFICIAL DUTY

The first official act of Louis E. Graham upon being sworn in as United States attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania was the signing of a document handed him by Mrs. Mary W. Tuttle, chief clerk of the district attorney's office.

SIGNS PETITION

It was a petition to the court for an order of removal of David Bianchi, alias David White, to the Federal Court at Detroit, Mich., where he is under indictment on a Mann act charge. By coincidence the defendant is a resident of Beaver County, the same county as the new Federal prosecutor.

Mrs. Tuttle has proved a valuable office executive and aid to government attorneys in preparation of cases. She has served as chief clerk during the administration of E. Lowry Humes, Walter Lyon, D. C. Driscoll, John D. Meyer, and the temporary appointment of Robert J. Dodds, as Federal district attorneys.

SUCCESSOR NOT NAMED

The successor of Attorney Graham as chief legal advisor of Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington, will not be named, Pennington announced, until he selects an eligible applicant from a list furnished by the Civil Service Commission.

According to unofficial reports, Attorney J. H. Dilley, an assistant to Graham in the legal department of the prohibition office, will fill one of the vacancies existing in the office of the United States attorney.

High School Team Goes to Pitt Game

Football Coach Elmer Carroll, of Wilkinsburg High School, has announced that he will take his entire squad to the annual game between Washington and Jefferson College and the University of Pittsburgh tomorrow. Carroll himself was a star at W. & J. during his playing days.

Guild Will Hold 'Pot Luck' Supper

Each member has been requested to bring one article of food for the "pot luck" supper to be held at 6 p. m. today by the Westminster Guild of Bellevue Presbyterian Church in the church social rooms. Miss Mildred Thomas and Miss Aida Jackson will be hostesses.

Welfare Workers To Plan Canvas

Workers in two divisions of the Welfare Fund campaign for $1,168,055, which opens next Tuesday, were to attend two meetings today. The Central division, consisting of seven sections of women workers under Mrs. William Frew, was to meet in the William Penn Hotel at noon. At 8 p. m. members of the employes' division were to meet at the same place. This division is headed by F. J. Chesterman, general chairman.

BOND RETURNS COMPLETED

Mrs. Alberta H. Hull, chief clerk in the record department of the Clerk of Courts office, acting as the return board in compiling the votes for various bond issues in the boroughs and townships at Tuesday's election, completed her work and submitted the reports to Judge Elder W. Marshall, who certified them today. The bond election results follow:

Duquesne, question No. 1, $213 for funding debt, yes 1,669, no 556. Question No. 2, $300,000 for street improvements, yes 1,602, no 564.

Avalon, $40,000 for playgrounds, yes 666, no 428.

Mt. Lebanon, $377,000 for park and street improvements, carried by a large majority.

Dormont, $175,000 for sewer extension, lost.

Shaler Township, $400,000 for sewer and water line extensions, yes 1,569, no 454.

Rankin, $210,000 for school extensions, yes 989, no 283.

Edgewood, $100,000 for park extensions, yes 627, no 640. $100,000 for acquiring land for park purposes, yes 614, no 641.

Whitaker-Munhall consolidation was favored in Whitaker 381 to 141, but voted down in Munhall 731 to 613.

Oakdale, $100 for sewer improvements, yes 172, no 18.

North Fayette Township, $75,000 for new school, yes 306, no 343.

GUEST IN CAR $15,000 ASKED

William Haller has sued Rollo H. McBride, of the Pittsburgh Melting Company, for bodily hurts he received while a guest in a car of the defendant, the amount asked being $15,000.

Haller claims that the accident happened at East Ohio boulevard and the Herrs Island Bridge. He claims that McBride's son was not operating the machine as carefully as he should and failed to take proper precaution in traffic. As a result the truck in which he was riding struck a pole, seriously injuring the plaintiff.

CITIZEN BEATEN, OFFICERS HELD

Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan, of Sewickley, last night held a policeman and a constable for court when it was testified they attacked a resident on the front porch of his home Saturday night.

They were Patrolman Thomas Joyce and Constable Frank Kovacs, from the office of Justice of the Peace L. V. Gibbs. Joyce was held under bond of $300, furnished by J. C. Chaplin, chairman of the Sewickley Police Committee, and Kovacs under $800, furnished by Joseph Gariti. Both were charged with assault and battery.

Mr. and Mrs. Creed Smith, of 300 Frederick street, Sewickley, testified that the two officers, in company with a state policeman, were making an investigation at a house next door, whose occupants were absent, and thought they were prowlers. When Mrs. Smith ran into her home screaming, her husband, she said, went out and asked the men who they were. Later Joyce and Kovacs went to the Smith home, it was testified, and seized Smith. The state trooper took no part in the attack, they said.

The accused officers said Smith interferred with them and used profane language. A charge of resisting arrest and using abusive language is pending against him. He will be arraigned Tuesday night.

LOST EYESIGHT ASKS $20,000

Mary Joyce, 4525 West Liberty avenue, struck in the right eye by a nail, has brought suit against Robert Johnson, Inc., for $20,000 damages for the loss of the sight.

The accident happened September 26, last, at Wood street and Fifth avenue, as she was passing the building being erected by the United Cigar Stores, Inc. She was knocked against an obstruction and also otherwise injured.

It is alleged in the bill of complaint, in which her husband, Patrick Joyce, participates, that proper care was not exercised by workmen on the job. She is represented by Attorney Walter L. Dipple.

Swift Kick Gets Rabbits in Greene

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—A new method of hunting rabbits was developed here when Harry Kent, Oak Forest farmer, kicked and fatally injured a cottontail as it jumped in his path from a briar patch.

Kent had his gun on his shoulder ready to shoot when the cottontail jumped at his feet from its hiding place in the brush.

ZIONIST TALKS ON UPRISINGS

Reports of the recent Arab uprisings in Palestine were greatly exaggerated, Maurice Samuel, Jewish author and lecturer, told an audience in the Y. M. & W. H. A. last night, declaring that "the foundation of the Home of Israel in Palestine did not shake, and no tremor was found anywhere from the outrages." The reports were the work of the enemies of the Zionist movement in America, he said.

He was the principal speaker at a meeting to launch the Zionist roll call in America under the auspices here of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Zionist organization. He has just completed a book, "What Happened in Palestine," basing it on what he saw during the uprisings.

"If the entire Arab population had taken part in the revolt there would have been thousands of massacres instead of 130 that resulted from the riots," he declared, citing instances where Arabs helped Jews in the riots, defending with their lives Jews whom the mobs threatened.

ATHLETES HOLD PLAY DAY

A "Home Play Day" will be held by the Women's Athletic Association of the University of Pittsburgh tomorrow morning in Trees gymnasium and the Stadium. University women will participate and will be guests of the association at a luncheon in the Heinz House. After the luncheon the girls will attend the W. and J.-Pitt game in a body.

"Play Day" was inaugurated at the university to provide a more desirable type of athletic competition than is found in varsity or intercollegiate competition.

ROAD OPENING PLANS MADE

A meeting of the West View Board of Trade committee arranging for a celebration of the formal opening of the new Perry highway between Pittsburg and West View November 23, will be held tonight in the West View Borough hall. William M. Dickson is general chairman.

Other members of the general committee are V. H. Walters, A. E. Jones, former Judge Frank I. Gollmar, and C. V. Shoup, vice chairmen; Harry J. Wagner, Jr., treasurer; H. H. Wilt, secretary.

POWER HEARING PROVOKES NEW ROW

Solicitor Barred From Meeting Because He Put Too Many Sharp Questions

By M. L. RAMSAY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Alleged exclusion of Charles A. Russell, Federal Power Commission solicitor, from hearings on the Flathead River hydro-electric site, has provoked a new clash between the commission and Western senators.

Russell has fought the attempt of the Rocky Mountain Power Company, an applicant for the site, to charge up to rate payers and taxpayers its expenditures for Indian pow-wows, tribal lobbying and civic donations.

RULING PROTESTED

His ruling rejecting these charges has been strongly protested by attorneys for the power company, which is a unit in the far-flung Electric Bond and Share Company system.

When the commission opened public hearings last week on the rival claims of the power company and Walter H. Wheeler, Minneapolis engineer, for development rights, Russell attended. At one hearing he asked pointed questions about the power company's charges for pre-development expenses and other phases of its claim.

At the next three hearings Russell was absent.

Chairman Lynn J. Frazier, of the Senate Indian Affairs Committee, said he was informed Russell was called on the telephone, after the questioning, by F. E. Bonner, the commission's executive secretary. Bonner told Russell not to attend future hearings, that they were "none of his business," according to Frazier.

PROTESTS TO WILBUR

Frazier protested to Secretary of Interior Wilbur, a member of the commission and presiding at the hearings. Wilbur had not been present at the time of the questioning. He told Frazier he knew nothing about Russell's subsequent absence. Soon afterward Russell reappeared at the hearings and has been present since.

"My only interest is to see that the Indians get a square deal," said Frazier. "Mr. Russell is a Montana man and acquainted with the situation and I think he should be present."

The power site, in Montana, is owned by the Flathead Indians. They are to be paid an annual rental for it.

Wilkinsburg Class Members Give Play

The Amona Sunday School Class of the Wilkinsburg Baptist Church last night presented a play called "The Sewing Circle Meets With Mrs. Martin," a satire presented in costumes of a century ago. The cast was comprised of Mrs. William C. Jones, Mrs. Richard Topfstedt, Mrs. Jesse Davis, Mrs. V. C. Campbell, Mrs. J. S. Woodyard, Mrs. David Burns, Mrs. Martin Reeder, Mrs. William O. Printz, Mrs. E. G. Dowlin and Mrs. A. J. Zoerb.

SHIPS TRYING TO TRACE SOS

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Maritime and naval authorities still were searching this morning for a ship reported to have broadcast an SOS call off the Southern California coast last night.

Commercial broadcasting was halted when the mine sweeper Ortolan reported it was going to the aid of a ship afire off the coast near Encinitas, but no further distress signals were reported.

The Marine Exchange Radio here reported a ship tried repeatedly to break through the commercial broadcast with distress signals.

PALESTINE AID GROUP FORMS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Formed to upbuild and maintain a homeland for Jewish people in Palestine, the Nathan Straus Palestine Society filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state.

This is a non-profiting organization with headquarters in Los Angeles, the articles stated, "to carry on in the city of Los Angeles as well as in other cities or parts of America propaganda work in the interest of Palestine," and to "make loans to residents and colonists in Palestine in order to carry out the purpose of the organization."

REBEL TIP SENT VENEZUELA

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Government circles here admitted that Venezuela had been warned by Germany of the attempted coup d'etat last summer when the German steamship Falke tried to land filibusters and munitions on the Venezuelan coast. The "tip" reached the government shortly after the steamer had sailed from the Polish port of Gdingen and was transmitted to Venezulea through Edouardo Penny, Venezuelan minister.

The government spokesman said that regrets had been expressed to Venezuela that German private citizns should have been implicated in a revolutionary movement against that republic. He explained that the only culpable parties, however, were the captain and the owner of the steamer and that proceedings against them on charges of high treason could be started only on demand of Venezuela, a demand which had not been forthcoming.

Capt. Ernest Ziplitt, whom members of his crew accused of swearing allegiance to the revolutionists cause and of receiving a commission as admiral in the embryonic revolutionary government, is being held in jail at Hamburg pending the outcome of the government deliberations on his case.

In expressing its regret to Venezuela the foreign office said the incident was the more deplorable because "Venezuela during the war was the most friendly of all nations toward Germany, President Gomez firmly refusing to yield to United States pressure that he should become anti-German."

ONE HURT, FIVE HELD IN FIGHT

One man was in West Penn Hospital today suffering from a probable skull fracture, and five others were under arrest following a free-for-all fight which ended in a shooting in a Penn avenue confectionery shortly before midnight.

Edward Burke, 23, of 836 Main street, said to be a brother of Jack Burke, former sparring partner of Jack Dempsey, was taken to the hospital following a fight in the store of Jack Olson, at 2919 Penn avenue, according to police.

Responding to a call from neighbors police arrested Olson and four others who said they were George Grogan, 21, of 3441 Ligonier street; John Less, 22, of 3303 Hazlett street; William Casson, 27, of Woolslayer way, and A. J. Dorn, 26, of 3919 Woolslayer way.

A search of Olson's store yielded the officers two gallons of moonshine, they said. The prisoners were being held on suspicious person charges.

Police reported that several shots were fired in the store, but they did not know who fired them. On their arrival they found Burke lying on the floor. They sent him to the hospital, and arrested the others.

VOTE PROBERS FACE QUIZ

A probe into the activities of the several agencies investigating alleged fraud in the primary election is to be made. It was asked in a resolution presented yesterday at the county commissioners' meeting by Commissioner Charles C. McGovern.

The county has obligated itself to spend in excess of $50,000 to investigate election frauds, McGovern's resolution points out, and the work of the agencies to which the money has been appropriated "has called for and received strong public disapproval from impartial sources."

The resolution calls for detailed reports of how the money is being spent; results thought to have been obtained by each agency and a detailed program of future activities.

The District Attorney's office is called on to account for $15,000 appropriated to it; the sheriff, $8,000; Board of Registration Commissioners, $7,500; Recounting Board, $8,000, and Election Frauds Committee Allegheny County Bar Association, $10,000.

The resolution was adopted unanimously.

3,000 Men Subdue 2 California Fires

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Two fierce blazes which carried their fiery menace to the outskirts of Berkeley and Oakland, despite an army of 3,000 firemen and volunteers which battled to stem their advance last night, were under control today. Danger of a rising wind kept 200 men on the lines, however, and hundreds more were on call should an emergency arise.

One of the fires, starting yesterday afternoon near San Pablo dam, transformed Wildcat Canyon into a roaring inferno which reached the exclusive residential district of North Hill in Berkeley before it was checked. The second fire burst out on Tunnel road while the Berkeley blaze was at its height.

Attempt to Pick Day of Death Revealed

"After my death, May 1, 1930, my wife, Ella M. Stilley, shall receive $150 a month income from my estate and the residue shall be divided among my five children," Hugh M. Stilley, attorney, of Upper St. Clair Township, directed in his will, filed today.

Stilley made the will January 8, 1925, in which he attempted to predict the day of his death. Afflicted with a heart ailment, he lived until October 22, 1929.

The estate is valued at $38,500. The will directs that the estate is to be placed in trust and that annuities are to be given his widow and children.

COTTON AIDED BY U. S. LOAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The Federal Farm Board has made a commodity loan of $493,000 to the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Association, of Oklahoma City, supplemental to loans obtained by the association from commercial banks.

This supplemental loan will enable the Oklahoma association to make advances to its grower members in an amount equal to that announced by the board on October 21, when the board said it proposed to lend to cotton co-operatives, qualified as borrowers under the Capper-Volstead act, sums sufficient to bring the total amount borrowed from all sources by such associations to 16 cents per pound on graded and classified cotton.

VOTE MACHINES TO BE FINANCED

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 8.—Fayette County will have to spend $250,000 to finance the installation of voting machines as approved by a three-to-one vote in the county.

Commissioner George W. Hibbs stated that if the bond issue, to be voted next spring, fails, an increase will be made in the millage.

It is expected to use the machines in the election of next November.

Pants Factory Changes Hands

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 8.—Reorganization of the Calumet Manufacturing Company, operating a plant at Buckhannon for the manufacture of pants and overalls, was announced here. The management was placed in the hands of Dr. F. M. Farnsworth, Buckhannon physician and business man, who was also elected president. He succeeds B. R. Homel. E. E. Stoffel was made secretary-treasurer.

The Sautter Auxiliary of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War holds its first meeting of the year tonight in the home of the president, Mrs. F. A. Myer, 905 Center street, Wilkinsburg. All members are urged to make a special effort to attend.

Reclamation Chief For Roosevelt Dies

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—William Augustus Reeder, 80, Beverly Hills banker and former congressman from Kansas, died at his home last night. Reeder was chairman of the Reclamation Committee under Theodore Roosevelt.

Death of Man, 82, Recalls Lincoln At Gettysburg

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—John G. Krall, 82, of Grantham, Cumberland County, died yesterday after an illness of a year. He was one of the few survivors of the crowd which heard Lincoln deliver his famous address at Gettysburg and had cherished a twig which brushed the President's hat as the executive's carriage passed under the low branches of a tree at the battlefield.

CHILDREN STAGE PLAY SATURDAY

The first of a series of plays produced by children will be presented at the Pitt Theater Saturday morning by the children's department of the Little Theater of Pittsburgh. The theater has been donated by George Sharp. A feature of the performance will be a two-act play, "Magic in the House," and a series of legendary characterizations and impersonations by Neva Morris, nationally known children's entertainer.

The performance is scheduled to begin at 10:30 o'clock. The officers of the Little Theater of Pittsburgh are Dr. E. J. Cox, president; Lewis H. Abel, vice president; Herbert Meredith McCullough, secretary, and Fred T. Loeffler, treasurer.

Downtown Cleaners' Store Robbed of $45

Thieves last night crawled through the transom of a door in the Standard Shoe and Hat Cleaning Company, 344 Diamond street, and stole $45 from the cash register, according to a report to police.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PLANS LAID

A campaign to increase Sunday school attendance among young people was outlined last night at the monthly meeting of the Allegheny County Sabbath School Association in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. The business meeting followed a dinner. Dr. J. Kirkwood Craig, general secretary of the association, made his annual report.

Events planned for the coming year include the Children's Division Institute on January 25, the annual series of young people's conferences in September, the forty-first annual convention and the annual dinner for district presidents and treasurers in the 46 county districts.

Dr. Craig was voted a three months' leave of absence next summer for a trip to Palestine and to Germany where he will see the Oberammergau Passion Play.

Wilkinsburg Circle Plans Rummage Sale

Circle No. 5, of the Second Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg, will hold a rummage sale, today and tomorrow, at 911 Penn avenue. Anyone wishing to donate to the cause should call Mrs. H. E. Smith, of 1017 South avenue, or Mrs. F. A. Myer, of 905 Center street.

Man Robbed on Hill, Suspect Arrested

John Davis, of Wittmer street, reported to police early today that a Negro held him up at Townsend street and Wylie avenue and robbed him of $103. Several hours later a man giving his name as William Jones, 29, of 2913 Carson street, was arrested in connection with the robbery and held as a suspicious person at Center Avenue Police Station.

Beaten, Says Wife, For Wanting Home

Asking for a home, she was beaten, Mrs. Sophia Gross, of Wigham street, McKeesport, testified in divorce court yesterday. She said she was smacked, choked and punched in the side by her husband, Benjamin Gross, when she asked him "When are we going to get into a home of our own?"

The case was heard by Judge Elder W. Marshall. Married in February, last year, they lived together eight weeks, Mrs. Gross testified.

Homewood Man Held In Hat Store Looting

East End police today arrested John Burton, 18, of 6235 Hamilton avenue, in connection with the theft of 10 boxes containing 64 men's caps from the Wormser Hat Store, 6225 Frankstown avenue. Two others were being sought. Several boxes of the caps were found in the street. A necktie and muffler, also stolen from the store, were found in an abandoned automobile at Everett street and Indiana way.

Gov. Roosevelt Gets License to Run Car

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Gov. Roosevelt has obtained his first license to operate a motor car.

The governor recently had an automobile specially made for him, with brakes to be operated by hand. It was patterned after one he tried when last at Warm Springs, Ga. The driving tests were taken at Hyde Park, where his estate is located.

Policeman Suspects Rum Can, Jails Man

Carrying a five-gallon can of moonshine in a burlap bag at daybreak is enough to arouse suspicion in any town. That's why a policeman stopped J. F. Schardine, 46, of 312 Fusion street, at Market street and the Boulevard of the Allies, at the time the sun ought to be coming up. At Central Police Station Schardine was booked as a suspicious person.

What Family Can Resist This Unusual Opportunity to Beautify the Home for Thanksgiving!

Even if beautiful furnishings themselves, at singularly low prices, were not reason enough for making one's home more enjoyable, this opportunity to make a double saving and to aid a worthy charity at the same time, is the best reason in the world for trading-in one's old clothing and out-of-date home furnishings in favor of the new!

Trade-In Clothing, as Well as Any Kind of Home Furnishings for New Furniture!

Yes, even clothing and old papers can be traded-in, as well as any kind of used home furnishings, on any new home furnishings you desire! Spear's will give you a very liberal allowance and donate all of this used merchandise to the Salvation Army. The Salvation Army will call at our customers' homes for this merchandise. Not one piece of it will be brought to any Spear store.

So go through your wardrobes and closets . . . go over all of your old home furnishings carefully . . . make a list of all the things you would like to dispose of . . . come down to Spear's tomorrow . . . bring that list with you, and we will make you a very liberal allowance on any new home furnishings you would like to have. Remember, anything can be traded-in on anything! . . . There never was another opportunity like this before, and even this one is for a limited time only. So come tomorrow, if you possibly can. Remember, that the Salvation Army fully endorses this great co-operative event, which is exclusive with Spear's.

SPEAR'S Donates to the Salvation Army All Merchandise Taken in Trade During This Great Trade-In Sale!

Tremendous value-giving prevails in every department during this unique event. Spear's usual liberal credit will be gladly arranged on any purchase. Make your selections now if you wish to beautify your home in time for Thanksgiving.

GAS KILLS MANY FLEEING LAVA

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Overwhelmed by molten lava or suffocated by gases, scores of the 300 or more victims of Monday's eruption of Santa Maria volcano have been found in their homes or along the roads near El Palmar, where they perished.

Details of the disaster have begun reaching Guatemala City through relief workers. Eight coffee plantations were destroyed and most of their inhabitants killed.

The bodies found in ruined homes and along the roads gave mute evidence of the tragedy. Some of the dead had been caught in the fields by the molten stream of lava, while others had been asphyxiated in barricaded homes.

In a grove of trees fleeing inhabitants sought refuge, some climbing into the highest branches, only to suffocate and burn.

Relief funds are being collected.

Advices received in Havana indicate that approximately 25,000 persons were affected by the El Palmar disaster and that more than $1,000,000 damage was caused.

The death toll was reported as 425; 174 were seriously injured and more than 300 suffered minor hurts.

BURGESS BALKS AT POLICE

The tilt between Burgess Ernest E. Meier and Overbrook Council was again renewed last night at a meeting held in the municipal building, when the chief executive refused to swear in the three additional police officers which council had appointed last month.

Councilman P. G. Sehn questioned the burgess upon his refusal and received the answer that equipment, such as guns, holsters, blackjacks and handcuffs were not furnished for the men. Sehn stated that such equipment will be furnished as soon as the men were sworn in, but the burgess again refused. After making his reports to council as to arrests during the month and other routine business, Burgess Meier left the council chambers.

Paul McLaughlin, August Schaub and David McClellan, who were appointed additional protectors, have reported for duty every morning since being appointed, but could not officiate, as they did not have arresting power.

Contracts were let for five street improvements, amounting to $50,600. Twelve ordinances were passed for additional street improvements.

Irish Cabinet Safe In Adverse Vote

DUBLIN, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—The government was defeated in Parliament on a minor amendment to the national health insurance bill, but it was below its full voting strength and the cabinet remained unshaken. This was only the second time that the government has been outvoted since the Nationalist party under Eamon De Valera has had representation in the National Legislature.

Hunter's Gun Hits Wire, Shock Fatal

WESTCHESTER, Pa., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Emidio Falini, 40, was electrocuted while gunning for rabbits near here. His shotgun came in contact with a high tension wire dangling from a tree, killing him almost instantly.

UP IN SMOKE GOES MAGICAL POWER OF HAMILTON AS GARAGE BURNS

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright 1929, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8.

RIGHT on our toes. That's this department. Here's John Barrymore. Or there, he is. Barrymore has been ill with flu more than a week. This bureau just learns about it. Spot news, I calls it. At all events, he is preparing to convalesce, though 'tis declared he will be confined to the Ostermoor another week. A story seeped into the publik prints that the Barrymores had taken root in New York. That Dolores had decided the family heir—or heiress — should arrive in the East. It won't 'atall. Further more, Barrymore is rather keen to motor to Wilmington and see how his new power boat is coming along. He hankers to view it completed and dash off on a trip to the South Seas, or name your destination.

John Barrymore

When Neil Hamilton's father's garage (pardon the mouthful) burned, Neil lost most of his prized magic paraphenalia valued at several thousand dollars. Not the least being the sword box. There are said to be only two of those in the U. S. It's the trick coffin in which a daring person permits himself to be enclosed while the performer jabs swords through on either side. Mrs. Hamilton was a regular volunteer for this act. How it's destroyed, and Neil is reported as being unhappy.

Cliff Edwards Hands a Laugh

CLIFF (UKULELE IKE) EDWARDS went a-strolling across the M. G. M. lot and almost tripped over a midget.

"Gosh," he goshed, "I almost knocked down Bessie Love's double!"

Lillian Roth is a lil' gurl who sings blues and dances. Famous brought her West to second lead opposite Lupino Lane in the Maurice Chevalier operetta, "Love Parade." Along with Lillian came her mother and younger sister, Ann. Ann tried her darndest to crash into the flicks. But came to roost on the grade. So back to New York she and her mother have entrained, Ann to traipse on the stage. Lillian remains here. Somewhere, somehow, there should be a moral. . . .

Vera Gordon

Vera Gordon mooseyed into the Brown Derby 'tother noon and right away the young lads sped to her table to smack a smackful kiss upon Vera's receptive cheek. She certainly corrals the men. And has Vera melted off avoirdupois! Positively. "I'll tell you how I did it," she confided. "I just obeyed all the dont's. Don't eat bread and butter. Don't eat lunch. Don't, don't, don't." Whilst in New York, Vera saw David Belasco. Indeed, 'twas

Football Game Free To Ex-Service Men

Ex-service men from the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Spanish War Veterans, will be admitted free to the Butler-Wilkinsburg football game on Armistice Day. Each man need only present a membership card, show an arm band, or attend in military garb, to receive a cordial welcome. Both teams have had a successful season thus far, and are primed for their best effort, before the large crowd which is expected.

MARX BROS. AND 'PORGY' COMING

The four Marx Brothers in their latest musical offering, "Animal Crackers," open their engagement in the Shubert Alvin next Monday night. There will be matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Catfish Row, a setting in "Porgy," is really called "Cabbage Row" in Charleston, S. C. "Porgy" returns to the Nixon next week, to be presented by the same company that was here last season.

"The Rose of Picardy," next week's presentation of the George Sharp Players in the Shubert Pitt, has been chosen as being especially appropriate to Armistice week. It is a story of the war days.

Hours They Begin

HOURS at which feature photoplays begin in first run houses are in accordance with the following time schedule:

Tries Films

Ina Claire, stage star, tries the films and her first talkie, "The Awful Truth," comes to the Enright Saturday.

FIRST RKO FILM IN SHERIDAN SATURDAY

The inauguration of Radio-Keith-Orpheum entertainment in Pittsburgh will take place in the Sheridan Square Saturday.

"Street Girl," with Betty Compson, will be the first Radio Picture to be shown in the theater, which will have an extended run policy with no vaudeville. Then will come, for their first Pittsburgh showings, such productions as the already big success, "Rio Rita," from the Florenz Ziegfeld musical opus; "Hit the Deck," from Vincent Youman's musical success; "The Vagabond Lover," another musical with Rudy Vallee; "Radio Revels," an original operetta, with book, lyrics and music by the team of Harry Ruby and Bert Kalmar; "Night Parade," from the pen of George Abbott; "Dance Hall," by Vina Delmar, author of "Bad Girl;" "Jazz Heaven," and three Bebe Daniels films and three Richard Dix films.

WILL ADDRESS PITT WOMEN

University of Pittsburgh women will be addressed Wednesday, November 13, at noon in the Heinz House by Miss Elizabeth M. Lee, former student of the Geneva, Switzerland, School of International Studies, on efficient living and on her experiences as a missionary in Japan.

The talk will be under the auspices of the Women's council on efficient living. While stationed in Switzerland, Miss Lee attended several sessions of the League of Nations' council and met a number of delegates from various nations represented. She had been a delegate to many college women's conferences, and is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College.

SCHOOL WILL STAGE PLAY

"The Romantic Age," the first play to be presented in the new Wilkinsburg High School auditorium, will be staged tonight. All members of the cast have worked studiously, and the whole school has lent its support toward making this presentation the success it is expected to be.

The new stage, lighting system, drops and various items of scenery are considered to be on a par with anything of their kind among high schools, and should materially aid the young actors in putting across the play.

Busy Program For Legion Post

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 8. — Members of Sharpsville Post, American Legion, have a busy schedule for the coming week end. Sunday afternoon they will attend a dedication at Niles, O., Sunday evening, they will attend the memorial service at Farrell. On Monday, they will take part in the district Armistice Day celebration at Butler.

Wilkinsburg A. A. A. Club Holds Meeting

The Wilkinsburg A. A. A. Club held its annual meeting last night in the Penn-Lincoln ballroom. President A. W. Johnson, Secretary George W. Miller, and Attorney Robert Allison spoke. The meeting was followed by a buffet lunch and an entertainment, at which movies of the recent club motor run to Conneaut Lake in September were shown.

Norma Shops In Hollywood

HOWARD GREER, Hollywood fashion expert, writes:

Norma Talmadge shops in Hollywood before tripping off to New York. For travel or morning wear she has chosen a dark green crepe dress, the waistline posed at normal and the skirt, with insets of the same material, dropped to 14 inches from the floor. The bodice is intricately cut, so that the shoulders are formed of the bias of the material, and the sleeves set in just above the elbow.

Norma Talmadge

Now that the producing of outlouds has eliminated the ringing telephone on studio sound stages, a flashing red light is used to signify there is a call.

Louise Fazenda dropped in to visit on a First National set. She suddenly spied the red telephone light in a far corner of the set.

"Hi," she called to an assistant, "the phone is ringing. Is everybody color blind around here?"

And—that's all.

I. O. O. F. LEADER IN SENATE RACE

FRANKFORT, Ky., No., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Judge M. M. Logan, of Bowling Green, Ky., international grand sire of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and a member of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, has announced his candidacy for United States senator from Kentucky, subject to the Democratic primary election in 1930.

Judge Logan is the first Democrat to announce. Frederick M. Sackett, Republican, incumbent, has announced for re-election. The term of Senator A. W. Barkley, Democrat, does not expire until 1933.

Judge Logan entered politics at the age of 21 and has served as county attorney, assistant attorney general, attorney general, chairman of the state tax commission and as a member of the Court of Appeals.

He has long been active in fraternal societies, belonging to the Odd Fellows, Masons, Elks, and Woodmen of the World. He served as grand master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows for Kentucky and was elected international grand sire at the recent convention at Houston. In his announcement, Judge Logan said that he accepted "wholeheartedly the ideas of Woodrow Wilson, believing that he is the peer of any statesman that has appeared in the world."

Mother of Nine Refused Divorce

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 8.—Mrs. Geraldine Walsh, mother of nine, not only was refused a divorce from Bartley Walsh, whom she accused of neglect and cruelty, following a hearing in Jefferson County Court, but she was censured for her denying knowledge of love letters alleged to have been exchanged with a man who signed himself "Henry." The court accused her of perjuring herself when she claimed to have been thrown through a window by her husband.

Woman Appointed To Ohio Postoffice

CAMBRIDGE, O., Nov. 8.—Miss Amelia Baumgardner has been appointed postmaster at Kimbolton, Guernsey County. Miss Baumgardner succeeds Walter R. Britton who resigned recently.

Official Count Ended in Greene

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—The official count in Greene County was completed, no changes being found from unofficial returns Tuesday. Less than eight hours were required to make the official count.

"EVERYTHING I TRIED FAILED EXCEPT KONJOLA"

Stomach and Kidney Troubles Vanish When New Medicine Is Put to Work.

How much better to have health instead of wishing for it. Meet the Konjola Man nearest you. There is one at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and another at Dow's Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets.

MR. PATRICK J. DEVLIN

Learn why it is that Konjola triumphs even after all else tried has failed. Hear of any number of actual cases of Konjola's amazing victories, as in the case of Mr. Patrick J. Devlin, 2125 Boustead Street, this city. His is a remarkable experience with this new medicine, but not an unusual one. It is just one of tens of thousands of other proofs of Konjola's merits. Konjola is a scientific blend of 32 ingredients that goes speedily to the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and is also recommended for rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness. Profit by the experiences of others, and be guided by facts. Give Konjola the chance that Mr. Devlin did. Read, now, what he said to the Konjola Man:

"Everything I tried failed me except Konjola, and due to this really wonderful medicine I am enjoying health that I feared I would never have again. For four years I suffered from indigestion, kidney trouble, and constipation. Continual suffering from these ailments brought on nervousness, and my whole system became weak and rundown. Every meal was followed by pain and misery. I was forced to get up several times each night on account of irregular bladder actions. I feared I never would find a way of escape as medicine after medicine failed to give any relief.

"But what a change Konjola made in my life. My ailments were of long standing and were deeply seated, but Konjola seemed to go right to the bottom of my case and within two weeks I noticed some improvement. That gave me encouragement and I eagerly continued with the treatment. I did not miss a dose in the next few weeks and my reward is new health. My bowels are regular; my appetite is fine, and I eat what I want without the least indigestion. I sleep better and feel better than I have for years. Why, the change that Konjola made in me is almost beyond belief. I am fully convinced that Konjola was a lifesaver for me."

On such experiences rests the fame of Konjola, the medicine that has won and kept more than a million friends.

There are two Konjola Men in Pittsburgh, one is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and another at Dow's Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets, where daily they are meeting the public and explaining the merits of this new compound. Konjola is also sold at all Dow Drug Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

FOXES DIE, AIR MAIL SUED

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Suit for $40,000 damages in which it is charged that air mail planes flying low over a silver fox ranch at Meadow, Neb., caused the death of 56 young foxes was filed in District Court against the Boeing Air Transport Company by the Nebraska Silver Fox Corporation.

The suit says that the planes fly at an altitude of less than 300 feet and that the noise, vibration and appearance of the machines at this height frightens the foxes, particularly the females.

The greatest harm, the petition avers, comes during the months of April, May and June, when the young are born. During this time in 1929, the petition states, 56 young foxes were either trampled by their mothers or died before birth because of the planes.

JAPAN SEEKING BIG N. Y. LOAN

TOKIO, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Leading Japanese language newspapers today featured reports that Juichi Tsushima, a government financial commissioner now in New York, was negotiating with J. P. Morgan & Co. for an overdraft of $100,000,000 in favor of the Yokohama Specie Bank so as to support an early lifting of the embargo on gold exports which has been in force here since 1917.

The report said that the negotiations were progressing favorably. The yen is rapidly approaching par in exchange and leading financial experts predict that the signing of the overdraft agreement in New York will be immediately followed by an official announcement of a date for termination of the embargo, probably in January or February.

Brownsville Firm Will Build Depot

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 8.—The Brownsville Construction Company has been awarded the contract for a new freight station in Waynesburg, Pa., officials announced yesterday. The station will be constructed at the end of the new extension of the Monongahela Railway from Mather to Waynesburg. It will be a one-story frame structure and will cost $$10,000. The building will measure 24 by 60 feet.

World War Veteran Dies in Hospital

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Nov. 8.—Joseph L. Ross, 36, West Mayfield, veteran of the World War, died at the Providence Hospital. Military funeral services will be held from the home tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. He was a member of the Three Hundred and Thirty-second Infantry. He leaves his father, James Ross; three brothers and two sisters.

Parents, Children Hurt in Overturn

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Nov. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. George Miller and four children of Moravia were slightly hurt when their automobile was forced off the Ellwood City road by another car and overturned.

BONE INFECTION CURE CLAIMED

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—A new method of curing chronic bone infections was claimed here by Dr. Max Thorek, of Chicago, in an address before the American College of Physical Therapy.

Dr. Thorek, surgeon-in-chief of the American Hospital here, said that after seven years' experimentation, he was positive that the application of a poultice made of oatmeal and fertilizer to the surface is a much-improved method of treating such infections. The treatment works, he explained, not by killing the bacteria, but by stimulating them to greater activity and forcing the body to set up its own antitoxins, which by themselves eliminate the poison.

Bone infections may arise, he said, from fractures, blows or poisoning in the body. The usual treatment has been to cut into the bone and chisel away the diseased parts.

CAMBRIA VOTE SLAP AT FISHER

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 8.—Ivan J. McKenrick, of Ebensburg, was elected Common Pleas Court Judge of Cambria County on the Democratic ticket, defeating Frank P. Barnhart, of Johnstown, filling an appointment a few months ago by Gov. John S. Fisher. Unofficial returns gave McKenrick 20,157 and Barnhart 19,528. Barnhart's defeat was a blow to the Fisher forces. The judge won by a large plurality over District Attorney D. P. Weimer for the Republican nomination at the primaries.

The voting machine proposal carried, mainly with the aid of a big affirmative vote in the city. The bond issue for a proposed county hospital was defeated.

CLUB'S WOMAN BARRIER DOWN

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—The tradition that no woman attends a dinner in the private dining rooms of the Union League Club was broken when the sea safety medal was awarded to Dr. Reginald A. Fessenden. The break was made for Frances Perkins, state industrial commissioner, who attended the presentation in an official capacity because of her interest in safety.

The medal was given by the Scientific American and presented by the American Museum of Safety. Dr. Fessenden's inventions include the fathometer, the new device for registering depth of water by sound, direct finders and electrical and radio devices and compasses.

School Bond Issue, 4 Times Beaten, Wins

CADIZ, O., Nov. 8.—The fifth time proved the charm for Tappan school people who have been trying for several years to win approval for a bond issue to replace a school burned three years ago. At Tuesday's election the proposal went over by a wide margin.

Cathedral Manager Goes to St. Louis

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 8.—Herbert S. Peairs, manager of the Scottish Rite Cathedral here for the past two years, has resigned and accepted a position with an industrial finance group in St. Louis, Mo. He will assume his new duties November 15.

Coal Orders Off, Mine Shuts Down

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 8.—The Tasa coal-stripping mine near Adena has shut down due to lack of orders. The plant employed about 100 men.

Surety Company Head Emphasizes Warning With Exhibit of Bogus Papers

Seventeen organized groups of check and security forgers are preying on the American business man to the tune of more than $200,000,000 a year, C. Carroll Spear, vice president of the National Surety Company, New York, told members of the Retail Credit Association last night in the Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to an explanation of the ways and means of the check forgers, an exhibit containing $1,000,000 of counterfeited and forged checks and drafts and money order formed an illustration to his talk.

Discussing the crooked printing plants, and the methods of getting signatures and indorsements, Mr. Spear included in his exhibit a number of checks forged on the bankers' associations, on fictitious banking organizations, company payrolls, merchants and bonds. Large corporations as well as small are ready victims.

With about 90 per cent of the larger business organizations paying their employes by check, Mr. Spear pointed out, the opportunity for the check forger is large. Some particularly audacious crooks have even gone so far as to print bogus identification cards of the firms whose checks they have forged, to make the passing of these checks easier.

A loophole in the law enables the forger to escape heavy penalties even when caught, since if his checks are kept within a certain maximum figure, no matter how many duplications of one check he writes, he is liable to punishment on only one count. Thus, after a light fine, or prison term, he resumes operations.

Among the most interesting forgeries recently proved successful was one on a Middle Western bank. The crooks deposited $3,000 and opened a checking account against it, having a check for $2,600 certified. Ten duplicates of this check were then made by the crooks, and each was so perfect that neither the bank nor the National Surety Company's forgery experts were able to discover which of the 11 checks was the original.

AIM AT 15,000 AT WEST VIEW

"West View will have a population of 15,000 by 1932," C. V. Shoup, president of the West View Board of Trade predicted last night at a community gathering of men's church brotherhoods in the West View United Presbyterian Church.

Other speakers included the Rev. H. D. McCalmont, the Rev. Luther P. Speehr, C. G. Mears, religious director North Side Y. M. C. A.; H. H. Wilt, H. J. Wagner, Jr., H. C. Galbraith, W. P. Perry and George F. Kiedasich.

New Congressman To Aid Agriculture

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Paul J. Kvale, recently elected Farmer-Labor congressman from the Seventh Minnesota District, declared he would concentrate in Congress on a square deal for agriculture in Minnesota and the Northwest.

Congressman-elect Kvale was on his way to Washington, where he will be sworn in as a member of the House Monday in succession to his father.

First Vet Insurance Suit Lost by U. S.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Homer M. Love, a veteran living at the National Soldiers' Home, Sawtelle, Cal., won the first of 168 suits brought here against the government for payment of war-risk insurance money allegedly due.

A jury in Federal Court awarded Love a monthly compensation of $57.50 dating from October 31, 1918, when he was discharged, until he shall die.

Wilson Memorial Group to Get Film

H. F. Drugan, of the National Wilson Memorial Society, today was to present to the Western Pennsylvania committee of the society a copy of the Woodrow Wilson Memorial film. The film was to be presented at a luncheon of the local committee in the William Penn Hotel. The film is a six-reel motion picture compiled from scenes photographed during the lifetime of President Wilson.

TEN HURT HERE BY AUTOS

Ten persons were injured, eight of them in the East Liberty district, in automobile accidents during the night.

Five persons were slightly injured at 2 a. m. today when two automobiles collided at Baum boulevard and Negley avenue.

They were Ernest Wright, 25, of Irwin, Pa.; Patrolman Louis Sprague, 40, of 1319 Lincoln avenue; Donald F. Trotter, 37, and his wife, Matilda, 37, of 5856 Maeburn street, and Robert Dorn, 26, of 1326 Lincoln avenue. All except Dorn were taken to Homeopathic Hospital, where it was said their injuries consisted of cuts and bruises.

BOY INJURED

The car driven by Trotter collided with one driven by Dorn. Wright and Sprague were passengers in Dorn's car.

William Law, 5, of 633 Glenmore avenue, is in Pittsburgh Hospital as a result of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile at Montezuma street and Lemington avenue. He suffered a fractured left shoulder and cuts on the face. Earl Frazier, 18, of 6993 Lemington avenue, driver of the car, was arrested, according to police.

HOMEWOOD CRASH

When an automobile in which they were riding collided at Kelly street and Braddock avenue, May Weimer, 35, of Rockwood, Pa., and Henry A. Booker, 38, of Lincoln road, Nadine, suffered bruises and were treated at Pittsburgh Hospital. The drivers escaped uninjured.

Traffic on the Tassey Hollow Bridge, North Braddock, was tied up for an hour last night when an automobile, driven by Charles Truvasan, 18, of 643 Danbury street, overturned on the span. Truvasan and his companion, Paul Durban, 45, of 1203 Ridgeland street, suffered lacerations and body bruises. They were treated at Braddock General Hospital.

Pension for Widows Proposed in House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Chairman Knutson, of the House Pensions Committee, introduced a bill to provide for a pension of $25 a month to all widows who are or hereafter may become helpless through old age, blind or otherwise physically or mentally disabled.

COUNCIL HEAD BARS DANCES

Burgess William J. Longmore, of Bellevue, does not approve of dancing classes being held in the council chamber.

In his monthly message to the borough council last night the burgess cited that the chamber had been used for classes by Miss Elizabeth R. Helt.

"This has been reported to the public works committee," the burgess set forth, "as I do not think council chambers should be used for any other purpose than that which the council now employs."

Dances and entertainments as a rule are held in the auditorium on the floor above the council chamber.

Hotel Fire Suspect Faces Murder Trial

SEATTLE, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—First degree murder charges were filed against S. Takayama for the deaths of 10 men October 18 in a fire in the Portland Hotel here.

Takayama, arrested two weeks ago, was charged with having set the fire, investigators saying he was jealous of the wife of the hotel's Japanese proprietor.

Cause of Mining Town Blaze Sought

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 8.—Investigation is under way today to determine the origin of a fire that destroyed the new store building of B. Battista at Ramsey, a coal mining town.

Phony Cyclone Tip Empties School

GLEN ELLYN, Ill., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Someone representing himself as "Mr. Saunders of the State Board of Education" telephoned the superintendent of schools yesterday—during school hours—that a cyclone was coming over the western horizon.

Elementary school children were immediately dismissed. High school students were on the point of departing.

A teacher bethought himself to look out of the window. It was a beautiful day. Not a cyclone in sight.

Football Team Is Guest of Kiwanis

The Wilkinsburg football team and its coaches, Elmer Carroll and John Browning, were guests of the Wilkinsburg Kiwanis Club yesterday in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel. Officers for the ensuing year were nominated, and Rev. Luther Krouse, pastor of the Lutheran Church, spoke on the subject of football and teamwork. Roy E. Whitfield, president of the organization, was in charge.

COUNTY HONORS RIVER PIONEER

The County Commissioners yesterday authorized the placing of a memorial in the rotunda of the Court House to the late Capt. William B. Rodgers, a pioneer river man. The resolution was presented by County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern and passed by Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong and E. V. Babcock.

The memorial is to cost $1,000 and will be in the form of a plaque. The tablet is to be unveiled with ceremonies next July 1. McGovern, in presenting the resolution, stated that Capt. Rodgers was the only Pittsburgher mentioned by President Hoover in his speech at Cincinnati, at the celebration of the canalization of the Ohio River.

FRAUD CONVICTS WIN APPEAL

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8.—(A.P.)—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which reversed the convictions of William H. Gold and Guy J. Huston, former officers of the Southern Minnesota Joint Land Stock Bank on charges of using the mails to defraud, expressed the opinion that on the evidence the trial court should have directed a verdict of not guilty.

The opinion, written by Judge Booth, reversed the convictions, however, on a single point, that the trial court had erred in an instruction to the jury on submitting the question as to whether dividends paid had been earned.

With other former officers, Gold and Huston were accused of having violated the federal farm loan act through misapplication of $783,000 of funds of the bank, falsification of bank records and sale of 10 per cent of the capital stock through the mails.

Judge Booth's opinion stated that a verdict of not guilty should have been directed, "because the alleged fraudulent schemes and alleged false representations are without substantial support in the record," and that the evidence was "as consistent with the innocence of the defendants as with guilt on their part." The court further held that certain evidence was inadmissable.

DEMOCRATS IN GROVE CITY WIN

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 8. — While there was little interest in the Mercer County voting, several communities had stiff fights for their borough offices at Tuesday's election.

Grove City elected a Democratic burgess for the first time in 38 years when W. W. Van Eman, lifelong resident, defeated W. A. Patterson by a large majority. George Mahaney, merchant, defeated on two other occasions, came back to be elected over Burgess Walter Boyd at Sharpsville. In Greenville youth defeated old age as Donovan Henry, 22, won from Burgess William Wasser. Mercer gave Burgess Paul Terhune a large vote as Farrell re-elected Clyde Scowden.

Sharon, Farrell, Sharpsville, Greenville and Grove City approved the use of voting machines by large majorities. Farrell voted to become a third class city in 1932 after being a borough for 22 years.

Dr. J. W. Brown, Stoneboro, and L. E. Lytle, Jackson Center, were successful in the race for jury commissioners.

Ptomaine Poison Fatal to Man, 57

Graham Drops Perjury Case Against Berger

BIG PART IN ZEP TRADE SEEN FOR CITY

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

Havey J. Boyle.

WITHIN a few days the Perry Highway, stretching from Pittsburgh to Erie, will be dedicated. It is called the Perry Highway in honor of Commodore Oliver Hazzard Perry, although the famous commodore was never on the road. The name comes from a myth conjured by a Pittsburgh reporter some years ago. The story:

* * *

A map salesman came to Pittsburgh some years ago complaining about business. It was in the days before concrete road construction, before highways were numbered and when good roads were few.

"I can't sell maps here," complained the salesman, "because Pittsburgh has only one prominent highway, the Lincoln, and nobody knows anything about the Butler plank since people quit riding bicycles." He was talking to a reporter.

THE reporter allowed his imagination to function for a moment, picked up a map, and drew a line connecting Pittsburgh and Erie. The reporter remembered that part of history which recited that in March, 1813, Commodore Perry came down from Erie to arrange for cordage, projectiles and other munitions. For purposes of convenience he slighted the important fact that Perry did not come along the line he made on the map. As a matter of fact Perry had come along trails far to the eastward of the present Perry Highway. The town of Franklin was relatively a place of importance then and Perry traveled by Franklin, following generally the course of the Allegheny River.

The reporter then wrote a fantastic story about Perry's trail and the map salesman picked up some business, marking his new road with an anchor, with a large "P" in the background. Thus was born the Perry Highway.

THEN, as now, there were people ready to join any movement. Certain property holders along the line fashioned by the Perry Highway were quick to see the possibilities of improving their property by the construction of a highway bearing a historic and romantic name. One was the late G. Henry Schmunk, a member of the good roads committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Schmunk labored at Harrisburg and elsewhere for required legislation. Meanwhile, various patriotic societies, caught by the magnificent name of the highway and all it connoted, joined in the great movement. While all this was going on the reporter who started the myth and the road map salesman sat back and watched the development of their handiwork.

The fact that the late commodore's ghost may flit over the dedicatory services and like another famous ghost feel the urge to unfold a tale, of course, in no way minimizes the attractiveness of the highway that connects so well Pittsburgh and Erie.

A MYTH has the rabbit's propensity for increasing and multiplying. Various landmarks dot the trail; many are the stories of how Perry here struck his first camp, there rested for two days, and at another point waved his hat to a pretty girl.

One item is commended to the shadow of the great commodore: A part of the dedicatory services are to be held on the porch of a roadhouse, which, to use terminology quite modern, is padlocked.

U. S. DROPS BERGER LIE CHARGES

Attorney Graham Will Not Press Action Started Over Engelsberg Case

United States Attorney Louis E. Graham today dropped a perjury charge against Charles Berger, pardoned bootlegger, which grew out of his testimony in the case of Joseph Engelsberg, Hill politician.

The perjury charge was filed against Berger by former Federal Prosecutor John D. Meyer after Berger, at a hearing on Engelsberg's motion for a new trial, October 21, repudiated previous testimony.

Engelsberg was convicted last May of conspiracy to violate dry laws largely through Berger's testimony.

Graham made no explation.

Berger, accompanied by two attorneys, appeared before the U. S. commissioner for a hearing today when he was informed the charge had been dismissed.

At the Engelsberg hearing last month Berger, on the witness stand, maintained his testimony against Engelsberg last May had been given under threats of government attorneys.

SNAKE DRIVERS BOOST TOLL

Operation of motor vehicles on the wrong side of the road was the greatest single cause of automobile accidents in Pennsylvania during the first nine months of 1929, according to C. H. Roth, secretary of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, in a plea for motorists to observe "Thanksgiving No Accident Month."

"This statement," says Roth, "was made after studying the reports of accidents received by the Pennsylvania Bureau of Motor Vehicles. Seventy-seven persons lost their lives in such accidents. There were 4,233 non-fatal crashes, making the total 4,290.

"Baum, Bigelow and the Boulevard of the Allies, continues Roth, bear testimony to the 'cussed' tendency of many motor car operators to take more than their share of traffic lanes. Grade crossings and other accidents usually carry their own moral, but it is safe to say that very few motorists give any thought to the seriousness of violating this cardinal rule of the road.

Social Problem Club Organized at Tech

A student discussion group, styled the Social Problems Club, has been recognized by the student council, undergraduate governing body, at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. The club has been organized, according to the students, to facilitate the discussion of current topics, and to allow an exchange of ideas among its members.

Girl Takes Poison By Mistake, Rallies

Doris Verner, 20, of 712 Cedar avenue, today was reported recovering from the effects of poison which she took by mistake in her home last night, according to police, who said that she went into a darkened bathroom seeking headache medicine and took the poison instead.

On the Screen

SALLY STARR

GIRL BORN HERE NOW FILM STAR

Another Pittsburgh girl who has risen to stardom in filmland will appear in the movies here next week.

To neighbors in the Garfield district, she is Sara Kathryn Sturm. Stageland adopted her as a dancer known as Sally Starr. Now filmdom has adopted Sally and features her in an all-talking, singing and dancing picture, "So This Is College."

Sally was born and raised in Pittsburgh. Her education was received in the Garfield public school and Peabody high school. Throughout those school days, Sara to her school chums or Sally to her fans, had one ambition and that was to act. She took up dancing at the Fairgrieve School in East Liberty, and became good enough when 14, to join George White's "Scandals." Three seasons in the Scandals' chorus and Sally graduated to Rufus LeMaire's production, "LeMaire's Affairs." It was George White, though, that gave her the name of Sally Starr.

Recently Sally decided upon Hollywood for a permanent address and the screen for her career. It's not told how Sam Wood, the director who launched Anita Page in pictures, came upon Sally, but he did. Sally took the usual screen tests. Sam broadcast he had a "find." So Sally has a bungalow in Hollywood now. Her parents and a brother and sister moved six weeks ago from Farlson Square, East Liberty. They are joining Sally in Beverly Hills. Incidentally, Sally is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McAllister, of Pittsburgh.

"So This Is College," which will be the Loew's Penn attraction next week, offers Elliot Nugent and Robert Montgomery, New York stage juveniles, as Sally's leading men.

Fell on Sidewalk Sues for $15,000

Pauline Nieman, who stumbled and fell April 13 last, because of a hole in the sidewalk at Smithfield street and Seventh avenue, has brought suit against the City of Pittsburgh for $15,000 damages. She claims that the depression in the sidewalk caused her to fall and hurt herself internally.

Desertion Charged In Wife's Action

Married in January, 1928, and deserted the same year has fallen to the lot of Sara J. Simpson, 332 Plummer street, Emsworth, who wants a divorce from John M. Simpson. She has filed a libel in divorce against him in Common Pleas Court.

Director of Parks To Visit Conference

Paul B. Riis, director of county parks will attend the convention of the American Institute of Park Executives to be held this winter at Miami, Fla. The commissioners appropriated $250 to defray his expenses at their meeting yesterday.

Von Steuben Club Elects Officials

The Von Steuben Club, an organization of students studying German in Bellevue High School, has elected these officers: President, Ann McMullen; vice president, Robert Deemer; secretary-treasurer, Winona Gratz.

MAGEE FIGHTS POWER LINES MERGER

Former Mayor Represents Harmony Consumers at Public Service Hearing

Former Mayor W. A. Magee appeared before the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission today in an effort to save what he termed the last industrial "island" in the great sea of the national power trust.

He argued against the projected merger of the Harmony Power Company and the Peoples Power Company—independent concerns serving electric power to portions of Butler, Beaver and Lawrence Counties—with the Pennsylvania Power Company, a corporation in the trust controlled by J. P. Morgan & Co.

MAGEE ATTORNEY

Magee appeared as attorney for the Zelienople Manufacturers' Association and other purchasers of electric power in Butler County, complainants in the case before the Public Service Commission, opposing the granting of a certificate authorizing the merger.

Before Commissioners Samuel A. Walker and James M. Benn, Magee charged that the Harmony and Peoples companies, constituting a small "island" in neutral territory, ought not to be linked with any other system, particularly with the Pennsylvania-Ohio Edison Company, which serves portions of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio.

FEAR INCREASED RATES

He declared that it would mean an increased cost of electric power to consumers in that territory reaching approximately 20 per cent over the present rate.

E. Z. Smith, electrical expert, who worked out the giant power plans for Gov. Gifford Pinchot, was the first witness called by Magee. His testimony sought to show that the Pennsylvania Power Company in offering $7,400,000 for the Harmony and Peoples properties is paying four times their actual worth. Their valuation in 1928, it was testified, was $1,600,000. There had been greater actual depreciation in their values, he said, than the books show.

Attorney Berne H. Evans represented the companies in the proposed merger. At the conclusion of Smith's testimony the hearing was adjourned.

Commerce Chamber Backs Health Drive

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, by unanimous action of its board of directors, has indorsed the campaign against diphtheria which the City Health Department, Dr. Charles B. Maits, director, is conducting. A resolution adopted by the board commends the immunization of children against the disease and declares that all practical means available should be employed to advertise and advance the immunization work of the department.

TROLLEY CRASH INJURES 3

When two street cars collided at Ninth street and Duquesne way last night, three passengers in one of them were injured and more than a dozen others were shaken up.

The injured, Lee Kamerwoski, 30, of 149 Vista street, and Steve Greenwalt, 34, of 145 Vista street, both of Etna, and a woman whose name was not learned by police were treated at Allegheny General Hospital. All suffered injuries of the back and were later taken to their homes.

One passenger was slightly bruised and 24 others rushed to the street when flames from a short-circuited controller shot through a New Kensington street car at West New Kensington yesterday. The car crew prevented a panic, but in the dash for exits an aged man was slightly hurt.

New Soup Kettles Authorized for County Jail

The two big soup kettles in the county jail have worn out. Warden John McNeil's request for two new kettles was approved yesterday by the county commissioners. They are to be of chrome steel, one of 100 gallons capacity and the other 50 gallons. The old kettles have been in "constant use for 20 year," McNeil said, "and are past repair."

Epworth League Will Open Fall Conclave

The annual fall convention of the Pittsburgh district of Epworth Leagues will be held in the Emory Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow. Dr. James E. Wagner, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon Methodist Episcopal Church, will be the principal speaker. Sessions will be held throughout the day. Dinner will be served in the evening. Charles Teckmeyer, president of the Emory Chapter, and chairman of the convention, will preside at all sessions.

ORCHID PLANT 'EATS' MEAT

Carniverous orchids that eat hamburger steak or roast beef to satisfy their unusual appetites have made an appearance in Pittsburgh, being brought here by C. H. Smith, a Cleveland florist.

The orchids, which give the appearance of cobras when hungry, pay dividends for their meat diet by giving every September and October sweetly odorous blooms.

The plants are quaint in the flower kingdom. Scientifically they are known as Matre orchids and are popular throughout the Middle West.

In summer the plants cull their own living by a diet of flies, roaches and mosquitoes. If placed in a home where such forms of insect life are not available, the bloom fancier has a meat bill the year 'round. But it is not enough to set the average householder bankrupt. Five or six grains of hamburg steak weekly suffice for their diet, but they must be fed with a spoon like a child.

"How do you know when the orchids develop an appetite?" Smith was asked as he petted his hungry flowers.

"Two tusks like those that hang from a walus' mouth are part of the makeup of the orchids," he replied.

"When the appetite has been satisfied, the tusks hang down like a western prospector's moustache. When they get hungry, the tusks curl up like his do when he needs a drink of 'firewater.'"

"How do unwary insects meet their doom?"

"Bugs which prey around the mouths of the orchids become easy victims," Smith said, "and land in a prison from which there is no escape. Once they go into the mouth, small hairs, like those that line the human nasal passages, trap them. The unfortunate bugs are then conveyed down a gullet into the interior of the plant.

Avalon to Dedicate Memorial Clock

Dedication of the electric chimes clock erected on the Avalon Borough Hall by the Avalon Chapter Service Star Legion, will be held in the borough auditorium tomorrow night. Eighteen mothers who sent sons to France compose the chapter.

PITTSBURGH TO SUPPLY MATERIAL

Akron, Aiming to Lead World In Airship Building, Looks To This District for Aid

By AL GOUGH,
Sun-Telegraph Aviation Editor

Pittsburgh's contingent of industrial leaders who contributed to yesterday's memorable ring-laying ceremony at Akron in connection with the start of construction on the world's largest airship, the U. S. Navy dirigible ZRS-4, is back home with a vision of a new day in aerial transportation and the part this city as an industrial center must play in its development.

"Pittsburgh and its industry," P. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation, builders of the air Goliath, told the Pittsburgh visitors, "has contributed much to our success in this gigantic enterprise.

"Pittsburgh firms built the zeppelin dock which will house these huge airships, and from Pittsburgh comes the material of which the interior of these huge gas bags in fabricated.

"Akron, it is our hope, will become the zeppelin center of the world—Pittsburgh and its industries will make such a hope possible."

ENVISIONS FUTURE

Vast fleets of American dirigibles spanning the seven seas were envisioned by Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, who presided at the ring-laying which is comparable to the laying of the keel of a battleship.

"If other nations have airships," Admiral Moffett said, "America cannot afford to be without them. We envision fleets of American dirigibles traversing the seven seas in the not distant future, making 'sea' ports of inland cities, putting them on an equality with New York, San Francisco, New Orleans and other important seacoast towns.

"Travelers from Chicago or Akron, for instance, will not have to go to New York to reach Europe, nor to San Francisco or Seattle to reach Japan and Asia. Within the not distant future we will have airships capable of carrying 300,000 pieces of mail and 50 passengers from this country to Europe in two and one-half days, or if the need should arise—gigantic battle cruisers of the air, carrying five airplanes and a battery of 16 machine guns."

Admiral Moffett placed the gold rivet in the top-most section of the huge center ring of the ZRS-4 at yesterday's ceremonies. It was an impressive event.

RECORD CROWD PRESENT

The largest crowd ever assembled in Akron, according to Goodyear and Akron officials, witnessed the ring-laying in the immense dock on the new Goodyear airport. Army, Navy and Marine fighting planes, massed together for the celebration, gave brilliant exhibitions overhead while the Los Angeles, America's only Zeppelin at present, and the Goodyear fleet of blimps maneuvered in formation.

Visiting notables from all over the nation and several from foreign countries were present. Bands played, banners were flung to the breeze and all Akron, it seemed, joined in the gala occasion.

Short speeches of welcome were made by Goodyear officials, following which Dr. Karl Arnstein, designer and chief engineer for the Zeppelin builders, expressed the hope that America would seek its rightful place as the leader of things aeronautical.

H. H. Robertson, president of the H. H. Robertson Company, which supplied the corrugated sheet metal roofing for the gigantic dock, and his party of 50 prominent Pittsburgh industrial leaders, occupied places of honor in the grandstand.

New West View Allotment Approved

West View Council at a meeting this week approved the street and lot plans of the Wellington Heights subdivision adjoining the Highland Country Club. It embraces about 30 acres and 200 lots.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Are Pittsburgh's bus and taxi fares excessive?

N. TOWNSEND ALLISON, Sixth avenue, restaurant manager: "Taxi rates in Pittsburgh are entirely too high. In Detroit and other cities a passenger can ride from the city outskirts to the downtown for approximately 75 cents. Here it costs one $2 or more. Bus fares are too high also. Operating companies now charging 25 cents per passenger are reaping a harvest at the public's expense. Charging 10 cents per passenger would give them a greater volume of business with a real good profit."

N. Townsend Allison

THOMAS CLANCEY, 5320 Kincaid street, policeman: "Yes, I think both bus and taxi rates are entirely too high. More profit and more passengers could be secured with a lower rate. Other cities are operating at a profit on a smaller rate. Why can't Pittsburgh? True, the drivers don't make a whole lot of money, so one can readily see the money is going into the coffers of the operating companies. The public is being gouged on bus fares."

Thomas Clancey

HILDA BAUER, 722 Bouquet street, McKees Rocks, sales clerk: "Absolutely taxi fares and bus charges are too high. Taxi fares are not so bad, but those bus fares are exorbitant. Twent-five cents per passenger is too much to charge. A 10-cent rate could be charged. A larger volume of business would compensate the companies for the loss they might incur temporarily by a reduction. Public protest on the fares has been made and I think they should be reduced."

Hilda Bauer

CHARLES LARIMER, Aspinwall, college student: "Pittsburgh's taxi and bus rates are fairly reasonable. One must consider the upkeep of the cabs and the cost of oil. Drivers have to make a living wage. They can't live on a 'shoestring.' Besides all this the company must show a profit to the stockholders. However, I do think bus fares of 25 cents per person are entirely too high for city transportation. A 10 or 15-cent fare would be entirely satisfactory to most persons."

Charles Larimer

L. G. OGDEN, 304 Collins avenue, cab driver: "When a person takes into consideration the operating costs of cabs the rates are reasonable. Tires, gas and oil cost a lot of money, not to consider depreciation on the investment. Seven to eight gallons of gas are used on an ordinary day and the depreciation grows greater daily. I haven't an opinion on buses as I don't ride them."

L. G. Ogden

D. H. HUNTER, Greensburg, advertising man: "A passenger can ride a cab in New York City for 15 cents the first quarter mile and five cents a each succeeding quarter. My experience in Pittsburgh has been 30 cents the first quarter and five cents each succeeding one. If taxis is New York and several cities the size of Pittsburgh can operate at a profit with a low rate, why can't they do so here? The Iron City rate is just double that of Gotham's."

D. H. Hunter

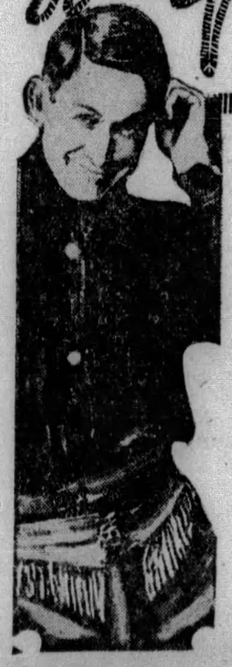
Seismograph Installed In Pitt 'Cathedral'

A seismograph, presented to the University of Pittsburgh by Dr. George H. Clapp, president of the board of trustees, was installed yesterday afternoon in the basement of the new Cathedral of Learning. Members of the board of trustees and members of the faculty witnessed a demonstration of the instrument.

Dr. H. E. McComb, a representative of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, came from Washington to install the machine and to give the demonstration. The machine is the latest type developed by the Bureau of Standards in Washington.

Regular reports of the instrument will be sent to Washington, it was said. Dr. McComb expressed satisfaction with the preliminary test. In addition to Dr. Clapp and Dr. McComb, John Weber, university engineer; Chancellor John G. Bowman and Dr. A. G. Worthington, head of the physics department, were present.

Will Rogers



BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 8.

It wasn't drinking that Senator Brookhardt wanted to show at that dinner, it was the fact that an Iowa Senator sat next to Otto Kahn, which also excused Mr. Kahn's resorting to the flask.

With progressive senators relating all the ingredients of social functions, might have been why Hiram Johnson's invitation went astray. But Mr. Johnson's health is better by it, for no matter how tasty a dinner the Hoovers might have served, it would have disagreed with Senator Johnson.

Mr. Hoover's alibi as to why the invitation miscarried should have been, "I mailed it to the Republican side of the Senate."

Yours, WILL.

COUNTY BEGINS PREPARATIONS FOR VOTING MACHINES

COMMISSIONERS ASK PRECINCT CHANGES

First Use Likely to Be At November, 1930, Polls; Must Realign Districts

Common Pleas Court will be asked to appoint a commission to redistrict the voting precincts of the county for use of voting machines. The county commissioners passed a resolution yesterday for the commission, to be named as soon as possible.

Commissioner Charles C. McGovern pointed out that the one voting machine company able to furnish machines will probably be swamped with orders and that Allegheny County should place its order first, inasmuch as the agitation for vote machine legislation in Pennsylvania originated here.

ALL THREE AGREE

McGovern brought the matter up at the meeting. Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong made the motion for the commission, which was adopted unanimously.

Whether voting machines will be put into use at the May primary election is problematical. If possible some machines will be acquired by the county by that time. However it is probable that they will not be put into general use prior to the November election of 1930.

$1,500,000 NEEDED

One of the chief problems facing the commissioners is provision of funds for the machines. Funds can be obtained either by direct taxation, which means that taxes will be increased one and one-half mills to provide the $1,500,000 necessary for the machines or by the issuance of short term bonds. This matter is now in the hands of County Solicitor W. Heber Dithrich for an opinion.

Recreation Course Opens Tonight at 'Y'

An eight weeks' course in social recreation for men and women will open tonight at the Downtown Y. M. C. A. Classes will meet each Friday night for the next eight weeks. The following will be instructors: Director W. C. Batcheller, of the City Bureau of Recreation; Miss Dora Einert, social work director of Carnegie Institute of Technology; Charles W. Nethaway, supervisor of grade school athletics of the city schools; William T. Rowe, physical director; W. A. Scheder, dormitory secretary, and Herbert Handley, social secretary of the Downtown Y.

Shadeland Bridge Repairs Authorized

City Council has authorized Director Edward G. Lang, of the Public Works Department, to prepare legislation for repairs necessary to the Shadeland Avenue Bridge, North Side. The span has been closed for some time and Council is anxious to have it open before cold weather.

Council also affirmed ordinances for the grading, paving and curbing of Isis way, Yarrow street and Arrow way, as well as the widening of Sunset avenue.

P. R. R. Passenger Association Meets

Virtually the entire personnel of the passenger department of the Pennsylvania Railroad here last night attended the sixteenth annual dinner and meeting of the Association of Passenger Representatives of the Pennsylvania Railroad, held in Columbus, O. F. W. Conner, former passenger traffic manager here, now passenger traffic manager at Philadelphia, presided at the meeting which was held in the Deshler-Wallick Hotel.

Commissioners O. K. Two Bridge Plans

Plans for the $3,540,000 North Side-West End Bridge and the $1,925,000 Tenth Street Bridge have been approved by the County Commissioners for submission to the grand jury. Authorization to advertise for bids for the two bridges was also given by the commissioners at their meeting yesterday.

PRINT EXPERTS END MEETING

The international conference of technical experts in the printing industry, called in Pittsburgh by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, will close tonight with a dinner in Hotel Schenley.

The conference opened yesterday at Carnegie Institute lecture hall, when Strickland Kneass, chairman of the Pittsburgh section of the A. S. M. E., delivered an address of welcome. Edward P. Hulse, chairman of the printing industries of the organization and organizer of the meeting, made the reply.

George H. Carter, public printer of the United States, made the principal address, taking for his subject, "The Necessity for Research in the Printing Industry." He was followed by Franz Helmberger, director of the Reichsdruckerei Berlin, the official printer of Germany. What British printers are doing in the research field was told by John R. Riddell, principal of the London School of Printing, the largest in the world. J. P. Nikonow represented the United Society of Soviet Republics, discussing Russia's advance in art of topography.

Police Mail Held Four Days! No Stamps

Important police mail from the city detective bureau was held up for four days because there were no stamps available at headquarters, it was learned. Stamps, borrowed from another city department, took out the mail yesterday.

According to Inspector of Detectives Frank R. Boyd, City Controller Henry Oliver Evans refused to appropriate money for the stamps. The appropriation was signed yesterday afternoon.

TIME UP, FIGHTS IMPRISONMENT FOR COSTS

Holding Man in Jail Pending Payment of Charges Held Illegal in Court Appeal

The legality of detaining William Mangan, 29, of the South Side, in the county jail after expiration of a four-months' jail sentence imposed July 2 in Federal Court, because costs in his case have not been paid, will be aired Tuesday before Federal Judge Nelson McVicar.

Attorney Theodore L. Moritz, counsel for Mangan, said that his client is being held illegally as costs are a civil obligation, and will cite authority for his contention in a habeas corpus proceeding instituted in Federal Court against Warden John McNeil, in which the latter was directed by Judge McVicar to appear in court on Tuesday.

COSTS HELD ILLEGAL

In a petition for the writ of habeas corpus filed by Mangan through his counsel he cites his four months' sentence has elapsed, but nevertheless he has been kept in jail. Mangan averred there are no other crimes for which he should be confined.

If Attorney Moritz is successful in establishing that costs are illegal in criminal cases, it will interrupt a procedure that has been in vogue for several months in the Federal District Court, the collecting of costs in criminal cases having been directed by the Attorney General.

GUILTY IN DRUG CASE

Mangan, on April 3, pleaded guilty of violating the Harrison narcotic act and was paroled for two years. When he was later arrested by city detectives and accused of theft of a radio in a downtown store, he was again taken into custody by the Federal authorities for violating his parole by failing to report to Federal Probation Officer George O'Brien at intervals directed by the court.

The parole was then revoked by Judge McVicar and the four months' jail sentence imposed. The costs in the case, according to Attorney Moritz, are $260.

Awarded $10,000 For Damage to Property

A $10,000 verdict was awarded the Nielen Company against the City of Pittsburgh in Common Pleas Court yesterday. The award was for damages to the company's property in Pollmey street, near the Manchester Bridge, North Side approach, because of the widening of the street and changing the grade several years ago. The board of viewers had only allowed the company $3,235 damages.

ICE ENGINEERS END MEETING

A meeting of the newly elected officers of the National Association of Practical Refrigerating Engineers in the William Penn Hotel was the closing activity of the organization's convention.

The sessions formally closed yesterday afternoon with the election of officers. George A. Pardee, of Louisville, was elected president.

Other newly named officers were: First vice-president, William C. Reinhard, Houston; second vice-president, James S. Spalding, Memphis; secretary, Edward H. Fox, Chicago; treasurer, George E. Chamberlin, St. Louis, and sergeant-at-arms, J. E. Johnson, Miami.

The board of directors were John W. Neff, of Chicago, chairman, Martin Vander Veer, New Haven, and George G. Wall, Omaha. With the retiring president, F. B. Fulmer, Oakland, Calif., named chairman of the advisory board, committee chairman are: Educational and examining board, Edwin S. Libby, Chicago; committee on exhibits, A. P. Dougherty, Niles, O.; committee on standard, W. J. Lewis, Rochester, N. Y., and committee on engine room records, Emerson A. Brandt, Chicago.

RAIDERS SEIZE STILL IN MOON TWP. BARN

Moonshine, Mash Taken on Vacant Farm; Six Raids Made Through North Side

In 12 raids, six of them in the North Side, prohibition agents yesterday made 13 arrests, seized two large stills and quantities of moonshine.

Raiding a barn on a farm in Moon Township, the agents found a 350-gallon still, as many gallons of moonshine and 25 barrels of mash. No one was found in the place.

An alcohol still of 150 gallons capacity was confiscated in a raid on a dwelling at 5912 Center avenue, along with 100 gallons of alcohol and other paraphernalia, according to the agents. No arrests were made.

CLUB RAIDED

A large supply of moonshine and home brew was reported found in a raid on a second floor club at 1901 Beaver avenue. The owner of the club was being sought.

The same squad of agents raided saloons at 1621 Beaver avenue and at 1817 Beaver avenue and seized moonshine, they declared. James O'Neil was arrested in the former and Leonard M. Jones, H. A. Jones and Martin Jones apprehended in the latter place, according to the raiders.

WOMAN HELD

Other North Side raids reported were on a saloon at 1322 East street, where Mrs. Louise Christner was arrested; the store of Charles Scarmacca, in East General Robinson street, and a dwelling a short distance from the store.

Raids on four homes in Lawrenceville netted the dry officers moonshine and six prisoners, they asserted.

TRAFFIC TIEUP ALIBI FAILS TO SATISFY COUNCILMEN

CLARK REPORT CRITICIZED AS VAGUE

Malone Sarcastic, While Herron Demands to Know If Police Interfered

Council has renewed a request to Safety Director James M. Clark for a report on the traffic tieup last Saturday when signal lights and traffic policemen alternately were used in a futile attempt to keep vehicles moving.

It first asked for a report last Monday when attention was called to W. Y. English's complaint Saturday that he consumed 30 minutes getting from Union Station to City Hall.

EVASION CHARGED

Clark responded yesterday, but his explanation caused comment from councilmen that indicated they believed he had evaded the issue.

President James F. Malone said: "That last paragraph in Clark's letter should be framed and hung somewhere."

The paragraph stated: "Whether such tieups are to be expected in the future is something on which a definite opinion would be largely speculative as no one knows what the future holds in store and this applies to traffic as well as to everything else."

Malone inquired: "Where are the reports, requested in the resolution, from every individual concerned in turning the lights off and on?"

POLICE INVOLVED

On motion of John S. Herron, the safety director was asked to advise Council whether there was any interference by police officers with the orders issued by Burton W. Marsh, engineer of the City Traffic Planning Bureau, for regulating the use of the signal lights. Also, whether there is any division of authority in the handling of the lights.

In addition to the paragraph criticized by Malone, the Director's explanation of the traffic tieup was:

CLARK'S EXPLANATION

"The usual heavy Saturday traffic in the downtown section.

"The unusual crowd brought into the downtown section to attend the football game between Pitt and Ohio State University at Pitt Stadium. This traffic entered the city on the western side and was thereby compelled to cross the downtown section in order to get to the hotels and to the stadium.

"The situation was aggravated to a very large extent by the steady downpour of rain, which, under usual conditions, slows down traffic from 25 to 40 per cent."

CHIEFS IN VOTE PLOT SOUGHT

County detectives today are searching for alleged higher-ups in the Homestead political fight, who are alleged to have imported repeaters and paid them money to vote illegally at the September primaries. Two alleged vote repeaters are in the county jail while the search is being made. The men have been in jail since Tuesday, when, according to District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, they confessed to violations of the election laws.

The men are held on district attorney's detainers while the investigation is made by the county sleuths.

Detectives say the men will be able to identify the politicians who paid them and who gave them names under which to cast ballots. According to Gardner, informations charging bribery, conspiracy and violations of the election laws will be preferred against the politicians.

U. S. EMPLOYES URGE LIBERAL PENSION LAW

Postal Workers Petition Support in Congress for 30-Year Retirement Bill

The educational campaign for a liberalized retirement law for civil service employes was opened last night under the auspices of the Joint Association of Postal Employes of Western Pennsylvania. At a meeting of the Pittsburgh Central Labor Union, held in Carpenters' Hall, Fourth avenue, a resolution favoring the law was adopted, as follows:

"Be It Resolved, That we earnestly recommend the passage of legislation that will permit optional retirement after 30 years' service, with annuities increased to $1,200 per year, an amount barely sufficient for maintenance without actual want. As a step in this direction we favor the enactment, in the seventy-first Congress, of S. 15 and H. R. 1815 (the bills are identical), which provides for optional retirement after 30 years' service when the age 62 years is attained, with annuities increased to $1,200 per year, and salary deductions of 3½ per cent of the pay roll."

SABRES SLATE REUNION FOR THURSDAY

Organization Once Prominent In District Events to Meet Again at Banquet

Foibles and fancies of yesteryear will be reborn next Thursday night at the reunion of the Sheridan Sabres, an organization composed of prominent Pittsburgh district men, to be held in the Penn Lincoln Hotel, Wilkinsburg. Harry W. McIntosh is chairman of the program committee.

The Sabres have not met formally for several years. Beginning as a social and military organization in the early '90s, the group took part in a number of events of district and national importance. Its former members now include men prominent in Pittsburgh's civic, commercial and professional life.

When President Benjamin Harrison visited Pittsburgh the Sheridan Sabres' members acted with the Washington Infantry as the executive's personal escort. Later they marched in Washington when President William McKinley was inaugurated. Wilkinsburg's first hippodrome and Wild West show was produced by the organization in 1895 and 1896.

Winter Coming

Read how 950,000 motorists made their cars permanently freeze-proof last year

Let G. P. A. Radiator Glycerine give you the same all-winter protection it gave 950,000 users last year. Start the season right. Now is the time to use it.

One filling lasts from October to May

G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine was used by 950,000 motorists last year.

Instead of putting in an old-fashioned anti-freeze that would evaporate and require constant worry over replacement, they put in one filling of G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine and went through the whole winter with it.

One filling of G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine protects your car against freezing for the entire winter. No replacements—because glycerine won't evaporate. No uncertainty. Park your car anywhere in any weather with perfect safety. You're sure of your protection. G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine is a standard product vouched for by the Glycerine Producers' Association of America. Safe for the car and harmless to the car finish. No odor. Just follow the instructions on the can and get the same satisfaction 950,000 motorists got last year.

It lasts all winter. Put it in your car NOW!

The cold snaps are coming. The sooner you put G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine in your car, the sooner you're protected. It lasts all winter — so why not get the benefit of its protection at once. Your garage should have it.

Don't get caught!

Use an anti-freeze that won't evaporate

In most cases where cars are frozen their owners thought they were protected. It's so easy to be fooled by an anti-freeze that evaporates. Glycerine won't evaporate. Hence one filling of G.P.A. Radiator Glycerine lasts all winter. You're always sure of its protection.

'SETH PARKER' BUSY GREETING RADIO FRIENDS HERE

'Singing School' Feature Makes Debut Here

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

THE spirit of Jonesport, Me., pervaded downtown Pittsburgh yesterday as Phillips H. Lord, creator of "Seth Parker," moved from place to place under the escort of WCAE officials to meet folks who had written him an appreciation of his network programs every Sunday night.

Of course Mr. Lord didn't have time to meet all his friends—even downtown—for his Pittsburgh mail has averaged nearly 1,000 pieces a month. He did meet the Sponsor of Sacred Songs, bank presidents, department store executives, a drug store clerk who writes better than he concocts milk shakes, and housewives who came from miles around to shake hands with the radio character who has brought infinite sunshine into millions of homes with his philosophical, semi-religious "githerings" over the radio.

QUICK CHANGE ARTIST

To start with, Mr. Lord is not as old as his hesitant voice on the air would indicate. Only 27, handsome, blue eyed, married, the physique of an all-America fullback and the gait of a West Point cadet, Mr. Lord is an exceptionally well educated young man who speaks openly and plainly, thinks fast, has a ready wit, engenders noble ideals and is ever effervescent with ideas.

It is remarkable how quickly Mr. Lord can change from his natural self to the character of "Seth Parker." Not only is there a difference in the tone of his voice but a complete new arena of expression.

In this respect Mr. Lord is the most versatile radio actor we have met. He not only writes the continuity for Seth Parker but is able to portray with realism every character in his little playlet, as well as play and sing.

Rehearsing for the initial production of "Seth Parker's Singing School" in the WCAE studio last night, Mr. Lord doffed his coat, then his vest, later rolled his sleeves, loosened his collar—and was beaded with sweat as he showed the Pittsburgh cast how they would do it in New York. He was gratified with the acting of the local cast and paid particularly high compliment to David Olsen, of Knoxville, who has been delegated the difficult role of "Seth."

PORTRAYS REAL PEOPLE

Rather stunned to find Mr. Lord such a young man, we remarked that he certainly was clever in creating the illusion of a gentleman supposedly 50 years older.

To this Mr. Lord replied:

"It takes the spirit of youth to put across the thoughts and ideals which we know certainly must dwell in the mind of the older folk. We haven't an old person in the cast. Even Sephus, who plays the part of an old grouch, is a young baritone. The captain isn't so old either."

Seth Parker's sincerity has worked magic. His "Sunday at Seth Parker's" is a real event in the lives of many listeners and not just another program.

Mr. Lord has drawn the characters from real life. Some are childhood impressions, others are more recent. He insists the people are real people and his own philosophy is embodied in the remarks and preachments of Seth.

The plot of "Sunday at Seth Parker's" is not involved. Seth Parker is a resident of Jonesport, Me. Each Sunday night his neighbors gather in his front parlor and hold an old New England hymn sing. There's a little non-theological sermon by Seth, a prayer or so and the sweet peaceful melodies of the old hymns. Seth's wife, Marthy, has an important part in the program and other quaint residents of Jonesport are introduced from time to time. An old fashioned melodeon furnishes music for the hymns.

When Lord appeared before the NBC Planning Board to "sell" his program idea, he slipped quietly and without preliminary announcement into the character of Seth Parker. Though a young man, he made the hard-boiled radio executives see his creation as he saw him—and, setting a real record, he held the interest and attention of the board for more than 40 minutes.

GOLDEN RULE CREED

Lord has been careful in his scripts to avoid anything that might be regarded as controversial. The creed of Seth Parker is that of the Golden Rule—do unto others as you would be done by. The result is that the program enjoys the unusual distinction of never having been unfavorably criticized.

Lord has had tremendous success with his radio creation. From "Sunday Night at Seth Parker's" has developed "Seth Parker's Singing School" and other continuities which will be heard on the air in due time. One of these is a country dialogue sketch that has met with great applause at WTIC.

Phonograph companies and the "talkie" have come to Mr. Lord to carry his Jonesport, Me., into the remote parts of the earth. Jonesport, of less than 100 inhabitants, and a small fishing town along the northeastern coast, will eventually become world wide in fame, it is predicted by radio executives who recognize in "Seth Parker" a unique, heart-throbbing feature of great human account.

Mr. Lord returned to New York last night.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Orders from Washington!"

The thrilling story of L. F. Butler, staff wireless operator for Admiral Sims in London during the World War!

"During the War, I was stationed in London, maintaining direct communication between Admiral Sims, in charge of the U. S. Fleet, and the government here in Washington! ... Those were critical times! We had to be in touch with the Navy Department twenty-four hours a day. And the job of maintaining that contact fell to Brandes headphones. Why, we wouldn't trust any other make. It was too important. Today, I feel the same way about the new Brandes radio. I can depend on it, every time, to get me all the pleasure that's on the air!"

L. F. Butler

Ninon the Heartbreaker.

Colorful incidents in the life of Ninon de l'Enclos, whose bewitching charms ensnared three generations of the Sevigne family.

At the age of 14 Ninon eloped with a prince and thereafter, until she was 90, men fought duels to win her favor. When she was nearly 90, the grandson of one of her former lovers of the House of Sevigne killed himself because she rejected him. Among her lovers were Cardinal Richelieu, the Duke of St. Evremond, the Prince de Conde and Voltaire. This beautiful French girl, whose charms increased with each succeeding lover, became so famous that no young man could make his way in French society without being formally presented to her.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Pittsburgher To Wed in Maryland

ALL week the music of the social spheres has conserned the debutante, and now with the week-end just about here, there's a change. A decidedly bridal lilt is heard.

And one of the most important weddings of the week-end will be that of tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, of Cumberland, when Eloise Lowndes Roman, daughter of Captain and Mrs. J. Philip Roman, of Cumberland, becomes the bride of Hilary Keneim Binns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mussey Binns, of Woodland road.

The church will be decorated with palms, cibotium ferns, and white chrysanthemums.

The bride, a grandniece of the late Governor Lloyd Lowndes, will be given in marriage by her father, and the ceremony will be solemnized by the Rev. Patrick J. Bradley, pastor of St. Mary's Church, of Loneconing, Md.

Her mother's wedding gown of ivory satin and a veil and cap of rose point lace, an heirloom in the family, will be worn by the bride. And her only jewels will be a pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom, and her flowers will be orchids, gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Guy Cosway, of Baltimore, Md., who'll be her sister's matron of honor, will wear autumn brown chiffon with a hat to match, and will carry bronze chrysanthemums. And the gowns of the bridesmaids will also reflect the colors of autumn. Mrs. T. Hilary Cornell, of Haverford, sister of the bridegroom, will wear golden chiffon, and Margaret Gibson Brown, of Dubuque, Ia., cousin of the bride, apricot chiffon, and both will carry fall flowers.

Helen Clark Casey, daughter of the Joseph C. Caseys, of Scranton, who'll be flower girl, will appear in a frock of eggshell chiffon, and carry flowers in pastel shades.

Winfield H. Binns will be his brother's best man, and Sidney W. Binns, another brother; Guy Cosway, of Baltimore; T. H. Cornell, of Haverford; William R. Wister, of Bryn Mawr; Maurice A. Solembier, of Manhassett, L. I., and Gilbert M. Heyl, of Pittsburgh, will be ushers.

There'll be a wedding breakfast in the Roman home for the two families and out-of-town guests. And then the bride and bridegroom will leave for an extended wedding tour of England and the continent.

Of course there've been many entertainments for the bride. On Monday night over 200 guests attended a reception her father and mother gave in their home, "Hill Crest."

And last evening the best man, Winfield H. Binns, brother of the bridegroom, as I've said before, gave a dinner in the Fort Cumberland Hotel for the bridal party.

On their return from abroad, Mr. Binns and his bride will live in Pittsburgh.

NOW that folks are back in town once more, they're holding teas to meet all their friends again. This afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock Mrs. John L. Porter, of Morewood avenue, is at home to her friends. Assisting her in receiving her guests is Mrs. William Lawton Mitchell.

The hostess is wearing a tea gown of gold and green georgette and Mrs. Mitchell black velvet.

Serving as aids are Mrs. George Pearson, Mrs. Edward H. Brainard, Mrs. Samuel Harden Church, Miss Georgia Pearson, Miss Grace R. Kelly, Mrs. E. V. Babcock, Mrs. Thomas R. Hartley, Mrs. George L. Claypool, Mrs. George P. Rhodes, Mrs. Stephen Stone and Mrs. John D. Singley.

THERE is a lot of visiting around being done this month, have you noticed? Just now Louise Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oliver Evans, has as her house guest Louise Burke, daughter of the Russell Burkes, of Park avenue, New York, and Rumson, N. J.

And while I'm talking about the younger set, I might mention that Virginia Frew Wright, debutante daughter of the Thruston Wrights, of Shady avenue, will be back home the latter part of the week from New York.

AND still another bud, two in fact, will be entertained this week. Mrs. Lawrence E. Wilson, of New York, the former Miss Dorothy Marshall, and her mother, Mrs. Charles D. Marshall, will give a buffet supper on Sunday evening in the Marshall home in Fifth avenue in honor of Harriet Fickes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Stanton Fickes, of Woodland road, and Nancy Allderdice, daughter of the Taylor Allderdices, of Wilkins avenue. Members of the younger set and other debs will be there.

Mary Blair Holmes, debutante niece of the junior Harmar D. Dennys, of Ellsworth avenue, will be entertained with a dinner dance this evening in the Pittsburgh Golf Club. Mary is the daughter of the Joseph Horne Holmses, of Devonshire street.

MR. AND MRS. J. HARVEY SNYDER, of Bellevue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Grace M. Snyder, to William M. Foster, son of Mrs. Sarah A. Foster, of Wilkinsburg. No date has been named for the wedding.

MISS MARIAN ELIZABETH CREELMAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Creelman, of Swissvale, and Dr. Lester Thompson Kern, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilkens Kern, of Squirrel Hill, were married on Wednesday evening in the home of the bride. The ceremony, taking place at 7:30, was performed by the Rev. T. D. Imbrie, of the First Presbyterian Church, of Braddock, before an embankment of cibotium ferns and flowers in autumn shades, which also were used elsewhere in the house.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory crepe featuring the uneven hemline, and a veil of ivory tulle in cape effect, caught with orange blossoms. She carried Johanna Hill roses. Miss Helen Creelman, her sister's only attendant, wore a frock of burnt orange chiffon, and carried chrysanthemums in autumn shades. Wallace Ferris, of Squirrel Hill, served as best man. Miss Mildred Creelman, another sister of the bride, played the wedding march. William H. Brown, Jr., was the usher.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony, and then Mr. and Mrs. Kern left for a southern wedding trip. After December 1 they will live in West Park.

Several friends entertained for Miss Creelman recently, among whom were Mrs. W. H. Brown, an aunt of the bride; Miss Mildred and Miss Helen Creelman, Mrs. L. G. Sells, of Swissvale, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Creelman, of Edgewood.

THIS evening a Salmagundi party will be held in the church parlor of the Second United Presbyterian Church, Stanton and Negley avenues, for the congregation to promote good fellowship. The Young Women's Missionary Society members will be hostesses. The Rev. W. H. McGarry is the pastor of the church.

THE Dames of Malta, Liberty Sisterhood, will hold a dinner on Tuesday in Tomat Hall, Collins avenue.

* * *

N. LUELLA JACKSON CHAPTER No. 416, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a card party in Oppenheim-Collins auditorium on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Bridge, "500" and euchre will be played.

* * *

MRS. BERT TRAUB, Jackson street, and Mrs. Edythe Calder-Mansmann, Squirrel Hill, will spend a few days in the McAlpin Hotel, New York, before going to Atlantic City.

BROOKLINE CHAPTER, No. 117, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a supper and bazar on Thursday in the Masonic Hall, Dormont. Supper will be served from 5 to 8, with cards both afternoon and evening.

* * *

MRS. SARAH BROWN, of Rosslyn street, Swissvale, announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Bertha B. Brown, to Charles W. Woodward, of Springfield, Ill., son of Mrs. Annie Woodward, at a luncheon in McCreery's on Saturday.

MISS VANDA KERST, Miss Margaret A. Stuart and Miss Mary I. Shamberger were hostesses for the Pennsylvania College for Women faculty, yesterday in Stoney Corners, one of the Murrayhill place dormitories.

Tonight the juniors and seniors of the college will be guests at a dance in the assembly hall. Miss Dorothy Collins is chairman.

A CARD party is to be held this evening in the Borough Hall, School street and California avenue, for the benefit of the Suburban Hospital and Relief Club, of Avalon.

VICTORY CHAPTER, No. 257, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a supper, card party and bazar on Thursday evening in the East End O. E. S. Temple.

Epoch Club Relives 'Gay Nineties'

EPOCH CLUB members relived their years in the 80's and 90's yesterday, even wearing to the home of their hostess, Mrs Henry D. James, in Locust street, Edgewood, some of the apparel which had been theirs in the earlier days. Mrs. Albert Vencil, the president, came in on the arm of Mrs. Jens G. L. Schreuder, wearing Mrs. Schreuder's lovely wedding gown of white satin and veil. Mrs. Harry Letsche's costume was another especially interesting one, the hat, lace shawl with parasol to match, and mitts and handbag being more than 100 years old.

There was a program of music and "recitations" (as they were called 30 and 40 years ago) in keeping with the theme of yesteryear. Mrs. F. F. Rohrer and Mrs. F. E. Baker burlesqued "Whispering Hope"; some of the sweeter old songs were sung in unison; Mrs. Lamont H. Button gave "Invitation to the Dance" as a piano solo; Mrs. James and Mrs. Edwin J. Stockslager each gave an old fashioned poem and Mrs. E. J. Searles read verses from an autograph album of her father's. If anything else were needed to complete the unusual entertainment, it was the room designated as "the chamber of horrors" in which were displayed photographs of the members in their teens and some pieces of clothing, relics of the days gone by.

The program committee members were hostesses for the luncheon which followed and the table, too, partook of the general yesteryear idea, for both china and silver belonged to a period long past.

Kissproof

Do your lips whisper "I am young—I am young"—or do their sagging corners, their faded Cupid's bow proclaim that youth has fled? Your lips need only be as old as you wish them to be. Cosmetize eternal youth into your lips with Kissproof lipstick, into your cheeks with Kissproof rouge. One application of either lasts all day; both are waterproof. At all toilet counters.

SEQUINS SEEKING PLACE IN FASHION'S SPOTLIGHT

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—The sequins is the sequel to the glittering story of this season's modes for evening display. Many there are who have conjectured as to the return of the beaded evening frock. A few of those glittery creations have been seen, but the response seems to be most marked to dresses that intrigue by the magnificence of the fabric and the originality of detail. Velvets, lames, chiffon lame have all played their part in making the new clothes appealing to their discreet lavishness, but now the irredescent dress is going to make a bid for patronage. One of the most popular women, here, an American, married to a Frenchman, and famous for her style sense, has been seen in a gown almost entirely composed of irredescent paillettes in deep blue with godets of tulle breaking the shiny surface of the skirt. As yet there has not been a marked duplication of this type of dress, but we have seen many dresses with discreet touches of bright sequins.

WE have had sketched for you, one of Worth's new creations expressing the sequin influence, in an artistic way. It is an evening dress of white tulle with appliques of sequins marking the many ruffles of which it is composed. The shirred flounces which form the skirt are deeper in back, the lowest one actually touching the floor. The bodice is snug fitting with a square decolletage in front and "V" shaped at the back. With the frock is worn a white moire coat lined with black velvet. The shoulder is decorated with a large flower merging the two fabrics, and a huge bow which may be worn as a scarf about the throat.

WE have sent you as well, a sketch of a lovely afternoon frock from the important house of Redfern. It is of dahlia crepe georgette with a yoke of matching lace. The frock is formed of piecings joined together by fagotting, an always welcome touch, while overlapping uneven edged godets compose the skirt. The lace yoke sports a jabot knotted in front. This is an extremely well liked model.

New Lines—Colors—Styles in

Bon Gre Footwear

$10

Don't think the low sweeping lines of new Bon Gre shoes were merely accidental—they were, with the new silhouette, what one calls "achieved!"

And how successfully have they been executed—how well they emulate the verve and line of the new dresses! In color, too, they have been very carefully planned—to be suitable with one costume or many.

Leading Styles For Fall Are Shown

The styles shown are typically fashionable ones—the tailored or formal oxford, the regent opera and the one-strap. The materials used are suedes, kids or reptile combinations—adapted to fall weather.

The trimmings show an original treatment—silk finish on kid, reptile on suede or kid on suede.

Each model sketched left is $10.00.

Neckwear

$1.00 to $2.50

Since London Trades inaugurated the pique pull-through bow collar with matching cuffs, similar sets that give the "lingerie" touch have been repeatedly in demand—so popular, in fact, that they have even been suggested for the new net dinner dresses.

Linen, too, is becoming a classic material for "lingerie" trimming.

Both these materials may be had in collar and cuff sets of white and ecru, or white edged in color. The necks are V and round. The necks are marked by tiny bows, tabs or fancy edges.

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

Grapefruit.
Porterhouse Steak.
Spanish Rice.
Buttered Artichokes.
Lettuce and Tomato Salad.
Whipped Cream. Coffee Cake.
Coffee.

INSTEAD of mashed potatoes for dinner this Sunday, let's have Spanish rice. I'll provide the recipe. Here it is:

One cup rice, 4 tablespoons fat, 3 onions, chopped; 2 cups strained tomato or 3 ripe tomatoes, 2 cloves of garlic, 1 red or green pepper chopped, or 1 can pimento or 1 teaspoon paprika, and 2 teaspoons salt.

WASH rice thoroughly, place in a frying pan with bacon or poultry fat, add onion and the garlic, finely minced. Let fry 10 minutes, add rest of the ingredients and 1 cup water, cook slowly about 1 hour and as the water evaporates add more to keep it from burning until rice is tender.

Whipped cream cake is a very simple, inexpensive form of charlotte russe. Use 1 pint cream, ¼ cup powdered sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract and sliced sponge cake.

HAVE the ingredients cold and whip them to a stiff froth, then top the slices of sponge cake with the whipped cream to which a bit of cocoa may be added, if you like, and serve. Of course, a candied cherry will add a color and flavor.

Oh, yes, I almost forgot about the artichokes. Just boil them in the usual way and serve them hot with a butter sauce made with 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley and the juice of 1 lemon. Melt the butter and add the parsley and then the lemon, and serve hot.

SANDWICHES were never so popular! There are dainty sandwiches and elaborate sandwiches; simple ones and substantial ones. There is no culinary law to govern their dimensions; they may rise as high as your hopes or be reduced to a mere wisp of a filling between two slivers of bread.

At the risk of incurring the high displeasure of the Anti-Onionists, I want to give you a recipe for a Liver-Onion Sandwich.

Since liver has risen both in price and in popular esteem, there is no

Mineral Substances Are Necessary for Our Diet

Potash, nitrogen and phosphoric acid, pass from soil into vegetable and thus into the human system supplying necessary elements.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
Former Health Commissioner of New York City,
U. S. Senator From New York.

DURING the course of years, the chemist has been responsible for an infinite number of remarkable discoveries. By his patient research he has found many of the secrets of Nature. All such work is interesting, of course, but it is more than that—the conclusions of the chemist applied in proper fashion have done much to prolong life. Take, for example, the problems of the farmer. How to make farming more profitable is the endeavor of many groups. You may not read the accounts but frequently the papers print articles about the newer knowledge and its relation to agriculture.

For instance, I have before me the daily paper issued by one of the great trans-Atlantic steamship companies. Here is an article on "The Importance of Potash Salts." It recites the part played in plant development by the three chief plant foods—nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. Unless these are found in the soil plants cannot grow.

CHEMICALS NECESSARY

But I would not have you believe the importance of these chemicals is confined to the vegetable world. As a matter of fact, human beings could not live without them. Our interest in providing the farmer with an abundance of these agents is that ultimately, through vegetable or animal food, they will be transferred to our bodies.

We could not get along without the carbohydrates. The starches and sugars that reach us from the vegetable world would not be formed unless potash were added to the soil from which they spring.

In these articles, I am all the time telling you to include green things in your diet. Why do I do that? There are a number of reasons, but what I have in mind today is the fact that potash is found in most plant foods, and foods containing it are good for you. Plant potash is always found in the parts of the plant which are exposed most to the direct rays of the sun. The coloring matter found in the green leaves is called chlorophyll. Potash is essential to its formation and it has an important part to play in the protection and development of the body.

BALENCES DIET

So you see, you and I, even if we live in the cities, far removed from the wide fields of the farms, are vitally interested in the potash supply of all the plants that supply us with food.

We need the spinach and lettuce, the cabbage and beans, the leafy plants and the green vegetables. We must have these foods to supply our bodies with potash and other mineral substances. We must have the carbohydrates the potash helps to make, and the alkaline salt keeps the blood from dangerous acidity.

You cannot hope to be normal in health unless you have a balanced diet. It is not balanced unless it contains the essential mineral substances.

reason why its boon companion, the onion, should not rise to the same elevation.

Liver is famous for its marvelous blood-toning qualities; and the onion ranks high in food value. Besides which, the combination makes an excellent sandwich!

PUT a quarter cup of pickles and a small onion through the food chopper; work a half cup of liverwurst into a paste, and add the pickles, the onion, a few drops of lemon juice and just enough mayonnaise to make the mixture of the spreading consistency. Spread thickly between slices of bread.

You'll have enough with this recipe to make 10 sandwiches, so judge accordingly.

Now we rise to the very heights of daintiness with this Stuffed Celery Sandwich recipe.

Stuff small crisp stalks of celery with a mixture of Roquefort cheese and a little sweet relish; spread. Season with paprika. Spread water-thin slices of crustless bread with creamed butter.

Beginning at one corner, roll the slice of bread tightly around two stalks of the stuffed celery. And then, to add the final touch of elegance, tie with colored baby ribbon to match the table decorations!

ARE you fond of anchovies? I think they make most delicious sandwiches. I blend anchovy paste with chopped stuffed olives.

Cavier, too, is a filling which puts the sandwich into the delicacy class.

POTATO ROLLS—Add ½ cup butter to ½ cup hot mashed potatoes. Dissolve 1 yeast cake in ½ cup lukewarm water in which potatoes were boiled. Add ½ cup sugar and 2 well-beaten eggs to the potato and yeast mixture and mix thoroughly. Add 3 cups flour sifted with ½ teaspoonful salt and knead until smooth and satiny. Let rise until light. Roll out, cut and shape as pocketbook rolls. Brush with melted butter before folding. Let rise again and bake in a moderate oven.

PRUNE TAPIOCA—Cook 3 tablespoons of tapioca, 2 cups of milk, ¼ cup of sugar and a pinch of salt for 15 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon of butter, stir well and remove from the fire. In a well buttered baking dish make a layer of ½ of the cooked tapioca, add a layer of cooked prunes (cut in small pieces, stones removed) then cover with the rest of the tapioca. Top with a thin layer of sifted bread crumbs and dot with bits of butter. Brown in a moderate oven. Serve with custard sauce.

* * *

BROWNIES—Cream 1-3 cup butter with 1-3 cup sifted powdered sugar. Add 1-3 cup molasses and 1 well beaten egg. Add ⅔ cup sifted flour and 1 cup chopped pecan meats. Turn into small brownie pans, put half of a pecan meat on each cake and bake in a moderate oven.

GINGER COOKIES—Mix ½ cup sugar with ½ cup molasses. Stir over the fire until sugar is dissolved. Add ½ cup butter and mix well. Cool. Mix and sift 3 cups sifted pastry flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon baking powder, ¾ teaspoon ginger, 1-3 teaspoon cloves and ¼ teaspoon cinnamon. Sift into the sugar and molasses mixture. Mix thoroughly and form into a roll. Chill in ice box. Cut in very thin slices. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 or 12 minutes.

BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE—Cook together the following ingredients: One and one-half cups of brown sugar, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, ⅛ teaspoon of salt, 2-3 cup corn syrup, ¾ cup of thin cream. Cook all the ingredients together to the very soft ball stage, which is 234 degrees F. Remove from the fire and chill. If too thick it may be diluted with milk. Store in a jar in your refrigerator to use as needed. If it becomes too stiff to pour, then stand it in hot water to make it pour easily.

* * *

MAPLE SAUCE—Boil 2 cups of maple syrup and ½ cup of cream together until at the very soft ball stage—234 degrees F. Remove from the fire and add 1-3 cup of chopped toasted almonds or walnuts. This combination improves by being allowed to stand for awhile until the nuts get thoroughly soaked with the sauce. It is best served warm.

SWEET POTATO WAFFLES—Have ready 2-3 cup strained cooked sweet potatoes. Mix and sift 1½ cups flour, 2-3 teaspoon nutmeg and 2 teaspoons baking powder. Add 2 egg yolks and 1 cup milk and beat until smooth. Add the sweet potato, ½ teaspoon vanilla and 2 tablespoons melted butter and beat until smooth. Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a hot greased waffle iron. Serve hot with broiled ham.

* * *

FINNAN HADDIE BALLS—Put 2 cups raw cubed potatoes and 1 cup finnan haddie in a kettle and cover with water. Boil until the potatoes are tender. Drain and shake over the fire to dry. Mash the fish and potatoes together and add ½ teaspoon pepper and 1 beaten egg. Cool and shape into cakes or balls. Fry in deep, hot fat until they are a golden brown. Drain on brown paper. Garnish with parsley and strips of crisp bacon.

* * *

BAKED SQUASH IN THE SHELL—Cut the top from a small Hubbard squash, and remove the seeds and stringy portion. Place in a pan and bake for 2 hours, until tender. Remove the pulp from the shell, keeping the large shell intact. Mash the pulp and season with salt, pepper and 3 tablespoons butter. Return the mixture to the shell, smoothing and rounding the top. Score with a knife. Brush over the top with milk and beaten egg. Dot with bits of butter, and place in the oven for a few minutes to brown.

GREEN PEPPERS STUFFED WITH CAULIFLOWER—Select 6 green peppers, cut a thin slice from the stem end of each and remove the seeds. Parboil 10 minutes and fill with a mixture made with 1 cup creamed cauliflower, 2 tablespoons bread crumbs and 1 teaspoon melted butter.

Mix thoroughly, and if it lacks moisture, add a little vegetable stock to make it the right consistency. Bake until the skins of the peppers are tender, basting occasionally with butter and water.

ORANGE CHARLOTTE—Soak 2 tablespoons granulated gelatin in ½ cup cold water, then dissolve it in ½ cup boiling water. Add 1 cup sugar. When the mixture is cool, add 1 cup orange juice and pulp and 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Whisk until it is frothy, then add the whites of 3 eggs, beaten stiff. Lastly, fold in half a cup whipped cream. Line a mold with sections of orange, turn in the mixture and chill.

FRIED GREEN PEPPERS—Cut the stems off the peppers, then slice them across in rings. Soak the pepper rings in cold water for about an hour. Place in a clean cloth and shake well to remove all the moisture. Then put them in another dry cloth and sprinkle with flour and salt. Shake them well so that they will be evenly covered with the flour. Put in a frying-basket and fry in deep fat, shaking the basket a little while frying. Drain on waxed paper.

* * *

FIG PIE—Drain and chop 1 cup of figs, and add 2 cups hot milk. Beat 2 eggs slightly and add 1 tablespoon sugar, sweetening to taste; 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and a pinch of salt. Gradually pour the milk and figs over the second mixture, then pour all into a pastry lined pie pan. Place in a hot oven, reducing the heat after the first 10 minutes of baking. Continue baking for 30 minutes longer, until the fig custard is firm. When cold, top with meringue and return to the oven to brown, or serve with whipped cream.

MACARONI LOAF—Cook ½ cup macaroni, broken in small pieces in boiling salted water until tender. Rinse in cold water. Cook 1 teaspoon each of parsley and chopped onion, together with 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper and 1 tablespoon butter, in a little water. Pour off whatever water has not boiled away. Mix all these ingredients together with 1 cup milk, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt and 3 beaten egg yokes. Lastly, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of 3 eggs. Line a quart baking dish with buttered paper and turn the mixture into it. Set the baking dish in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven from 30 to 45 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce.

BREAD AND BUTTER PUDDING—Remove the crust from 1 small stale loaf of bread and cut it into ½-inch slices. Spread each slice generously with butter and arrange in a buttered pudding dish, buttered side down, with a few raisins between each slice if desired. Beat 3 eggs slightly. Add ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 quart milk. Strain and pour over the bread. Let stand for 30 minutes, then bake in a slow oven for 1 hour until the top of the pudding is well browned. Serve with cream or hard sauce.

CHEESE BARS—Eighteen bars of white bread, 2-3 by 3 inches; 4 tablespoons soft butter, ½ cup yellow cream cheese, 1 teaspoon chopped onion, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Place the bread on baking sheets and spread with the rest of the ingredients, which have been mixed. Bake in a moderate oven until brown. Serve at once.

PRUNE SOUFFLE—One-half cup chopped nuts; ½ cup grated bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ cup prune juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup prune pulp, 2 eggs, grated rind of 1 lemon. Mix the first 6 ingredients and remove stones from the cooked prunes and force the pulp through a sieve. Add lemon and prune pulp. Stir in dry ingredients, add yolks of eggs beaten light and lemon colored. Fold in whites beaten stiff. Turn in greased baking dish and bake in slow oven.

TUNA FISH A LA KING—Make a cream sauce of 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour and 1½ cups milk. Season with salt and pepper. To this cream sauce, add ¾ to 1 pound shredded tuna fish, 3 tablespoon each of chopped ripe and stuffed olives, ½ cup green peas, 1½ teaspoons chopped green pepper and ½ teaspoon paprika. Heat well, stirring constantly to prevent burning. Serve on buttered toast.

COCOANUT PUDDING—Mix 1-3 cup cornstarch, 1-3 cup sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt with enough milk to make a smooth paste. Scald 3 cups milk in a double boiler and when it is hot stir in the cornstarch mixture. Keep stirring until smooth and thick. Add 1 cup shredded cocoanut; cover and cook 30 minutes in the double boiler. Remove from the fire, add the stiffly beaten whites of 3 eggs and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into a mold and chill. Serve with whipped cream garnished with Maraschino cherries.

LEMON SAUCE—One tablespoon cornstarch, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons butter, sprinkling nutmeg and sprinkling salt.

Mix cornstarch, sugar and grated lemon rind; add water gradually, stirring constantly. Boil 5 minutes. Remove from fire; add lemon juice, butter, nutmeg and salt. Serve hot.

To Prevent Delicate Colors From Fading in Washing Machine

Simple Way to Stop Fade and "Soap Eat" Even When Ordinary Laundry Soap Is Used

Soap eat of fragile things and fading of delicate colors in either washing machine or tub can easily be corrected now, even when ordinary laundry soaps or powders are used.

Under the new method described here, even faintest pastel colors in fine lingerie or delicately tinted hosiery hold fast, according to recent tests, for as many as 50 washings, without noticeable fade or wear.

The method is very simple: To each tubful of water (or washer filled to the water line) you merely add 2 tablespoons of a preparation called CLIMALENE and use just ONE-FOURTH the quantity of soap you ordinarily use. Then proceed with washing as usual. (For light washing in small wash basins, a teaspoonful of CLIMALENE is enough.)

This preparation is used by experts to stop fade and soap eat. It acts by converting hard, or semi-hard water to rain water softness and to dissolve grease and dirt. White clothes, washed this way, never grow yellow—but wash pure white. Delicate colors hold fast. You can easily get it at any grocery store. Two sizes, 10c and 25c. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

Of all the thousands of coffee blends only one has this famous Flavor

When even the North began sending to Nashville for the treasured coffee of the old Maxwell House, coffee merchants quickly took notice, and soon many rival blends appeared, each claiming to be "just as good." Of such, today, there are thousands.

But the inimitable flavor of Maxwell House has always triumphed, and today this Southern-pedigreed blend is the largest selling packaged coffee in the world. If you have not yet discovered why—try the delectable contents of the blue tin that stands waiting for you on your grocer's counter.

PITT MAY PLAY ON COAST

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Unlikely to Halt Pitt. Odds Against W. & J. Shifting Hockey Games. | Local Fans Slighted. Umpires Still at War. Rawlings Golf Champ.

PANTHERS APPEAR PROBABLE WINNERS

THE annual football battle between Pitt and Wash-Jeff, traditional rivals whose meetings since 1890 have often represented the high spot of the local season in the intensity of the attendant interest and excitement, will have much of its old color and thrill when it is put on at the Stadium tomorrow afternoon, but it is unlikely that the Presidents will be able to check the victorious rush that appears to be carrying the Panthers to the Eastern and perhaps the National championship.

Morry Rush

There is no doubt that the Red and Black has improved greatly this year, With such outstanding players as Jap Douds, Morry Rush and Stewart Wilson supported by a team strengthened in all departments, the Washingtonians have shown unmistakable signs of a come-back, particularly in holding Carnegie Tech to a scoreless tie. However, it would require considerably more than W. & J. has displayed to stop the mighty Panthers.

HARD fighting and a real football game are assured, as is always the case when a team with the spirit of Wash-Jeff is one of the principals, and there is no doubt that it will be a game worth watching. But Pitt looks to have an edge in power that it will not be possible for the Presidents to overcome, and the Sutherlands shape up as the probable winners by a comfortable margin.

The record of the yearly grapples between these old foemen shows the competition to have been close for the whole period. Pitt has won 14 games, W. & J. 13, and two have resulted in ties. Only in recent years, however, have the Panthers gained the upper hand. Of the first 15 contests, Wash-Jeff won no fewer than 11, but since 1915 the Panthers have won 10 games and tied two out of 14 played. The Presidents' last victory was registered in 1921. In the four games played since that season they have not scored. Pitt also being held pointless in 1926 and 1927. The Blue and Gold won easily last year, 25 to 0.

RECENTLY it was rumored that as a result of the delay in building the proposed Town Hall here, Benny Leonard planned to take the Pittsburgh National League hockey team to some other city after the 1929-30 season, which is to open at Duquesne Garden one week from tomorrow night.

Latest developments indicate that Leonard is not going to wait even that long before shifting at least part of the scheduled local ice activities to a different center.

Benny Leonard

ALREADY local fans have been deprived of two of the 22 home games to which they were entitled. It is announced that four National League games are to be played in the new Convention Hall rink at Atlantic City, and two of these are events that were booked to be played at Duquesne Garden — one with the Chicago Black Hawks, on January 25, and the other with Les Canadiens on March 1. It has been reported that the Pirate management also planned to transfer to the seashore the game scheduled for November 30 here with Boston, though the list of Atlantic City events announced officially yesterday appears to indicate that that idea has been abandoned.

WHETHER any additional games are to be taken away from the local rink remains to be seen, but evidently the rights of the fans here are not going to receive much consideration if a chance offers to pick up more gate money elsewhere. The transfer of the game with Les Canadiens means that Pittsburghers will be denied the privilege of seeing one of the best attractions of the season as the appearance of that colorful sextet has always been a high spot in the local schedule.

The promoters probably will contend that they are justified in shifting games by reason of the light attendance here last year, but at that it must be admitted that the patronage was just about all that was deserved in view of the wretched showing of the team.

POSSIBLY, the transfer of four league games to Atlantic City is a feeler to determine whether the ice sport can be conducted profitably there. If the pastime "goes over" successfully, the ocean resort may be the next home of the Pittsburgh team.

Dan Dougherty

Some Pittsburgh men are in Boston on a mysterious hockey mission, and it may have to do with a plan to buy the Boston club in the five-team minor circuit that includes also the Philadelphia Arrows, Springfield, Providence and New Haven, with a view to bringing it to this city when the local National League franchise is taken away.

FROM present indications the war between the rival organizations of baseball umpires in this district is going to continue indefinitely. Already it has been in progress for two years, and though there recently appeared what looked like a sign of peace it soon faded out and hostilities will be carried on. The warring bodies are the Pittsburgh Umpires' Association and the West Penn Umpires' Association. The first-named organization originally held the field alone and its membership embraced all of the leading arbiters who officiate at semi-pro games in this region. Two years ago, a number of the members withdrew and formed the new body, the West Penn Umpires' Association.

SINCE that time the two associations have operated as rivals. Recently it looked as if the hatchet were about to be buried, when the Pittsburgh Association requested that three members of the West Penn be appointed to meet its own committee of like number for a conference.

The meeting was held as scheduled, with Steve Cox, Jack Baird and Paddy Monahan representing the old organization, and Dan Brickley, Marty Burke and Homer Teamon representing the West Penn. Nothing came of it, however. The session is said to have been short, if not sweet.

THE West Penn men asked what the other had to offer or suggest after requesting the meeting. The P. U. A. representatives replied

FORMER PIRATE PITCHER 'OUT' $1,000

Carmen Hill, late of the Pirates, pitching staff, today lost approximately $1,000, the sum of the world series money voted him by the Pittsburgh players, who finished second in the National League competition.

Carmen Hill

Judge Landis, high commissioner of baseball, with a strict interpretation of a rule covering such cases, has just informed Hill and the Pittsburgh owners and players that Hill's share is disallowed. Carmen was sold to the St. Louis Cardinals in September and Landis quoted the law relative to players going from one club to another in the same league during the course of the playing season.

VOTED FULL SHARE

Hill's mates, in allotting their series money, decided that the spectacled twirler was entitled to a full share. Apparently the athletes were not acquainted with the legislation on the point when they made their decision.

When the Pittsburgh lists reached Landis, he was quick to note the irregularity and he enforced the rule to the letter.

In so doing, Landis boosted the shares of the other players on a proportionate basis. The Pirates, therefore, will each receive $1,035.59, instead of a sum just short of an even thousand.

Checks were received today by those in Pittsburgh sharing in the prize. Secretary Sam Watters, Trainer George Asten, Groundkeeper Jack Fogarty and Clubhouse Boy Caleb (Socko) McCarey each possess one of the cherished scraps of paper.

LANDIS CITES RULE

In enforcing the provisions of the baseball law, Landis cited Article 4 of the Major League rules, as follows:

"Sec. 16.—Neither of the contesting clubs shall give or pay a bonus or prize to any or all of its players before or after the completion of the series (world), and a player released by a club to another club in the same league shall not participate in the proceeds of such series as a present or reward from his former teammates, the releasing club or any of its officials."

Landis may or may not be aware of the fact that Hill was not asked to twirl against the Pittsburgh club after he had joined the Cardinals. Apparently it was the intention of the St. Louis management to keep him off the mound while the Pirates battled them.

Hill doubtless knew that he would be voted in on the Pirates' money; if he had gone to the mound against them under the conditions somebody might have thought it bad taste, at least.

Carmen, however, did his bit to put the Pirates in the runner-up position and his "break" is a bit tough. It is not known whether the Cards will vote him in on a share of their fourth-place money, but even if they do, he will be a big loser, anyhow.

Illinois Crippled For Army Battle

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 8.—(INS.)—A picture of Coach Bob Zuppke mourning in the midst of a band of Illini cripples.

That is the text of the report that went forth from the Illinois stronghold today to a squad of Army football players trekking westward for tomorrow's intersectional battle.

Illinois' veteran coach expressed his deepest sorrows over the way his squad has been battered and buckled about in its games thus far. The reason, he said, is that every team the Illini have run up against this season has been keyed up to receive his boys in a rousing manner.

Zuppke points mournfully to the fact that the Army last week had a comparatively easy game with South Dakota, while the Illini ran head on into a bruising defeat at Northwestern.

Godfrey-Byrne Go 'No Contest'

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—A scheduled 10-round bout between George Godfrey, Negro heavyweight from Leiperville, Pa., and Jim Byrne, of Boston, was stopped at the end of the seventh round here last night. Referee Johnny Brassill declared it no contest on the ground that Godfrey was not trying.

In the eight-round semi-final, George Carney, of Boston, won an unpopular decision from Pete Pacheco, who was announced as an Indian from Denver, Col.

Two Quints Added To County League

With the admittance of Elizabeth and Charleroi to the roster of the Allegheny County League, seven clubs now are enrolled for this year's race. Elizabeth will be represented by the Independents and Charleroi by the Lions. Washington may get the eighth berth.

The other five contenders are the Goldensons, Franchinas, Ackermans, Duquesne Lafayettes and Morrys.

The Mohawk Wins Liverpool Cup Race

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—The Mohawk, by Mohacz, from Athgarvan Lass, owned by Capt. J. Hutchinson, won the Liverpool Autumn Cup today.

W. Singer's Lucktor was second and J. Rosenthal's Dark Curl third. Thirteen ran.

The Mohawk won by three-quarters of a length, while the same distance was between second and third.

BUCCANEER OUTFIELD STRONG

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

While it would be quite simple for some bangup hitter and fielder to pick off a job in the Pirate infield, the pasture presents an altogether different picture. In the Waner boys and Comorosky, the Buccos have a trio that does things.

Perhaps some young man will rise to crash the outfield gates next summer, but don't give any odds on the proposition.

Paul Waner. Lloyd Waner.

everything required in a good outfield. These three ball hawks combine speed, punch and wondrous fly-chasing skill.

LLOYD IS MARVEL

Little Lloyd in center seems to be the prima donna of the trio. The wee marvel is second to none in the game as a centerfielder and his batting, baserunning and judgment speak for themselves.

Brother Paul is not as brilliant on defense and he is not as fast on the bases, but Paul, although he is supposed to have had a bad year, should be ranked as the possessor of the best punch.

Comorosky is not far behind Lloyd as a fielder and he showed in his first full season in the majors that he can hold up his end at the plate. Although he played in less than 130 games he drove in 100 runs and batted .324.

Brother Paul's "bad season" is something that should be investigated. P. Waner should feel terrible about batting .336, scoring 131 runs, making 15 homers, 15 triples and 43 doubles among his 200 hits for the

Rutgers Prexy Polishes 'Grid Win' Cane

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 8.—(INS.)—In 1926, President John M. Thomas, of Rutgers, promised the student body that not until Rutgers defeated Lafayette at football would he carry his favorite gold-headed cane.

Today President Thomas was having the cane polished, so confident is he that the Crimson-clad team will down Lafayette on Saturday.

DUKES REACH WASHINGTON

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—Elmer Layden and his undefeated Dukes steamed into the national capital at 7:45 o'clock this morning to take up quarters for their vital clash with the powerful Catholic University of America host at Brookland here tomorrow. The Bluffites went directly from the depot to the Arlington Hotel, where they will put up throughout their local stay. Following breakfast, they were booked for a sightseeing tour of the numerous points of interest hereabouts. Mount Vernon was one of the main stops, many of the gridders having expressed special desire to behold this greatest of American shrines.

At 12:45 the Pittsburghers were slated for an audience with President Hoover at the White House, Congressman Guy Campbell having arranged for Layden and his lads to meet the chief executive. Later in the afternoon the team was to repair to the Catholic U. stadium for a light practice and limbering-up session.

Graduate Manager John D. Hollahan is in charge of the Duquesne expedition, which includes 28 players and various student-managers and players. Bluff rooters have not yet begun to invade the city, but it is understood that many of them are on their way hither via the automobile route, while another throng will arrive tomorrow morning on the Red and Blue special train, which will leave Pittsburgh over the Baltimore and Ohio late tonight.

HANS FAVORITE OVER PROFIO TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

An old and a new sensation meet in the 10-round windup of the weekly boxing show at the Moose Temple tonight.

Dominick Profio is the ancient number. Less than a year ago, just out of the amateur ranks, he was a riot around here as a knockout sensation. Then he acquired the unfortunate habit of being knocked out himself. Tiger Joe Randall was his particular Nemesis. He stopped Dominick twice, and, unable to regain his winning stride, the latter decided to indulge in a layoff to recover his form. He has been on the shelf for a few months and makes his comeback try tonight.

The party of the second part is young Hans Roberts, nee Rieke, the former amateur welterweight champion of Germany, who competed as a simon-pure in his native land along with Max Schmeling, Franz Diener and Dr. Ludwig Haymann, and has flashed like a meteor across the local boxing sky since he made his bow some weeks ago in the same ring in which he battles Profio tonight. In his last local start, at the Moose Temple, two weeks ago, Roberts crossed up the wise ones by handing out a beating to Young Rudy, Profio's stablemate. As a result of his showing that night, he has been installed a favorite to win tonight's clash.

STRONG PRELIM CARD

Promoter Francis Flynn has arranged his best preliminary card of the season to date for tonight. In the semi-final, he has Carl Cavelli, of Canton, O., paired with Jackie Rodgers, local Negro bantamweight. Both hold one-round knockout victories over Dan Billick, of Duquesne. Cavelli having scored his at Motor Square Garden last Monday night. The second bout brings together Harry Spencer, of Washington, Pa., and Frank Monroe, of Fair Haven, middleweights, who fought a slashing draw in the same ring a month ago, and the opener will be between Johnny Brown, of Lawrenceville, and Jackie Griffiths, of the Hill.

Buck McTiernan is working harder for his bout with Farmer Joe Cooper, in the windup at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, than for any bout he has had in a long time. He has heard of the ruggedness of the famed agricul-

LOCALS LIKELY TO FACE BEARS NEW YEAR'S

By JESS CARVER.

Uncle Sam's mail service will bring to the University of Pittsburgh a gilt-edged invitation to send its crack football team out to the coast to participate in the annual Tournament of Roses game against the University of California in the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, New Year's Day.

Benny Lom.

The only stipulation will be that the Pitt team goes through the rest of its games without taking more than one sock on the whiskers. I have all this from an exceedingly authoritative source on the coast . . . said source informing me that the Rose Tournament committee has prepared the inside track for Dr. Sutherland and his Panthers.

W. Don Harrison, director of athletics at Mr. Bowman's institution, speaking unofficially at the time, inferred that the university would receive the bid with open arms and, provided the team continued to drive along at the rate it has been driving so far, send the boys out to those well-known sun-kissed slopes for another crack at one of those brawny western elevens.

Such a game, between the powerful Panthers and the apparently powerful Golden Bears, certainly would be a wow. Imagine Mr. Benny Lom playing hide-and-go-seek with the Pitt line, and Tom Parkinson and Toby Uansa taking pot shots at the Bears' defense.

TEAM KEYED UP

With another trip to the coast in sight, the second in three years, the Pitt athletes are going to be just that much more formidable in the three remaining games. Wash-Jeff will find a very ambitious crew on the reception committee here in The Stadium Saturday. The prospect of the Rose Bowl bid will hardly make the pathway for the Tartans next week any easier and it means just another long afternoon for Penn State on Thanksgiving.

Dr. Sutherland gave Pitt a pip of a workout yesterday, the varsity running through a long signal drill and the three fullbacks, Parkinson, Hood and Clark, coming in for special attention. Whitey Walinchus is in good shape again and will be ready to go if needed against Wash-Jeff. Josh Williams is skipping about like one of the colts on his Mars farm.

TARTANS DRILL

With nothing but 10 days of practice ahead of 'em before the Pitt game, Carnegie Tech's Skibo warriors resumed work yesterday.

HEFTY QUARTERBACK

JOHNNY BUTLER

One of the stars Pitt will have to check tomorrow in the game with Wash-Jeff will be Johnny Butler, the Prexys' 198-pound quarterback. Butler is a good line-plunger and fair passer and plays an important role in Wash-Jeff's interference. He is a sophomore.

HARPSTER SEES TROUBLE AHEAD FOR PICKERS

By Howard Harpster

All-America Quarterback at Carnegie Tech, 1928, now Coach of Undefeated Team at Shady Side Academy. (Written Exclusively for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.)

The present football season has brought forth many outstanding backfield men and it is going to be very interesting to note which of these stars will be classed as the country's best when the various critics get together their all-star teams at the close of the year.

For the halfback positions the judges must select from an array of stars which includes Uansa, Pitt; Booth, Yale; Cagle, Murrel, Army; Elder, Notre Dame, Welch, Purdue; Saunders, Southern California; Hewit, Columbia; Moffat, Stanford; Brazil, Detroit; Benny Lom, California, and many other equally brilliant runners. Al Marsters, of Dartmouth, would be a leading contender, but he is out for the season now because of injuries.

Howard Harpster

Among the outstanding fullbacks the list includes Savoldi, Notre Dame; Mullins, Notre Dame; Parkinson, Pittsburgh; Karcis, Carnegie Tech; Zunervich, Purdue; Pomeroy, Utah; Bausch, Kansas; Cawthon, Florida, and Wilson, Wash.-Jeff.

FRENCH BRILLIANT QUARTER

The position of quarterback is going to be closely contested by such prominent players as French, Penn State; Duffield, Southern California; Clarke, Colorado U.; Carideo, Notre Dame; Peters, Illinois, and Holman, Ohio State.

Yes, sir, it certainly appears as if it will be a tough job to select just four players from the list mentioned and stamp them as the game's best.

Cooper French, the Penn State quarterback, seems to be one of the smartest backs of the campaign. Last Saturday, Penn State was leading Syracuse, 6 to 2, with only a few minutes left to play. State had the ball on its own two-yard line and French went back to punt formation. The Syracuse players rushed in when the ball was snapped and for a moment it looked as if they would block the kick.

But French didn't even attempt to kick. Instead he held the ball and made an intentional safety against his team. That brought the score to 6 to 4, but it also gave French an opportunity to make a free kick from the 20-yard line. He kicked the ball far down the field and before Syracuse could threaten again the game was over.

It was a smart piece of work by the Penn State quarterback because the two points scored from the safety were meaningless, and had French attempted to kick from behind his goal there is a strong possibility that the kick would have been blocked and recovered by Syracuse for a touchdown, which would have given it an 8-to-6 victory.

PULLS GREAT PLAY

A week before the Syracuse game, French pulled a play which would have done credit to the immortal Frank Merriwell. State was playing Lafayette and was trailing, 3 to 0, with only a few seconds left to play. Why Lafayette should punt with a victory only two or three seconds away, I can't understand, but that's just what it did.

While the ball still was in the air, the gun went off, but in such cases play does not stop until the ball is declared dead. French came up, caught the ball and started for the goal. He was hemmed in by tacklers and had no chance to get away. He knew that if he were tackled with the ball in his possession he game would automatically end and his team would lose. He looked about him for a way to avoid being tackled and saw his teammate, Frank Diedrich, uncovered along the sideline.

Quick as a flash, French threw Diedrich a long lateral pass and the touchdown play was on. Diedrich made a long run for the score and Penn State defeated Lafayette, 6 to 3. The play was one of the greatest ever pulled and resulted from the quick thinking of the clever French.

CLARK BEST IN WEST

In the West, the name of Clark, playing for the University of Colorado, is on the lips of the fans. Clark's team has not come through as well as expected, but this fact hasn't dimmed his individual brilliance. The Colorado quarterback kicks off for his team, punts and kicks the goals after touchdowns. He does all of the passing, is a great open field runner, as well as a line-plunger, and is a star defensive back. It is reported he has scored every one of his team's points so far this season.

Duffield, of Southern California, is another outstanding quarterback. It was Duffield's pass that beat Pop Warner's Stanford team a few weeks ago. He is a fast, shifty back and a fine punter.

Dukes to Play Westminster At Night

Night football again is to be played in Pittsburgh. Duquesne University announced late yesterday that a decision had been reached with Westminster College authorities and that the game with that school would be transferred from New Wilmington to Forbes Field and moved a day earlier. The game is scheduled for next Friday night, according to John D. Holahan, graduate manager of athletics at Duquesne.

The Dukes, now in Washington for their game with Catholic University of America tomorrow, may be at a disadvantage, although a slight one, since the Titans, of Westminster, rest while the Red and Blue tackles the Cardinals of the Washington school. Coach Dike Beede has had a number of his star performers on the bench due to injuries, but they are now back in the game and will be well recovered by Friday.

Jockey Suspended For Poor Ride At Pimlico

PIMLICO, Md., Nov. 8.—(INS.)—Jockey H. Elston was indefinitely suspended by the Pimlico stewards yesterday for an unsatisfactory ride on P. S. P. Randolph's Gay Past in the Young Maryland purse, second event on the card. His badge was taken up by the track officials and he was escorted off the grounds.

WESTINGHOUSE, PEABODY TO FIGHT TODAY

With the Section I City League encounter between Peabody and Westinghouse heading the card, a fine array of scholastic football battles are offered school followers today. Two games in Section II will complete the City League's portion of the program.

Westinghouse, defending champion in the league, meets its first serious opposition in its division in the Peabody eleven. Peabody first sprang into the limelight by holding the aspiring Schenley eleven to a scoreless deadlock. Last year, Peabody beat Schenley and gave Westinghouse a hard battle.

ALLEGHENY AT LANGLEY

Following its defeat at the hands of the Rochester High team last Saturday, the stock of the Silver-Lakers took a decided flop and the East Enders will enter the game with Westinghouse today almost equally favored.

In Section II, Allegheny tackles Langley at Langley and Perry meets Oliver on the latter's field. All four teams are out of the section race, but will seek to cement their present stands and rise a notch or two if possible, in today's fracases.

Other feature games today include the Stowe-Aspinwall battle; Dormont's tussle with Carnegie; Crafton's engagement with McKees Rocks; the Bellevue-Coraopolis game at Coraopolis and the Millvale-Ben Avon game at Ben Avon.

Shady Side Academy, tangling with the Nichols School eleven, of Buffalo, at Shady Side tomorrow, has high hopes of keeping its undefeated record unsullied. This game will get underway at 2:15 sharp. A victory for the locals means the clinching of the Tri-State prep school title, as the Shady Siders previously downed University School of Cleveland.

SOUTH HILLS, CARRICK TIE

South Hills and Carrick high schools, battling for the grid leadership in Section 2, of the City League yesterday, played to a scoreless tie at Langley High School Field.

South Hills lost its big chance in the late moments of the second quarter when it advanced the oval to the eight-yard line, only to be cut off by the ending of the period. Early in the fourth quarter, Carrick, through forward passes and line smashes, advanced the pigskin to the two-yard, only to be held for three downs, and then losing the ball after failing by a foot in an attempted field goal. The Carrick goal attempt was made from the 12-yard line.

There were few other exciting moments, the teams being well matched. South Hills held the edge in first downs, getting five to Carrick's four. The lineup:

Carrick—0.		S. Hills—0.
Hirt	L. E.	Riske
Linhart	L. T.	Craig
Carpullеci	L. G.	Sell
Boyle	C.	Brown
Weber	R. G.	Macellaro
Bubenheim	R. T.	Dague
Suttner	R. E.	Critchlow
Schricker	Q. B.	Jones
Hahn	L. H.	Garnham
McCullough	R. H.	Ganter
Bartruff	F. B.	Regan

Substitutions—Carrick: Braun for McCullough, McCullough for Braun, Braun for McCullough, Kalback for Weber. South Hills: Blum for Garnham, Garnham for Blum, Ladley for Ganter, Ganter for Riske, Riske for Ganter, Blum for Dague.

Officials—Referee, Chester Briggs; umpire, Dosey; head linesman, Fred Bode. Time of periods—10-12 minutes.

PITT, TECH IN TITLE MEET

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—A record field of 23 varsity cross-country teams comprising a grand total of 284 of the best college long-distance runners in the East, as well as a handful from the Middle West, has been announced for the Eastern Intercollegiate cross-country championship to be run November 25 at Van Cortlandt Park here.

Constituting the first intersectional threat in the history of cross country, Michigan State College entered a team of nine men headed by Captain Theodore Willmarth and Lauren P. Brow. The other 22 contestants, all of them Eastern institutions, are Bates, Carnegie Tech, City College of New York, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Fordham, Harvard, Lafayette, Maine, Manhattan, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, New York University, Pennsylvania, Penn State, Pittsburgh, Princeton, Rutgers, Syracuse, Union, Williams and Yale.

In the freshman chase will be Carnegie Tech, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Fordham, Maine, Manhattan, M. I. T., N. Y. U., Pennsylvania, Penn State, Pittsburgh, Princeton, Syracuse, Union and Yale.

W. & J. READY FOR PITT

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 8.—The Presidents will have a concluding drill this afternoon as an easy tapering off preparation for the Pitt game tomorrow. The practice all week for the Red and Black has been somewhat easier than that of previous mid-season programs, but it has been an intensive layout of work designed chiefly to keep the Presidents physically and mentally fit with a serious endeavor to correct previous mistakes and to build up a defense that may halt the powerful Panther offensive.

There has been no scrimmage this week. Late this afternoon, togs and uniforms will be packed and the entire squad will leave in the middle of tomorrow morning in motor buses for the scene of the conflict. The team will be taken direct to Webster Hall, where Wash-Jeff headquarters will be maintained.

Tonight in Pittsburgh, Wash-Jeff alumni will stage their annual banquet.

TO PLAY AT NIGHT

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—The Boston College football team will play a night game with the Marquette eleven at Milwaukee on November 15, it was announced today by Graduate Manager Frank Reynolds. This game originally was scheduled for Saturday, November 16.

SCHRICKER, OF CARRICK, TACKLED FOR LOSS

Dick (Ocean) Jones, backfield star of the South Hills High School team, throwing Schricker, of Carrick High, for a loss on an end run in the important game between the rivals with the leadership of Section II of the City League at stake, on the Oliver field yesterday afternoon. The contest ended in a scoreless tie. It was Carrick's second tie of the season and South Hills' first. Neither team has been beaten.

UMPIRES' SPLIT DENIAL MADE

President Dan Dougherty, of the West Penn Umpires' Association, today denied reports that the West Penn Association is interested in the split in the Pittsburgh Umpires' Association, which body found itself holding two distinct meetings last evening.

"We care little," said the West Penn prexy, "whether or not the Pittsburgh umpires are having internal troubles. That is the business of that association. If there was a meeting of some of its members to consider dropping away from its ranks, we are willing to consider some of the members not in blanket form but as individuals. Not one of our men attended either meeting, nor was I informed that such meetings were being held.

"Our compact group has all the work it can handle. The Pittsburgh Umpires' Association earned $8,000 spread over 2,500 games last year and it was divided among 60 members. The West Penn umpires earned $5,500, working 800 games, and divided it among 16 men, so it is apparent that our group is flourishing.

"We want the fans to know that the West Penn Association is not interested in the open fight now being waged in the Pittsburgh Umpires' Association, and we resent being drawn into the controversy."

Chicago Scalpers Find Fans 'Suckers'

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(INS.)—Texas Guinan was right when she termed the great American homo genus a "sucker," it appeared today.

There are 20,000 seats available for the conflict this Saturday between Chicago and Wisconsin at Stagg Field and yet there are "saps" who are paying $8 a seat from downtown scalpers' offices. The University of Chicago made an investigation and caused the arrest of a speculator because he failed to stamp the tickets on the back, thus invalidating them at the gate.

"There is no reason why anyone should patronize speculators," said L. W. Blaire of the ticket committee. "There is a current idea out that all tickets are sold. This is untrue, as we have 20,000 for the game. The scalpers are merely robbing the public."

Mt. Pleasant Meets Derry Tomorrow

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—After considerable dickering, a football game between the undefeated Derry Township High School eleven and Mt. Pleasant will be played on the latter's field tomorrow.

The game was arranged on an open date of both teams, but a hard fought game is anticipated as both are large and well coached. The two schools are in Class B of the W. P. I. A. L.

ARNOLD SQUAD LEAVES

The Arnold School football team, which left this afternoon for Cleveland, will play Western Reserve Academy on the latter's grounds at Hudson tomorrow. Dr. J. A. Scanlon, last year Pitt player, is with the team as coach. The Arnold Junior team will also play the Academy's Juniors. Both games are scheduled for 1:45.

Florida Grid Star Wedded Twice

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Rainey Cawthon, captain of the University of Florida football team, has confirmed a statement by County Judge J. C. Sale, of Bronson, that Cawthon and Miss Sarah Payne, of Nashville, had been married secretly at Bronson, August 15, only to go through a second ceremony at the Little Church Around the Corner in New York City last Sunday.

"We didn't intend to let that secret out," Cawthon said, "but now that Judge Sale told about it, why we might as well."

Cawthon said he and his wife, who taught dramatics in the University of Florida summer school last summer, "decided after summer school that we'd go ahead and get married."

"The ceremony was performed by Judge Sale in Bronson, August 15," he said, "then after school opened, we decided we'd better have a nice church wedding and invite the football boys."

PITT HARRIERS GO TO STATE

A bus load of University of Pittsburgh cross-country runners left this morning for State College, where they race varsity and freshman harriers of Penn State in six and three mile races tomorrow morning.

Coach Shea, of the Panthers, has taken the following men to State College: Alberts, Capt. Caesar, Mazzei, McDowell, Theile, Schmieler, Smoyer, Clise, Palliwadi, Jackson, Lewis, Hensel, Bernstein and Santicola. Elmer Myers, student manager, accompanied Shea and his runners.

Cadets on Way To Illinois Battle

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—For the first time in three years, the Army football team took up the march to the middle west yesterday. The Cadets play Illinois at Champaign tomorrow in their first engagement beyond the Alleghenies since they fought the Navy to a thrilling 21-to-21 tie at Soldier Field, Chicago in 1926.

Accompanied by the corps and headed by the United States Military Academy band, the team marched down to the station with Army songs and cheers ringing. It was one of the biggest demonstrations given any Cadet eleven.

Myers Hurt, Not Likely to Play

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Dave Myers, New York University's star Negro quarterback, probably will be kept out of Saturday's game with Georgia, but the matter will not be definitely decided until after an examination today. Myers took part in yesterday's practice, but his left shoulder drooped and his left arm hung limply at his side. Although left handed, he tossed the ball around with his right hand.

N. Y. U. authorities announced that Myers would be examined by two physicians not connected by the University and their decision on his fitness would be the deciding factor as to whether he would play.

CUP TIES TOMORROW

THOMS RUN READY FOR BEADLING

By TOM BIRKS.

Tomorrow the Thoms Run Club meets Beadling in a soccer cup tie at Beadling, and that little field has seen some stirring battles in the past. In another similar tilt Beaver Falls will meet the Jeannette Rovers. Glendale should attract a great crowd to the Swissvale grounds, when the Union Switch and Signal eleven ties up with the Dale. Glendale has put up two great battles against senior clubs in the cup ties, defeating Gallatin, holding Heidelberg to a tie, and then losing by a goal to the Pierpoints. Cecil will travel to meet the Eagles, and this game, it is reported, will be played at Glendale.

Only one tilt will be staged in the district loop. The Pittsburgh Rovers will travel to Crafton. This game was scheduled last Saturday, but was not played.

ACTION IN BEAVER VALLEY

Steve Horlick's compact little loop in the Beaver Valley will stage two league games, now that the clubs are not interested in the cup ties. Beaver Falls will visit Ambridge, and it should be a worth while contest. The other game will find Sewickley at New Castle.

On Sunday, at Midland, National Tube will do its stuff for the first time, and the presence of a real soccer club of the National Tube's caliber should be a good thing for the game in the lower Beaver Valley.

Lewis at German Sport Club should also provide a few thrills. It is reported that the Sport Club will be under new managership for this game. The Pierpoints have a hard battle on with Gallatin. While Glendale beat the upriver club, and then the Pierpoints defeated Glendale, it will be a hard fighting eleven the Motors will face.

HEIDELBERG SUSPENDED

It was announced last night that the West Penn Cup committee had suspended the Heidelberg Soccer Club, last year's champion. The suspension was due, it was said, to incidents in connection with last week's scheduled tilt between Heidelberg and Clan Douglas.

As a result, according to the cup committee, Heidelberg forfeits its game last week to Douglas, which meets the Celtics tomorrow at Leslie Park in the competition's second round.

PITT MAY PLAY ON COAST

They'll get some more today, take tomorrow off and watch Pitt and the Presidents, and then go back to work next week.

With one or two exceptions, the Plaid athletes reported for practice in good physical trim. Thayer Flanagan, the big halfback, was not in uniform, but spent the afternoon in the training room with Bert Munhall working on his sore leg. Capt. Johnny Dreshar worked out with his team, but Trainer Bert worked out on Johnny afore hand, to the accompainment of much yowling and screeching as the hefty rubber kneaded some sore muscles in John's thigh.

It is going to cost Pacific coast fans more to see Tech and U. S. C. in Pasadena, December 14, than for any other game played on the coast this year. The prices for this contest, already a sellout, have been boosted one buck per pasteboard. With the Army meeting Stanford December 28 and Pitt tackling California New Years, the coast will be served the finest football menu ever concocted.

TRIMMED DOWN

They expect to put 12,000 into Reeves Stadium, Beaver Falls, for the Geneva-Waynesburg Armtsice Day battle. Waynesburg stock has hopped considerable following the Jackets triumph over Grove City.

Detroit University occupied the outposts of Morgantown W. Va., today, where tomorrow the Michiganers will attemp to klek over Ira Rodgers' Mountaineers. The last tri-state appearance of Detroit was in 1927, against Carnegie Tech.

Allegheny, still wooing reluctant Victory, figures to find its suit up against a stiff defense in the Grove City eleven at Grove City tomorrow. I would not give much for Allegheny's chances of knocking off the Crimson.

Although Davis Elkins rules a prime favorite, the D-E, West Virginia Wesleyan game at Elkins today is one of the feature affairs of the day. The Wesleyn backfield quartet of Battles, Bachtel, Miller and Rodriguez figures to sing a merry tune to the Hurricane.

This Minnesota-Iowa game at Iowa City on the morrow is a very important one in the Big Ten. A win for Iowa means the elimination of the Gophers from the championship race and the virtual crowning of Purdue.

In case you didn't know, Capt. John McEwan former coach of the Army, is the big shot at the University of Oregon at present.

Here are some likely winners tomorrow: Pitt, Grove City, Army, Northwestern, Penn, Georgia, Dartmouth, Minnesota, Davis Elkins, Georgetown and Wisconsin. I like 'em, anyhow.

Bob Mitinger's Kiski eleven takes on the Army Plebes at West Point tomorrow—one of those acid test games for the Saltsburgians. J. L. Marks, the popgn of 'em all at Kiski, planned to accompany the team to New York to arrange for the annual Elder's Ridge reunion after the Army-Notre Dame game.

Broaddus, undefeated and unscored on in six games, leaders in the West Vrginia Collegiate Conference, meets another unbeaten Conference rival in Potomac State tomorrow.

While on the subject of football games, I'd rather like to see the Georgetown-Navy battle at Annapolis.

Penn State Grid Squad in Philly

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—A squad of 26 Lion gridmen left here last night for Philadelphia where they will have a day of rest before their encounter with Penn. Coach Beadek will probably start Al Duval at tackle in place of Tony Panaccion, who will be in shape to enter the game if needed.

turist and wants to get into the best possible physical trim so he will be able to match his foe in strength and lasting ability if his boxing and sharp hitting do not succeed in taking the measure of the invader at an early stage in the battle. Buck has not been forced to travel the full route in months, his bouts ending quickly, and he is leaving no stone unturned to be primed for the distance test if he should be faced by it.

GOOD BOUTS MONDAY

The Pittsburgh district will be a busy one fistically next Monday night (Armistice Day), with shows booked at Motor Square Garden, Washington, Pa., and Butler. The better of the out-of-town offerings is that in the Coliseum at Washington, Pa., where an eight-round and three six-round bouts are listed in addition to the Mickey Fedor-Mickey Solmen 10-round headliner.

Frank Taylor, of Atlantic City, brother of Herman Taylor, the Philadelphia promoter, wants to break in Gene Moretti, Atlantic City welterweight, in the Pittsburgh district. He has boxed Young Ketchel, Roxy Allen, Pat Haley, Al Conway, Whitey Labach, Mickey Martell, Al Trainor, Gene Buffalo, Joe Parker, Gene Gaffner, Red Grange, Marty Collins and many others, and would like nothing better than a shot at our Buck McTiernan. Manager Taylor's address in Atlantic City is 29 South Missouri avenue.

Bucky Lawless, of Auburn, N. Y., is another young welter who would like to fight McTiernan here. He recently was stopped in a return bout with the veteran Tommy Freeman in Erie, but his general record is such that he is capable of stacking up against the best. He has beaten Freeman, along with Vince Dundee, Canada Lee, Gorilla Jones, Sam Bruce, Meyer Grace and Bruce Flowers, among others. His manager is Joe Netro, or Syracuse, N. Y.

GOLDSTEIN MEETS STRUB

Maxie Strub, Erie favorite, boxes Frankie LaFay, of Troy, N. Y., at Erie tonight, and Phil Goldstein, local star, in the same town Friday night of next week.

Kid Chocolate boxes Johnny Erickson at the Olympia A. C., New York, tomorrow night. Pal Silvers meets Floyd Hybert in the windup at the Ridgewood Grove A. C. Johnny Dundee, veteran former featherweight champion, boxes Georgie Goldberg in Brooklyn next Tuesday night.

Gorilla Jones and Rene DeVos have been signed to box the 12-round main bout of the annual Christmas fund benefit show in Cleveland, December 12. Joey Medill meets Stanislaus Loayza, Johnny Farr opposes Louis (Kid) Kaplan and Jack Berg goes against Jackie Pilkington in 10-round supporting bouts.

The benefit dance and vaudeville show held at the Elks Temple for the family of the late Johnny Michaels Wednesday night was a marked success. A sizable sum was raised for the widow and baby son of the boxer, who died recently from the effects of an automobile accident.

BERNARD VS. NICHOLS

Roger Bernard, of Flint, Mich., who defeated Phil Goldstein at Motor Square Garden last Monday night, boxes Jackie Nichols at Lansing, Mich., tonight.

Steve Rocco faces Happy Atherton in a bout in the Canadian flyweight tournament at Toronto.

George Panka, Homestead heavyweight, boxes Ray Fay, of Charleroi, in one of two 10-round bouts making up a double windup card at McKeesport next Thursday night.

Mountaineers Drill For Detroit Fight

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Coach Ira Rodgers, using second-string men almost exclusively in an effort to find an offensive back, held a long scrimmage yesterday with a scrub freshman team as the opponent.

Only Larus, Brown and Carrico of the first string men on the varsity saw any service in the rough work.

BUC OUTFIELD IS STRONG

third straight season. Moreover, he drove in only 104 runs.

POOR LEADOFF

Paul, seriously, should have driven in more tallies—quite a few more, in fact. On the other hand the setup for driving in tallies was not always before the older brother. Dick Bartell, for instance, is anything but an ideal leadoff batter and the third-notch hitter has to have two dependable boys ahead of him if he is to stay among the leaders.

Brother Lloyd had the best season of his stirring career, although his batting mark of .353 is two points off his first season. But the little lad had more power in his wallops as is evidenced in the fact that he led both leagues in the much-admired art of making three-baggers. Lloyd produced 20 of these delightful drives.

An outfield that can hit .338 while starring on defense is something to warm the cockles of any manager's heart.

It will be seen then that the ambitious rookies will have to show more than enthusiasm to "horn into" the set mentioned. Nevertheless, Jewel Ens will have at least three promising young hawks in Fred Brickell, James Mosolf and Melvin Ingram.

JONES SELECTS PITT, PENN TO WIN

By CAPT BIFF JONES
Head Football Coach, U. S. Military Academy.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 8.—In the Western Conference there are two crucial championship games Saturday—Northwestern at Ohio State and Minnesota at Iowa.

Neither Ohio State nor Minnesota has lost a conference game. Northwestern, hounded by bad luck on injuries and scholastic difficulties since the start of the season, is due to take their game from Ohio State. Northwestern showed their offensive and defensive strength against Illinois. They have just hit their stride, and look better by several touchdowns than Ohio State.

Capt. Jones

Right now it looks that if Minnesota can take Iowa they will have a good shot at the championship. The rest of the Minnesota schedule does not look as rough as what Purdue is facing. Iowa, after a blank date last Saturday, should be in great shape for Minnesota. However, Indiana did not extend Minnesota last week. This game will be a case of pile driver against pile driver. I think Minnesota is slightly the better team.

Wisconsin at Chicago will have no bearing on the race. The former has lost all its conference games so far, while Chicago has lost one. Wisconsin should win. If Chicago can maintain the drive and aggressiveness shown in the second half against Princeton last Saturday, the game will be close.

HARVARD FAVORED

Michigan entertains Harvard. Michigan always has some effective defense rigged up for their opponents and they will undoubtedly make the going slow for Harvard. On the other hand, Michigan has shown no consistent atttack so far. Harvard looks the better by a narrow margin.

Purdue-Mississippi should be an easy win for the former. They are leading the conference now. Their deceptive passing attack has not been stopped yet.

In the East, the game of the day appears to be Columbia-Colgate. Both teams have already been defeated, but both have strength, probably more sttrength than either has put on the field in some years. Colgate should win a very close game.

Georgia, the southern team which has the distinction of having consistently stopped Yale's Mr. Booth, will strike a tough snag in N. Y. U. The latter was bumped by Georgetown and Fordham, but has too much stuff to stumble again. N. Y. U. by several touchdowns.

Penn State is strong enough to give Pennsylvania a hard battle. There is plenty of rivalry when these two get together. Pennsylvania has been doing a lot of adjusting with their new attack which should be well ironed out by this game. They looked better in the Navy game than at any time this year. Penn State should hold them to a touchdown margin, although it is expected that both teams will score since both teams will ehibit fast, clever backfields.

YALE DRAWS "SETUP"

Not so long ago a Yale-Maryland game was a major contest. This year, however, Maryland has a very weak team, and can offer Yale little or no opposition. Thirty points would be a conservative estimate, with Yale having pletny of opportunity to work substitutes.

Lehigh, with a stronger team than usual, seems to be ready to give Princeton a real game. Lehigh is not powerful enough to win, but will force Princeton to extend herself.

Fordham should win in a close game from Boston College. Lafayette looks better than Rutgers. Pittsburgh is too strong for Washington & Jefferson by about three touchdowns.

Brown is hardly in a class with Dartmouth this year. This looks to be an off year for the former, while the latter has one of the strongest teams in the east. This looks to be a practice game for Dartmouth.

Navy catches a tartar in Georgetown. The latter has a well-rounded attack, an excellent punter, and a defense for the Navy style of play. Georgetown looks best.

In the south, Vanderbilt-Georgia Tech and North Carolina-South Carolina are the leading games. Vanderbilt and North Carolina appear to have the edge.

(Copyright, 1929, by The Christy Walsh Syndicate.)

Long's Sport Comment

that they had nothing to offer, but merely desired to suggest an amicable working agreement. The West Penn officials then withdrew and the meeting ended with nothing accomplished.

So it looks as if the war will go on for another season at least, with the bodies operating independently, and it will be up to the various leagues and unattached clubs to deal with whichever organization they prefer. Dan Dougherty is president of the West Penn, and Steve Cox recently was elected president of the rival organization to succeed Jack Baird.

Johnny Rawlings

ARNOLD (JIGGER) STATZ, former major league outfielder, for a long time was deservedly ranked as the greatest golf player in baseball. But he has finally been dethroned as the baseball golf champion, and his successor is none other than Johnny Rawlings, former Pirate infielder. The annual tournament for the title has just been concluded at Griffith Park, Los Angeles, Rawlings winnings the crown by defeating Fuller Thompson, another ex-major leaguer, 6 and 4, in the 36-hole final round. It was also a former Pirate who eliminated Statz earlier in the tournament, the old champion being put out of the running by the one-time Buccaneer pitcher, whose sensational pitching in the final inning of the deciding game in the 1925 world series against Washington will live long as one of the most thrilling incidents in Pittsburgh's baseball history.

JOHN D. HOLAHAN, graduate manager of athletics at Duquesne University, made a popular move in inducing Westminster College to play its annual game with the Dukes at Forbes Field by arc light next Friday night instead of in New Wilmington on Saturday, as originally scheduled. Since the success of the Dukes' initial moonlight number with Geneva a week ago there has been a demand here for more night games, and the transfer of the contest with Westminster to this city is certain to meet with general favor.

It will not be surprising if the Duke management provides another night game later by obtaining the consent of Waynesburg College to move up the event scheduled for Thanksgiving Day and playing it the preceding night, Wednesday, November 27, under the Forbes Field arc lamps. The big game with the Haskell Indians, slated for Saturday, November 23, will, of course, be played in the afternoon, as it is one of the feature attractions of the local season and both Pitt and Carnegie Tech will be idle on that day.

EIGHT W. PA. AMATEUR CHAMPS CROWNED

DUKE O'HARA COPS CLUB TROPHY

Western Pennsylvania amateur boxing champions in eight classes were crowned last night at the Palisades, McKeesport, when the semi-final and final rounds in each division were conducted.

The newly-crowned titleholders are Harry Boyle, Meadville, 112 pounds; Tony Marino, Duke O'Hara Club, 118 pounds; George Flaherty, Duke O'Hara Club, 126 pounds; Marty Gornick, Duke O'Hara Club, 135 pounds; Walter Tyburski, Duke O'Hara Club, 147 pounds; Vic Freeman, unattached, 160 pounds; Tony Bazzone, Duke O'Hara Club, 175 pounds, and Frank Novak, North Side A. C., heavyweight.

WIN CLUB TROPHY

The Duke O'Hara club of McKeesport, in addition to bringing home championships in five classes, walked off with the club trophy, scoring a total of 37 points. The North Side A. C. was second with five and the Al Sands club, of Uniontown, third, with four.

Four knockouts were registered in the second night of the tourney. Seventeen bouts in all were staged with the majority of them resulting in highly interesting affairs. One of the big surprises of the tournament was the quick knockout of Tod Murphy, of the Duke O'Hara club, who was eliminated in the final of the 160-pound division by Vic Freeman in the first round.

Murphy was floored with a stiff right, but instead of taking a count, he arose and staggered around the ring. Freeman measured him off and let fly another hard right and Murphy's head hit the canvas with a resounding thud. Freeman also participated in the 175-pound class, but lost to Tony Bazzone of the Duke O'Hara club, after three fast rounds.

VERDICT UNPOPULAR

The verdict was unpopular with the fans, who thought that Freeman's clever boxing entitled him to the decision. The summary:

112-pound class—John Durso, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Jack Kelly, McKeesport; Harry Boyle, Meadville, defeated George Dorogi, Al Sands Club; John Durso, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Jackie Wilson, Superior Club; Boyle defeated Dorson in the final.

118-pound class—Frank Rosano, Al Sands Club, defeated Jimmy Blake, Spike Hobbs Club; Joe Hallas, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Mushy Callahan, Peck Friedman Club, technical knockout, two rounds; Tony Marino, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Frank Rosana, Al Sands Club.

135-pound class—Marty Gornick, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Fritz Schnieder, Newell, by default.

147-pound class—Elmer Freeman, unattached, defeated Larry Signs, Duke O'Hara Club; Walter Tyburski, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Richard Green, Thornton A. C., four rounds; Tyburski defeated Freeman in the final.

175-pound class—Tony Bazzone, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Vic Freeman, unattached.

Heavyweight—Frank Novak, North Side A. C., knocked out Mike Lavar, Duke O'Hara Club, two rounds.

N. B. A. RATES CONTENDERS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 8.—(INS.)—Jack Sharkey, of Boston, heads the heavyweight division by experience, according to Edward C. Foster, chairman of the championship committee of the National Boxing Association.

He said three other heavyweights might be successors to the retired champion, Gene Tunney, naming them in this order: Max Schmeling, Otto Von Porat and Ernie Schaaf.

Rating in other classes were given by Chairman Foster, as follows:

QUALIFIES

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Augie Kieckhefer, of Chicago, qualified for the National three-cushion tourney at New York in January by beating Joe Moriarty, 50 to 38, last night.

CHAMP SIGNS

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Sammy Mandell, world lightweight champion, has accepted terms for a bout here December 6. He will meet Louis Gonzales or Harry (Kid) Brown.

Peck Knocked Out By Freddie Edwards

WELLSVILLE, O., Nov. 8.—Only one of the four bouts staged here last night went the limit, that being the opening setto between Andy Veant, of Canton, and John Francis of Benwood, W. Va., with Veant getting the victory on points.

In the main event Georgie Peck, Pittsburgh welterweight, was knocked out in the eighth round by Freddie Edwards, of Chester, W. Va. Peck managed to survive Edwards' punishment until the last round, when he went to the canvas.

Ted Yarosz, of Monaca, won in the fourth round by a knockout over Carl Patron, of Canton. They fought at 142 pounds.

In the second bout Dick Edwards, a brother of Fred, won from Hack Gibbs, Benwood, W. Va., by a technical knockout in the fourth round.

EXHIBITS A. B. C.

Three garments step forward, each telling you its own story of smartness, each bearing convincing evidence of Fintex accomplishment.

Note these exhibits carefully for they hold for you the key to a new type of clothing satisfaction.

Exhibit A . . A Boucle Overcoat

That asks you to note the richness of this smart blue fabric it is tailored of; the correctness of this new double-breasted model with its semi-form set lines; the carefulness of the tailoring and finish. This is a coat that will please men who know how to wear their clothes.

Exhibit B . . A Very Trim Suit

It has square-cut, rope shoulders; its lines run trim and snug; the skirt of this coat sets firm against the hips—it has that athletic swing that our best-dressed young men prefer. It is carefully tailored in a finely finished worsted. It is a suit that the boulevardier will wear with pride.

Exhibit C . . A Handsome Tuxedo

A gleam of rich black satin at the lapels; the quiet dignity of the fine piece of unfinished worsted it is tailored of; the extreme care and workmanship that express themselves in the finish and nice set of its lines; with the feeling of definite quality at every turn—this tuxedo bids well for a front place in formal society.

Miss Pat

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Mary Patricia Dawn, pert, young, demi-brunette, sees her little brother, Dickie, fail to rise after a dive in the lake. Pat brings up the apparently lifeless body. All hope seems gone when suddenly an airplane sweeps down out of the sky. Pat's father arrives with Guy Elliott, a tall, handsome youth as pilot. Quick action follows and Dickie recovers. Later Elliott kisses and takes Pat for an air ride.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER III.

IF she were only alone now and could just sit with closed eyes and let this awed rapture flush to her fingertips—oh, the incredible wonder!

But here she was squeezed in the front between her father and Dickie; her father ready to tease at the first blush and Dickie just burning up with questions.

She answered rapidly, absently, in dazzling, excited superlatives. All the while her mind paused in that glowing and beautiful moment, so completely unexpected, so holy and sweet.

She was glad when dinner was at last over and she could steal out in the garden—be alone—be radiantly still. Just gaze over hills to the distant water. It had happened—this marvelous thing. The shining youth, so much more glorious than books ever pictured a man, had actually laughed into her eyes; actually stooped and touched his lips to hers.

"You're awfully sweet, Miss Pat." That's what he said.

For two or three days, Pat went about in restless suspense. Every time the phone rang, her heart jumped. Every time her mother looked at her, she began to talk with excessive gaiety. By Saturday the whole affair became frightfully unreal. She found herself wondering if Guy Elliott really existed, where he worked, what he might be doing—above all, what he might be thinking.

"He meant nothing. I won't see him again," she told herself flatly and felt cold with panic.

Then he phoned. He talked as though they'd been friends a hundred years. Lovely quiet afternoon—how about a spin to the rainbows and back?

He came to her with an easy stride, took her arm with a gay chuminess.

She was all pink and excited as she stepped into the plane, for he stooped and whispered, though there wasn't a soul to hear: "Have you missed me, Pat?"

"Indeed, yes!" It came out with a gusty frankness. The sparkle in his eyes heightened. Then they were high up and the air so still they seemed not even to be moving, he reached over, took her hand, placed it at the controls.

"You enjoy it, don't you?" he shouted happily.

"Oh, this is such a beautiful little plane. It's such a thrill."

"All because of the plane, Pat?"

"How would I know?"

"I'll send you up with the mechanic—let me find out."

If Miss Pat had any doubts that magical Saturday, they were completely dissipated in the next few weeks. They went up half a dozen times in the plane. They took the frantically elated Dickie with them. And several times he drove her home, asking all manner of questions. He gave in return most enchanting glimpses of himself.

Oh, his would be a high and glorious fate. His design of an almost fool-proof plane was already taken over by William Bryce. Soon it would be on the market. Another milestone in aviation. Fame and a place among the high-souled pioneers of the skies for Guy Elliott.

One twilight evening he came into the garden and they all had supper there. The house was set in the San Mateo hills with trees and lovely canyons in the foreground. Afterwards, he and Pat leaned against the hedge and looked down to the far away boats on San Francisco Bay.

"This is a romantic place to live," said he; "did you grow all this garden?"

"Mother made most of it. Dad helps on Sundays. The house and all this is a dream of theirs. Took a long time to realize it."

The young man smiled.

"Why?" said the girl. "Do such dreams seem paltry to you?"

"Certainly not. I've a few myself."

"But first you want many other things? Nobler things?"

He looked up to the sky. There was a plane curving and flashing. In the paling light his face was very ardent. Pat gazed at the scar on his forehead. It excited her—the sign of magnificent courage. Once, in a parachute jump, the rope snapped. He was injured. Things like that didn't matter—would never hold him back.

"Ah—you want to write your name high up there with Byrd? With the Southern Cross and Lindy?"

"Not that high—but there's plenty yet to do; plenty to adventure. I want to chance it—chance everything."

"And it's worth sacrifice, isn't it? Worth giving up all little dreams?"

She was unaware of a hungry wistful note—a yearning admiration that brought her whole face glowing near to his. But he was looking into it, laughing and unsteady. He was taking her chin in his palm—lightly, caressingly . . . "Well, I don't know, Miss Pat. You make me unsure—just a bit unsure . . . and I'm not awfully willing to give up this and that . . ." His eyes were disturbing. They were all at once so challenging, so near and sweet.

Pat tucked that moment into her mind. Placed it with other brief, precious scraps. Of these she made pictures of him—heart-luring pictures. She gazed at them incessantly. She was hopelessly, intoxicatingly in love.

As she went through the house helping her mother with the cooking or swishing a long dust rag absently about she came to abrupt stops and asked breathlessly: "Does he care? Really care?

She stole furtive glimpses in mirrors and in glass doors. Why didn't she have a darling rosebud mouth like Beth O'Day? Hers was wide and fiery. And why did she have this wretched tilt to her nose? Ah—but he said it was delicious; perfectly quaint and delicious. And he was glad she was letting her hair grow. He thought it fetching—that little brown coil on her neck.

But could he really care? For a girl without brilliance, without intrigue? Everything about the Dawns was obvious. Here they lived in this Spanish house that they loved and were proud of and were buying on the installment plan. And here Pat worked and studied and dreamed. Went to school, bossed Dickie, wiped dishes. She'd never traveled; never adventured; never did the big, captivating splashy things.

Could he love a girl like that? Surely he would seek blazing, colorful women. The kind you read of in books with shadowy passion in their eyes, and each move of their hands haunting with mystery and rhythm. Subtle, exotic, unreadable women. Oh, to be darkly seductive like that!

But she was clear as water. She told him with each glance: "You're gorgeous! You're wonderful!" Naive worship. Does a man like that?

A day or two after the star-lit evening that had so enraptured Pat, Guy was looking over blueprints. Now and then there came before him a wistful image, emerald eyes filled with exalted admiration.

"Quaint darling!" he thought and was about to sketch Pat's face when a lilting husky voice came singing across the room: "Hello, Mr. Skyman! Can we come in?"

There stood at the door a young girl with a pale, beautiful face. A willowy, attractive girl. She had a little boy of three or four by the hand.

She now came smiling, quite unaware of her great appeal, to Guy's table.

As she came nearer, her eyes, which in the distance were merely large and shadowy, now showed tragically deep. They had a bewildered look. They were haunting eyes.

She was Barbara Bryce. She had all the romance and lure that Pat fancied necessary to win a man like Guy

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Veritzen's Plans Threaten to Complicate Matters

I CAUGHT my breath in dismay at Philip Veritzen's statement that it was for me to decide how he was to get to the city if he gave us the use of his limousine and chauffeur to transport our royal guests, for whose safety we were so concerned.

At once I had seen what a boon the offer of his commodious car and chauffeur would be to us. I knew that Harry Underwood had planned to hire another large and speedy car which, with his own, would take care of all our party. But that involved the bringing in of strangers into our plans, something which he wished to avoid if possible.

That Lillian's husbad would accept Mr. Veritzen's offer I did not doubt, but I was not prepared to say that he would welcome the addition of the great man himself to the party.

Yet it seemed the height of churlishness to accept the car and bar the owner. Mentally I called down anathema on Dicky's head. If he had called Lillian to the telephone instead of me I would not have been compelled to appear ungracious, the only course which seemed open to me.

Finally I mustered up courage to say the thing which I must.

"But it is not mine to tell you that," I said. "All our plans are in Mr. Underwood's hands, and he has made it plain that no one—no one must come to the farmhouse before we leave. Yet I am sure he will be delighted and relieve at the offer of your car, but whether he will wish you to accompany us—frankly I cannot tell you that."

"Well, if he doesn't I can go in by train," Mr. Veritzen said, but with a distinctly offended note in his voice, which I mentally admitted was justified.

"May I not have Mr. Underwood call you up or run over to see you?" I asked.

"As you wish," my employer said, his dignity increasing with every second. "But one thing I must tell you—I may not accompany your party to the city, but I am going to engage a suite at the same hotel and stay there while the present emergency exists. That is at least within my rights."

I could not answer him for an instant, for the possible consequences of his announced action appalled me. I could think of nothing so calculated to "throw a monkey wrench into the machinery," as Lillian had quoted, than Philip Veritzen's presence—and watchfulness—in the hotel which was to house the members of our "international romance" and to be the "tiger trap" which Harry Underwood meant to bait the Prince Georges.

"I trust you agree with me," my employer went on icily, when I did not answer him, "that I have the right to go to the hotel if I wish."

"Oh, of course, of course," I said hastily. "And I'll have Mr. Underwood get in touch with you as soon as possible."

"Thank you so much," he said perfunctorily, and then I had turned away from the telephone wondering whether Dicky was still within hearing. But he had disappeared, and I went in search of Lillian, with the lively fear that this intrusion of Philip Veritzen into our problems would complicate matters sorely.

But to my surprise and relief Lillian was not at all disturbed when I found her and told her my news. Instead she laughed gleefully.

"The darling old billy goat," she said. "Harry'll give him a vote of thanks on a silver salver. He's been worrying over having a hired car—you never know that it may not break down at the wrong time. Harry's in wonderful condition and he has had it gone over with a fine tooth comb in especial preparation for this journey. And of course, Otto keeps Phil's car in readiness for a Presidential inauguration ride at any instant. I think Harry will tell Phil to come along, too. Let's see, how will that work out in passengers?"

She considered for a long minute, elbows on knees, chin cupped in palms, in the attitude so familiar to me. Then she relaxed and chuckled mischievously.

"Above all things, our Philip hates to be crowded," she said, "but if he wishes to toddle along on this party he'll have to bear his shade of discomfort. How's this arrangement? In Harry's car, which he will drive, there will be Dicky, Prince Georges, Mary and me. Phil's car will house himself, you, Noel and Princess Olina."

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Golf Widowlogues.

"I'M all fussed and bothered!" said Mrs. Green. "You see, John has promised to take me abroad this winter—and I don't know about King George."

HELEN ROWLAND

"About King George?" repeated Mrs. Divot, wonderingly.

"Whether to high-hat him or to ignore him or just take him up and be pleasant to him," explained Mrs. Green. "Now that this country is going in so strong for 'airy-stocracy,' one has to be awfully careful. You can't afford to know EVERYBODY!"

* * *

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear!" wailed Mrs. Green. "I'm afraid my social standing is lost forever! I spoke to the garbage man this morning! I even spoke pleasantly, and asked him about his wife and children!"

* * *

"Did you shake HANDS with him?" demanded Mrs. Green in horror.

"No," said Mrs. Divot. "I didn't have my gloves on! But, what IS an aristocrat—and IS there an aristocracy these days, anyway?"

"Of course there is, as there always has been and always will be," said Mrs. Green. "But the aristocracy of today is not the aristocracy of blue-blood and ancestry as it used to be in the South. Nor the aristocracy of culture as it once was in Boston—nor even the aristocracy of wealth, as it has been in New York and Palm Beach.

* * *

"Just the fact that your great-grandfather bore a title and went to court in a periwig, or the fact that your great-great-grandmother danced with George Washington, gives you no prestige with the people who know that your husband sells bonds or tractors or gas-stoves for a living and that you drive your own last year's car.

"Neither does an ermine coat and an imported limousine make a 'lady,' nor a silk hat and a valet make a 'gentleman,' any more. You can't tell your banker from your bootlegger either by his accent or the cut of his evening clothes these days. EVERYBODY'S going high-hat now. Even the best burglars and second story men do their night-work in a tuxedo and wear a gardenia in their button-hole.

"The aristocracy of today is the aristocracy of ACHIEVEMENT! And of PERSONALITY! And the aristocrats of today are men like Col. Charles Lindbergh, and Thomas A. Edison, George Bernard Shaw and Ramsay MacDonald!

"But what makes them 'aristocrats?'" asked Mrs. Divot.

"Because when you meet them, whoever YOU are, the ho or and the pleasure and the glory are all YOURS!" returned Mrs. Green. "And when you shake hands with them, it is you, not they, who will remember it and BOAST about it! That's what makes an aristocrat today, yesterday and forever."

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A DAINTY FROCK FOR A TINY TOT.

A smart front plait, and comfortable raglan sleeve, distinguish this little model. The sleeves are gathered to a band cuff, over which the shaped trimming cuff is arranged. The round collar is in keeping with the lines of the frock. Handkerchief linen, poplin, or pongee is suggested as suitable materials. Cotton prints, and taffeta are also nice. Crepe de chine in white or soft colors would be serviceable and pleasing.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: Six months, 1, 2 and 3 years. To make the frock for a 2-year size will require 1¾ yards 35 inches wide. For collar and turnover cuffs of contrasting material ⅜-yard is required 35 inches wide and cut crosswise. To finish collar and cuffs with lace or narrow binding will require 2½ yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Introducing the Guest Who Performs.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. At an informal party, where the hostess has invited a friend (a stranger to her other guests) to come to her party to sing to them, how should she introduce the singer before she rises to sing? She, of course, would be introduced to the guests as they arrived.

2—What should the hostess say in public to thank her before the close of the party?

3—At a party where the hostess has a guest visiting her, should she introduce her guest to the other guests, or the other guests to her guest?

4—Should a man be introduced to a lady, or a lady to a man?

5—Should a young lady be introduced to an older lady, or the older lady to the younger?

6—Should a guest thank her hostess when leaving a party, and tell her how she has enjoyed herself? OTTAWA.

1. The hostess wouldn't exactly "introduce" the singer, since she would already have met the guests. But she might say, informally, as she rose to sing, "Miss Northwood has been kind enough to consent to sing for us today, and nothing could make me so happy. And the minute she begins to sing, you will know why I am so happy to have you hear her truly beautiful voice."

2. When she finishes singing, completely finished, that is, encores and all, the hostess should thank her, in a way something like this, perhaps: "Miss Northward, I want to thank you for all my guests as well as for myself, for I read on their faces the superb pleasure that you have given them. We all enjoyed every minute of this rare treat. Thank you most deeply for your goodness to us."

3. The hostess introduces the other guests to the guest of honor. In general social usage, it is the person to whom people are introduced who is the important person. That is why we are introduced to the President of the United States, whether we are women or men, and why we are introduced to cardinals and to ruling royalty!

4. Always—except in the three cases named in the answer above—the gentleman is introduced to the lady.

"Miss Lady, may I present Mr. Gentleman?"

5. Again, according to the same idea of social prestige and custom, the younger is presented to the older, the younger man to the older man, the younger woman to the older woman. This is consistent of course, since socially, the older person is more important than the younger.

6. Yes—always. Always the well-bred person, the graciously-minded person remembers to thank, very articulately, for hospitality that has been extended. And how happy it makes the hostess when this is done well!

The New Neighbor.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

If a person moves into a new neighborhood, is it proper for him to invite his new neighbor to call on him or should the neighbor make a voluntary call? S. H.

IF the neighbor has a fine, gracious, neighborly point of view, as we hope he or she has, he or she will call soon to welcome the new arrival in the neighborhood. This visit of welcome into a new neighborhood is socially a very important and significant one, and one that should not be omitted.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drinks lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Germicides and Infections

FROM the time it was discovered that germs cause many diseases, every effort has been made to find a means of killing them. This was not difficult, but how to get rid of the germs without damaging the tissues of the body, was an entirely different matter.

DR COPELAND

We have a few notable examples of what can be accomplished in this direction. The treatment of malaria is one such.

Malaria and its exhausting symptoms can be traced to the presence in the blood of certain microscopical organisms. Quinine, a chemical product of cinchona bark, is capable of killing these parasites. It is true that quinine can destroy the cells of the body, too, but its appetite is better satisfied by the germs of malaria. It is like several other chemical—it has selective powers and will feed upon one sort of living tissue in preference to another. So the quinine attacks and kills the germs of malaria, leaving the human cells undamaged.

Remarkable progress is being made in the escape from and control of blood poisoning. The uncomfortable and possibly serious condition is due to infection with one or more of the pus-producing germs.

If you are in good health and vigor, a cut or pin-prick is quite unlikely to do you any harm. But if you happen to be a bit under par, or the germs which enter your wound are exceptionally active, there may be local infection. That is, there will be swelling, redness and pain, confined to the immediate neighborhood of the injury. This may result in little more than a pimple.

A more serious infection is shown by a spreading of irritation and inflammation. Starting with a pin-prick and soreness of the finger, the whole hand and arm may become involved.

There is yet another complication, when the poison gets into the blood, causing a general poisoning of the system. This is known as "blood-poisoning" or "septicaemia." It is a serious condition.

Escape germs if you can. Make such local applications as will kill the germs of pus formation, without damage to the cells of the tissues.

This is the time to apply a germicide," a local application, which has an appetite for germs and will not damage the skin and other tissues. Iodine and mercurochrome are the popular ones.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, November 9

THE sidereal operations for this day reveal a contradictory state of affairs. While the financial outlook is good, and there may be some stimulus to the ambitions, yet the employment has some signs of menace. With care in dealing with superiors all may thrive, assisting toward desired ends despite small setbacks or anxieties.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year of progress and prosperity if they will be careful to exercise restraint and good judgment in their negotiations with employers or those in places of authority. Small disappointments and delays should not discourage.

A child born on this day may be ambitious, broad-minded and executive, but may have trouble in dealing with its employers or those in authority.

Reserve Does Not Intend To Lend Market Aid Indefinitely.

THOUGH the Federal Reserve, as represented by its member banks in this district, stepped into the breach a week ago when its aid was sorely needed as non-bank leaders drew heavily against their collateral loans outstanding, it is evidently not its intention to shoulder the burden indefinitely. At any rate, this week's condition statement, particularly as it involved the New York bank clearly indicates a determination to hold the volume of reserve credit in use within reasonable bounds. Whereas the total of such credits increased by upward of $200,000,000 last week, the aggregate outstanding on November 6, last, had been cut by $48,000,000, standing at approximately the same level as a year ago. The total of credit in use throughout the system was cut by $11,000,000 and, likewise, just about equals the total outstanding at the same time in 1928.

The reduction of $656,000,000 reported in collateral borrowings as compiled by the Federal Reserve, brings the total cut from the peak established on October 2 last, to $1,922,000,000. From the record high of $6,804,000,000 set at that time, the aggregate of such borrowings has now been brought down by approximately 30 per cent to $4,882,000,000, or slightly below the $4,979,000,000 total of such loans in the week ended November 7 last year. This week's figures show advances of member banks cut by $547,000,000, equal to more than half the $992,000,000 increase reported for this bank a week ago. The reduction here is looked upon as indicating either heavy drawing down of customer balances, or liquidation by banks of stocks acquired in supporting the market recently.

THURSDAY'S sharp recovery from the heavy selling at the opening caused Wall street to believe that urgent liquidation had been cleaned up and that a definite turn for the better had taken place in the general list. Optimism created by this conclusion was strengthened by the further decrease of $656,000,000 in brokers' loans last week, which brought the total down practically $2,000,000,000 from the October 2 high. This conclusive measure of the extent to which stocks have been passing from weak to strong hands was reflected in further gains in many sections of the list in the early dealings today. However, some irregularity was caused by the liquidation of stocks bought for support purposes on recent weak spells and price changes were mixed.

The monthly government cotton crop report published this morning proved a distinct standoff, the indicated yield, shown in the government figures, just about matching the average of private estimates. The trade had been looking for a figure of just slightly more than 15,000,000 bales as of November 1 last, and the government's total came down as 15,009,000 bales. Cotton which had shown considerable strength in the period prior to the appearance of the government figures, with an advance of around $1.25 a bale the rule at the best levels, ran into considerable profit-taking and disappointed speculative selling following the report under which practically the wole of the earlier rise was cancelled.

AS might have been expected the bank stock market was watched closely during the day in consequence of the decisiono f the National City Bank not to go through with the deal for acquisition of the Corn Exchange Bank Trust Company. Inasmuch as it had generally been assumed that the deal could not go through without considerable revision of the original terms, the actual failure of the merger to go through did not come as any surprise. For that reason the news had little effect on the bank stock market, where a generally firm tone prevailed with the rank and file of leading institutional stocks showing little change from previous closing levels.

THE Steel Corporation will make public at noon tomorrow its monthly report on unfilled orders as of the end of October. It is expected that the figures will show the balance of forward orders on the books at that time increased by some 150,000 tons. It will be recalled that the September figures showing an increase of 244,376 tons came as a complete surprise to the Street, which had, up to that time been looking for something in the way of a decrease. The upturn in September, incidentally, came following four consecutive monthly decreases, the largest drop having been recorded in August, when the backlog of orders was cut by 429,-966 tons.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Although most of the distress selling that depressed prices yesterday had disappeared, the bond market was irregular during today's three-hour session—the last of the week—showing a wide mixture of gains and losses, most of which were fractional. Another large reduction in brokers' loans, bringing the total decline to approximately a billion and three-quarters in the last fortnight, was a constructive factor, but it was apparent that the market had not entirely shaken off its nervousness.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

To the Holders of the Lewis Foundry and Machine Company First Mortgage Six per Centum Sinking Fund Gold Bonds Issued Under and Secured by Indenture of Mortgage dated June 1, 1927, Between the Lewis Foundry and Machine Company and the Union National Bank of Pittsburgh, as Trustee:

Notice is hereby given that, in accordance with the terms of said Bond and said Indenture of Mortgage, The Lewis Foundry and Machine Company has elected to redeem and pay off on December 1, 1929, otherwise than by the use of the Sinking Fund, all of the above mentioned Bonds then outstanding at One Hundred Two and One-Half (102½) per centum, of the face value thereof, with accrued interest thereon to the said date at the office of The Union National Bank of Pittsburgh, at Fourth Avenue and Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and that all of said bonds are called for redemption and will be due and payable on that date.

Payment of the sum payable for principal and premium of said bonds will be made upon surrender of the said bonds with all coupons for interest maturing after December 1, 1929. The coupons due December 1, 1929, should be detached and presented for payment in the usual manner. Interest on said bonds will cease to accrue from and after December 1, 1929, and coupons for interest maturing after that date will be null and void.

THE UNION NATIONAL BANK OF PITTSBURGH, TRUSTEE
By JOHN W. THOMPSON, Vice-President.

Dated October 31, 1929.

BROKER'S LOANS SHOW HUGE DECLINE

Drops $656,000,000 for Week as Liquidation in Securities Goes Ahead

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve member banks in New York City decreased $656,000,000 during the week ended November 6 to $4,882,000,000.

This compares with $5,538,-000,000 in the preceding week, and with the high record of $6,804,000,000 on October 2, 1929.

NEW LOW FOR YEAR

The present total is a new low for the year and compares with the previous low for 1929 of $5,284,000,000 made on July 12 last.

This is the second largest decrease on record, having been exceeded only by the previous week's decline of $1,096,000,000, and is a further direct reflection of the stupendous liquidation which has taken place in the securities markets during the period.

BANK RATE SAME

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Following the meeting of directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, no announcement was made regarding the re-discount rate, which is 5 per cent.

Member bank borrowings from the New York Federal Reserve Bank on November 6 totaled $135,-000,000, against $170,000,000 in the preceding week and $203,000,000 in the 1928 week.

GOLD MOVEMENT

The New York Federal Reserve Bank reports earmarked gold held for foreign account increased $1,-000,000 during the week ended November 6. Imports of gold for the week totaled $746,000, of which $700,-000 was from Argentina and $46,000 chiefly from Latin America. Exports for the week aggregated $6,-500,000, all of which went to France.

RESERVE RATIO JUMPS

Ratio of reserves to liabilities of the New York Federal Reserve Bank stands at 75.1 per cent this week compared with 71.8 per cent a week ago and 69.3 per cent a year previous.

Ratio of the Federal Reserve system is 69.8 per cent this week against 69.4 per cent last week and 67.1 per cent a year ago.

Federal Reserve Bank Statement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Combined resources and liabilities of the 12 Federal Reserve banks at the close of business Wednesday were reported last night by the Federal Reserve Board as follows:

Coal Depression Shows No Change

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE coal business is still suffering from low prices. In addition to this, warm weather has materially checked the demand for domestic sizes. The lake season is drawing to a close and many mines will have even more difficulty in finding a market for their output within a few weeks unless a severe cold snap comes to help the situation.

Mines have large orders for slack on their books, but operations are very much of a problem since a market cannot be found for the lump coal which will be produced along with the slack. As a result of this condition, lump has dropped from $2.50 a ton at the mines to $2, which represents one of the lowest prices in many years. Much of the slack sold recently has gone for 75 cents a ton.

The industry has had one of the poorest years in its history from the standpoint of markets and there appears to be little possibility of any sizeable recovery for many months to come. Losses of the leading coal companies this year will not be so great as in 1927 and 1928 since they have had no difficulty with labor.

Terminal Coal

THE Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation showed a loss of $186,104 in the third quarter of this year. This compared with $224,717 in the second quarter. The slight reduction in the deficit was due to an increase in volume. The company showed a loss of $509,468 in the first nine months of the year. In the full year of 1928 the deficit was $893,003.

While this organization has shown an appalling loss during the past three years, operations in 1929 have not impaired its cash position. This is due to the fact that the nine months showed a profit of $152,203 before charging off depreciation and depletion. So long as the company can show earnings before making provision for these two items it will not get into financial difficulties.

Pittsburgh Coal

THE results reported by the Pittsburgh Terminal Corporation in the first nine months may be taken as an indication of what to expect from the Pittsburgh Coal Company, which does not publish quarterly statements. The later organization showed a deficit of $493,870 in 1928, which compared with deficits of $1,880,596 in 1927 and of $2,114,676 in 1926.

A profit was shown in the final quarter of 1928, but it is known that operations have been in the red for practically all of this year. Although prices have been poorer than in 1928, the Pittsburgh Coal Company has had the benefits of lower costs in some of its properties due to improvements made in equipment. This company also has been making liberal charges for depreciation and depletion. Last year these items amounted to $2,818,961.

Sale of Properties

THE only good news about the coal industry is the possibility that some of the leading steel companies may buy up properties to insure their future supply of raw materials. The Weirton Steel Company recently bought a large block of coal acreage from the Hillman Coal and Coke Company. It is commonly reported that the Eaton interests, who are working on a large combination of independent steel companies to be formed around Republic Iron and Steel, are trying to pick up some coal lands for the new organization.

The United States Steel Corporation is also believed to be on the look-out for properties to further fortify its fuel sources. It is again being rumored that the Pittsburgh Coal Company may sell some of its extensive coal lands to one of these interests. There is little doubt that Pittsburgh Coal Company would welcome a chance to get rid of some of its undeveloped coal so that it could lighten its tax burden. On the other hand, the company's holdings of coking coal are smaller than its steam coal lands so that a large share of its acreage would not supply the most desirable coal for the steel companies.

MARKET RALLY NATURAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. — Merrill Lynch Company state they have obtained a direct report from two of the largest New York banks as to the banking conditions involved in yesterday's stock market. The reports were substantially as follows:

One—There was no banking support in yesterday's market. The rebound in prices was a natural development.

Two—Prior to the opening two instances of distress were taken in strong hands and relieved. It is believed that no other instances now exist.

Three—A number of large blocks of stock which were being pressed for sale on Wednesday were liquidated at private sale.

Four—It is the opinion of these bankers that a turn has come for the better. However, it is believed that the so-called blue ribbon stocks will gradually settle to an investment basis. It is believed that the many secondary issues now selling to yield abnormally high returns will more likely have sustained advances than the others.

AN OPPORTUNE TIME TO BUY

Shares of Fifty Premier Corporations with One Investment

FIXED INVESTMENT TRUSTS HAVE STOOD THE TEST OF THE STOCK MARKET'S MOST DRASTIC DECLINE

WE regard the present as an unusually favorable time to acquire stocks of 50 premier corporations. We are recommending to all our clients the purchase of Diversified Trustee Shares, Series C, at what will, in retrospect, almost certainly appear as bargain prices.

We have prepared a list of prices of 61 Investment Trust Common Stocks in comparison with Diversified Trustee Shares, giving the high for 1929, low for 1929 up until October 29 and decline from the year's high. The quotations are of investment trust common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, New York Curb Market, Boston and Chicago Exchanges, and are taken from the New York Times. The date selected, October 29, 1929, was that of the stock markets' greatest activity and greatest decline—16,410,030 shares traded—New York Times industrial stock average down 55.71 points during the day. On that day, Diversified Trustee Shares, Series C, declined only ½ point.

Average decline of investment trusts of the management type from the year's high was 40½ points, or 64%. In contrast, the decline of Diversified Trustee Shares, Series C, from the year's high was only 2¾ points.

A better demonstration of the stability of the fixed investment trust, in our opinion, could not be had.

STOCK MARKET RALLY FAILS TO HOLD

Gains Made at Opening In Many Cases Reduced And Turned Into Losses

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—Stock prices rallied briskly at the opening of today's market and then fell back sharply on what appeared to be the sale of support stock purchased yesterday and profit-taking by professional traders, who were disinclined to stay long of the market over the two-day holiday. Trading was back to a normal volume, although the exchange was again opened only for three hours.

Early gains in the leaders ran from 1 to 10 points, with a few specialties showing larger advances, on buying influenced by the sustained recovery in yesterday's session, and the unexpectedly large drop of $656,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans. The demand quickly tapered off, however, and prices began to recede around the end of the first hour, many of the early gains being cancelled and a number converted into losses of 1 to 5 points.

Call money renewed unchanged at 6 per cent, with the demand moderate, and time money was in fair supply at the same rate for all maturities.

The day's business news was rather colorless in character, although most of the earnings' reports published made favorable comparison with a year ago. Rumors of another large increase in the monthly tonnage statment of the United States Steel Corporation, to be made public at noon tomorrow, had a stabilizing influence.

U. S. Steel common was again the bell-wether of the market. Opening unchange at 174½, the stock advanced to 175¾, broke to 171 and then crossed 173 on the rebound. Auburn Auto lost most of an initial gain of 21 points. American Telephone, Sears, Roebuck, Johns-Manville, General Electric, Radio and several of the other leaders lost their early gains and sold 1 to 5 points lower.

Prices sagged throughout the list in the final minutes of trading, but liquidation was in moderate volume. U. S. Steel closed at 171, off 3½, General Motors at 43, off ½, Radio at 35½, off 2, National Cash Register was a strong spot, closing up 2½ points, and several of the oils, including Barnsdall and Atlantic Refining, closed with small gains. The closing tone was easy. Total sales approximated 3,214,600.

TRADE BALANCE FAVORS U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Exports from the United States were reported today by the Department of Commerce to have exceeded imports during September by $86,315,693.

Exports during the month amounted to $437,680,602, an increase of $16,073,770 over the corresponding month of 1928 when exports totaled $420,606,832. For the nine months period ending September 30, exports totaled $3,844,404,666, as compared with $3,557,584,860.

Imports in September totaled $351,364,909, against $319,617,861 in the same month of 1928. Imports for the nine months period totaled $3,360,247,458, as compared with $3,070,113,199 last year.

STEEL TONNAGE GAIN SEEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—United States Steel Corporation unfilled tonnage is estimated to have increased between 150,000 and 200,000 tons in October to nearly 4,100,000 tons, compared with 3,751,030 tons a year ago. The report will be issued at noon tomorrow.

October steel ingot production averaged 167,098 tons daily, against 180,435 daily in September and 172,221 in October, 1928.

Chevrolet Motor Company has begun to take shipments of automobile body sheets, enabling some mills to broaden schedules.

Ford continues a fair buyer of steel.

Exports of Grain Higher for Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Bradstreet's estimates the exports of grain for the week, figures in bushels, as follows: Wheat, flour included, 6,225,120, compared with 5,915,456 last week and 12,438,292 in this week a year ago; from July 1, 112,029,354 against 197,295,065 in the same period last year. Corn, 21,184, compared with 26,666 last week and 419,918 in this week last year; from July 1, 782,501, contrasted with 1,742,828 in the similar period a year ago.

Court Abrogates Claim Precedence

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals here has handed down a decision abrogating the rule of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange giving its members priority claims on balances due an insolvent member, and held that the rights of common creditors to share in these balances are the same as those of the exchange members.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Worthington Pump.

The Worthington Pump and Machinery Corporation is planning to form an export subsidiary to consolidate its large foreign business, similar to the export subsidiary of General Motors and other large firms. Worthington Pump already has British, French, German, Hungarian, Austrian and Italian subsidiaries.

Soap Exports Up.

Exports of American toilet soap and toilet preparations for the first eight months of 1929 were valued at $7,526,000, against $7,320,000 for a similar period in 1928. The establishment of branch factories in foreign countries were reported as continuing to effect the export figures of dentifrices.

Cotton Rule Changed.

Members of the New York Cotton Exchange have approved an amendment to the by-laws providing for delivery under the new contract at Savannah. Delivery now may be made at Norfolk, Charleston, Savannah, Galveston, Houston or New Orleans, in addition to New York.

Allis Chalmers Orders.

Unfilled orders of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, of Milwaukee, as of November 1, amounted to $13,900,000, compared with $13,446,000 on October 1, an increase of $454,000.

Continental Oil.

The Continental Oil Company has been given a two-year extension on 79 permits on government leases in New Mexico by the Department of Interior.

Remington Contract.

The Remington-Rand Corporation, makers of office equipment, has contracted with the New York Stock Exchange Clearing House for the leasing of tabulating machines at an annual rental of $180,000.

IMPROVED TONE IN LOCAL MARKET

Fuel Stocks Score Gains With Lone Star Leading; Industrial Issues Firm

Prices were firm in the early dealings on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today with leading securities recovering part of the loss sustained in the two previous sessions.

Fuels displayed a better tone at the opening under the leadership of Lone Star Gas and Western Public Service. Arkansas Gas, which had been depressed as a result of the Cities Service weakness on the New York Curb, opened unchanged at 12. In the early selling yesterday Arkansas made a fair showing and finished the day with a net gain of one point.

Industrials were also in better demand although there was no evidence that the buyers had abandoned the cautious attitude in evidence for the past two weeks. Recoveries of from one to two points were noted in some of the better grade issues, but most of the trading was of the odd-lot variety.

LARGER COTTON CROP SEEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS.)—The United States will have a cotton crop this year of approximately 15,009,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, the crop reporting board of the Department of Agriculture announced today.

A yield of 154.1 pounds of lint cotton per acre from 46,594,000 acres for harvest was forecast. Last year's crop amounted to 14,478,000 bales.

Simultaneously, the Census Bureau issued a report showing that 10,889,314 running bales, counting round as half bales, had been ginned from the 1929 crop prior to November 1, compared with 10,162,482 bales for the same period of 1928.

Reynolds Appointed By Advertising Men

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Frank J. Reynolds, president of Albert Frank & Co., has been appointed national councillor to represent the American Association of Advertising Agencies in the United States Chamber of Commerce. As a member of the council, Mr. Reynolds will serve as liason officer between the advertising profession and the Chamber of Commerce and will represent the association at the various meetings of the council.

The national councillors act in an advisory capacity to the officers and board of directors of the national chamber, bringing to their attention all matters arising in their respective localities or industries of interest and value to the members.

Grigsby-Grunow to Shut Down Earlier

CHICAGO, Nov. 8. — Grigsby-Grunow will shut down completely within 10 days in order that its distributors and dealers may close the calendar year with no excessive inventories, according to B. J. Grigsby, president. The plants will be in full operation by January 1, however, said Mr. Grigsby.

"Our company will be in an extremely favorable position to go into 1930, and with the possible addition of diversified products, we have every confidence in the future," added Mr. Grigsby.

Wall Street Chaos May Lead Corporations to Supply Data Formerly Concealed

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Times of stress and strain test the soundness of financial machinery.

Out of the recent chaos, one favorable result may be a disposition on the part of the management of corporations to take their stockholders, who are the real owners of the business, into their confidence to a greater extent. In times of excited speculation for the rise, the practice of mysteriously hiding earnings and assets may perhaps help the bull cause, but when the wheels of financial fortune are turning the other way, there is an increasing recognition of the fact that stockholders are entitled to know how their companies stand, so that they will not fall victims to passing hysteria and unwarranted pessimism.

Already there have been indications of a changing viewpoint in this regard. For example, the sponsors of a group of the largest trading companies, which have not fared well marketwise during the recent period of emotionalism in Wall Street, have sent a message to their stockholders, not only revealing in fuller detail than before the nature and success of the operations of the companies, but also assuring the smaller stockholder that the big interests behind the venture had not gotten out from under during the earlier rise, but had in fact held intact their original investment, and in some instances taken advantage of recent low prices to enlarge their stake in the enterprises.

REVEAL FACTS

In view of the departure on the part of the public from sound financial practices during the recent period of liquidation, it is entirely proper, in my opinion, for the officers and directors to let the less well informed stockholders know that those with the best access to company information had seen no reason to disgorge themselves of their stock holdings.

Thus far, the Stock Exchange machinery has stood up reasonably well under the strain.

The current situation, however, emphasizes the unsatisfactory method of making Wall Street loans. The market is safest when the New York banks, who have shown themselves to be the only responsible money lenders, are in control of the situation, rather than transient foreign and out-of-town banks and bootleg lenders. The recent swift withdrawals of funds recall the reiterated warnings of Paul M. Warburg, former vice governor of the Federal Reserve Board, that the market is potentially subject to such shocks as long as it is financed by one-day loans. Mr. Warburg has long advocated the gradual introduction of the European system of fortnightly or other periodical settlements, instead of daily settlements, so that the speculative market could be financed by short-time loans, instead of demand loans.

BUY OUTRIGHT

The secondary weakness in the market emphasized the desirability of acquiring bargains on the basis of outright purchases for the long pull, rather than on the basis of thinly margined transactions intended for a quick turn.

Much of the selling reflects only emotion and necessity, rather than a reasonable appraisal of intrinsic worth. Anticipating such swings of the pendulum to extremes, some canny financiers have deliberately made plans to lay the basis for entirely new fortunes by carefully picking up stocks at the proper time at prices which undervalue earnings, assets and authentic prospects. The best indication of the unintelligent character of much of the selling lies in the fact that on dips some stocks have been quoted at less than their pro rata share of corporate cash on hand. In such cases, the market allowed nothing for physical non-cash assets, established earning power and managerial skill.

It is to be hoped that the policy of greater frankness in regard to the authentic state of corporate affairs will not be regarded as purely a transient emergency measure. If the outside stockholders frequently were told the essential facts concerning the real value of their holdings, they would be less prone to exaggerate market worth in bull periods and less subject to unjustified pessimism during periods of collective skepticism.

GOES PART WAY

One of the large public utility holding companies has gone part of the way in frankness, but in my opinion it has not gone quite far enough. Although its stock recently sold down almost to one-third of its recent peak price, the company has just reported for the year ending September 30 a 22 per cent gain over the corresponding period last year in net earnings. If the report stopped there, it would have withheld from the stockholders vital information concerning the real earnings of the company. But the president, sensitive to the abnormal public psychology prevailing, went out of his way to add that the reported earnings did not include the "substantial profits" arising from the sale of securities which were in the company's portfolio, nor "do they reflect the proportionate interest" of the holding company "in the undistributed earnings of those companies of which it owns less than a majority of the voting common stock."

The company is, of course, following sound procedure in segregating the profits from operations from capital gains in securities. However, in my opinion, it owes an obligation to its real owners—the great array of scattered stockholders—to reveal precisely the amount of other income, including capital appreciation from the sale of securities, and it also ought to give accurate indications of what its equity in the undistributed earnings of other companies in which it has a minority interest is.

FARM BOARD O.K.'S LOANS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—The Federal Farm Board today approved a loan of not exceeding $6,000,000 to the State Cotton Co-operative Association to supplement loans to that organization from other sources.

The loan will enable the association to make advances to its member growers on the 16 cents a pound basis, and constituted a revision of a former loan on a small amount by the board.

The board also approved Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association at Raleigh, N. C., to supplement loans obtained from the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank at Columbia, S. C.

The Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Association of Oklahoma City was loaned $5,000,000 to supplement advances from commercial banks. Of this amount the board advanced $493,000 on November 7.

A commodity loan of $500,000 made to the North Dakota-Montana Wheat Growers' Association of Grand Forks, N. D., was increased, to $2,500,000, the maximum of a commodity loan, to supplement loans from the intermediate credit bank at St. Paul.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP.)—The curb market rallied substantially at the opening today, but sold off moderately during the remainder of the session under the influence of profit-taking and week-end liquidation.

Trading quieted down markedly, and soon after mid-day the ticker was practically abreast of trading. The three-hour session, which brings to an end another hectic week, was the most orderly experienced on this market in a fortnight.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Things I Never Knew Till Now

THAT Paul Ash, renowned as an orchestra leader (and who has shattered box office records), never had an orchestra, but conducted those supplied by the various theaters.

That a shark is a plagiostomous selachian.

That the front cover of the Saturday Evening Post of two Thursdays ago spelled "Mammy" with one m.

That French pastry is known as Viennese pastry in France and French fried potatoes are called "long fried, American style."

That cats are color blind and everything appears gray to them.

That sardine manufacturers would gladly put more sardines in the can—if possible—the oil costing them more than the midget fish.

That a Fourteenth street store, which features great sales daily, has at least one window broken each week.

That the lyric of the delightful theme song "Love (Your Spell is Everywhere)," in Gloria Swanson's grand movie, was written by Elsie Janis, who never has been in love, poor thing.

LIKES GOOD READING

THAT in Chas. Mack's (Moran & Mack) $250,000 Hollywood home he has a huge library containing no other tomes except 500 copies of his own book, "The Two Black Crows in the A. E. F.

That Mr. Vizetelly, of the Literary Digest, objects to our recent comment that the word "pornographic" is not in the Funk & Wagnall's Desk Standard Dictionary.

Five will bring Mr. Vizetelley 10 that is isn't.

That the new song hit, "Love Me," which was imported from France, is a bold theft of Romberg's "Maytime."

That scorpions eat their husbands after marriage.

That Jerome Kern, the composer, made $1,500,000 profit on his collection of rare books, which cost him $250,000.

That a check issued by the U. S. Government for $100,000,000 signed by Maj. H. S. Hosletin and paid to the Director General of Railroads March 22, 1919, is the largest (non-rubber) check ever drawn.

THEY'RE CHEAP, TOO

THAT Barclay Warburton, Jr.'s bathroom is papered with news headlines to remind him of the egg he laid when he was an editor.

That the largest county is San Bernardino County, California, having an area of 20,175 square miles.

That if a former subscriber to a magazine or paper continues to accept from the postal authorities the delivery of a mag or paper, the publishers can sue for recovery of the amount, even though the subscription has expired.

That 99 out of every 100 persons mispronounces the word "eight-een" by calling it "eigh-teen."

That kippered herring, contrary to general opinion, is not a Jewish delicacy, but the national dish of Scotland.

That the stage doorman at Ford's Theater, Baltimore (which was built in 1871), is supposed to have been there for 58 years.

ON THE LEVEL

THAT the Masonic Level Club in Manhattan, which also features a hotel, now accepts guests even if they are not Masons.

That Margaret Shotwell, the prima donna, who has been starring at Town Hall, is in a serious condition at the Savoy-Plaza, the result of blowing all her riches in the recent market crash.

That the most prominent members of New York's society, who are supposed to have the best manners, talk the loudest and behave most abominably at the premieres, particularly at a Ziegfeld opening.

That an oyster has to faw down and hurt itself before it offers a pearl. The pearl, in short, is merely a boil or bump.

That New York, with all its shows, can boast of only four real legit hits—from the box-office viewpoint. The shows are: "Strictly Dishonorable," "It's a Wise Child," "Gambling" and "June Moon."

That the "ticket buy" the speculators make on a promising show isn't as significant as it used to be. The brokerages can return most of them and McBride can return them all!

That what probably is the oldest of current jokes ends: "That was no lady; that was my wife!" And it was originated by Charley Jerome in Ward & Voke's show, "The Run on the Bank," in 1890.

And that a girl's neck usually is the same size as her calves.

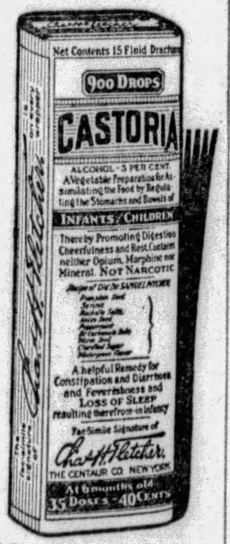
If Baby has COLIC



A cry in the night may be the first warning that Baby has colic. No cause for alarm if Castoria is handy! This pure vegetable preparation brings quick comfort, and can never do the slightest harm. Always keep a bottle in the house. It is the safe and sensible thing when children are ailing. Whether it's the stomach, or the little bowels; colic or constipation; or diarrhea. When tiny tongues are coated, or the breath is bad. Whenever there's need of gentle regulation. Children love the taste of Castoria, and its mildness makes it suitable for the tiniest infant, and for frequent use.

And a more liberal dose of Castoria is always better for growing children than some needlessly strong medicine meant only for adult use. Genuine Castoria always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Prescribed by doctors!

"CAN DO MORE AND ENDURE MORE"

Chas. Rajni Says Way His Vigor and Pep Grew Was a Wonder.

Commendation of the wonderful restoring effects of World's Tonic, the new medicine that is arousing so much comment in this city, continues to come in rapidly. The experience here given is only one of many, some more remarkable. "There came a time to me, as I guess it does to everyone, when I began to feel that I was not getting all that I ought to get out of the enjoyments of life. The things I ate did not taste so good, I lacked the vim to do the things I used to do, and I had little appetite and little desire for the company of other folks. I liked better to be alone," said Charles Rajni, of Sharon, Pa., in conversation only a few days ago.

"I did not fully realize how I was slipping until my stomach practically went back on me and I had to take different kinds of physics every night to get my bowels to move. I had indigestion frequently, and it was followed by poor blood, of course. There seemed to be no strength in my muscles. I felt aches and pains over my back and kidneys, and before long these spread to my arms and legs. Then a rash broke out over my body and my breath became so bad from catarrh people used to edge away from me. But the worst of it all was that I felt so weak. I had no pep and vigor. If I exerted myself I felt like an old man, and I am only 34.

"One day I saw an advertisement of a new medicine. It stated that this was a real help to weak, ailing people. I bought a bottle and began a course of World's Tonic. It proved a wonderful help. Not only did it at once give me strength, but it corrected my stomach, regulated my bowels so that my food tasted good and made good blood. My kidneys became more active. The aches in my back and limbs disappeared, and the rash dried up. These in themselves were wonderful. But the way my vigor and pep increased was even more wonderful. Why, I feel as young as ever I did and I can do more and endure more than ever. For pep and real vigor, I would advise anybody to take this World's Tonic. It is a wonder." World's Tonic can be obtained of Dow's (formerly McCulloch's), also May's, and Mayflower Stores, or at any other first class drug store. (B-21)

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES
DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

The Better Positions Are Advertised in the Sun-Telegraph.....

Business men are constantly on the lookout for conscientious, courteous, efficient help. They realize that such employees are an asset to their organization. Experience has taught employers that they can expect this type of applicants from their 'Help Wanted' Ads in the Sun-Telegraph. This is not due to mere chance, but to the fact that these applicants are regular Sun-Telegraph readers—persons who buy the Sun-Telegraph because they like it as a newspaper.

If you are looking for a position or wish to better yourself, make the perusal of the 'Help Wanted' Columns a regular part of your newspaper reading. If the opening you desire is not in today's paper it may be in tomorrow's. Keep an eye on the Sun-Telegraph 'Help Wanted' Section 'til you find what you want.

BOX OFFICE BLUES

Oh, the rude box office man
Has a cold and haughty pan,
And his eyebrow's slightest curve
Makes you realize you've a nerve
To expect that you could get Any decent place to sit.

Customers to him are dirt,
He is weary, he is curt,
And his fishy stare blase
Takes you in as if to say,
"Hooked you are, my lad, I know You're a sap—I've seen the show."

WHAT EVERY YOUNG GIRL SHOULD KNOW

(Pictorial Review)

"You've got to teach strength so that the weak can be protected and teach it to girls and boys alike. Two boys came to see a girl of eleven who lives in our neighborhood. They got into an argument and started pommeling each other. There didn't seem to be any way of stopping them. The girl climbed the tree under which the boys were rolling about and jumped right on top of them. She knocked out a tooth in her upper jaw, but she stopped the fight. She had what I call the right upbringing." —HENRY FORD.

The Devil in Society

Yours truly
Dick Maple

Colonel Dick Maple, the man who "spent nearly a million dollars to smite the Painted Cheek of Fashionable Society by the Hand of Justice," has a lesson for us all. He was one of the Great Crusaders of the late nineties. Alas! few of us have read his "Black History of High Life Painted in Letters of Fire" in which he "Exposes the Crimson Hand of that Old Hag." In order to acquaint the present generation with this man's noble work, exerpts from "Palaces of Sin, or the Devil in Society," will appear in this column beginning tomorrow.

Vote Machine Adoption Fine Civic Achievement

Outstanding in the result of Tuesday's balloting is the impressive demand for the voting machine. Unofficial figures available as this is written, including returns from more than 90 per cent of the 1,457 election districts of the county, show the vote to be just a fraction short of being 5 to 1 in favor of adopting vote machines for the entire county. Of course a mere majority would have sufficed to bring about this reform in voting, but there is satisfaction in noting the unanimity of approval the proposal received.

This is one of the most progressive mandates the citizens of the county have ever given and it is much to their credit that they gave it in numbers that can be regarded as expressing a peremptory degree of insistence.

The strong support given to the voting machine in Allegheny County also has a special significance and appropriateness. It may be said that Allegheny County has given the vote machine to the state, since it was here that the first effective movement to have it legalized had its origin. The late State Senator John P. Harris can be credited with being the father of the vote machine law in Pennsylvania. His brother, State Senator Frank J. Harris, carried on the activities initiated by the first Senator Harris. He successfully sponsored the legislation necessary and was a leader in the campaign for adoption of the machine in his home county after the act he had fathered was made a law of the state.

Of course the ingrained civic honesty of the majority of the people as a whole is the prime reason for the ultimate success of this means of making elections the voice of the decent instead of the connivings of crooks, but they were fortunate in having such courageous and vigorous leaders as the Senators Harris to give initiative to public demands.

As soon as the Sun-Telegraph entered the newspaper field of Pittsburgh it promulgated a platform of which plank No. 7 is "Voting machines to insure honest elections." It gave the aid of its columns unstintingly to this cause and was much gratified to see other members of the press of the county take it up and give it whole-hearted support. Political leaders, too, joined and the result of these activities is a splendid achievement.

Truth About Movies

Comment from Bavaria.

Dr. Koelsh, Bavarian state councilor and industrial physician to the Bavarian government, having tested the effect of American moving pictures on young people, declares that they turn the young AWAY from crime and evildoing because they show inevitable punishment for crime.

That is one of very few common sense statements about moving pictures.

Dr. Koelsh goes even further and tells his American audience, "I believe, as a physician, that if this invention had not come at this time, and had not been developed with the competency with which your producers brought it to its perfection, the routine of modern industrial life would have pent up human emotions and tensed human nerves until there might well have come an explosion volcanic enough to disrupt society."

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

THE latter cells illustrate a kind of motion, very different from muscular movement, of which we have said nothing hitherto; each cell has, rising from its free surface, a number of fine, whiplike projections—cilia—by whose continual lashing it keeps in motion the fluid layer covering it. Air, as it enters the nose, leaves its coarser particles of dust entangled by the hairs in our nostrils.

In fresh country air the amount of dust is small and practically none of it gets through this protective labyrinth into the lungs. In towns, on the other hand, the air carries soot and various other concentrations, and the alveoli of town dwellers are usually definitely grubby.

H. G. Wells

In the first place air is cold, but as it filters through the warm channels of the nose the chill of cool air is taken off and it reaches the alveoli at a more comfortable temperature. More important than heat is the question of water loss. The alveolar walls are moist and their moisture plays an essential part in the exchange of gases between air and blood. A continuous draught of ordinary room air would rapidly dry up the delicate alveoli by evaporating their water. But the lining of the nasal cavities is also moist and air is saturated with water vapor as it passes through the nose; thus in the alveoli it takes up very little.

It is curious to note in passing a system of air spaces running into the bones of the face and communicating with the nasal cavity by means of small openings.

Apparently the purpose of these spaces is to lighten the architecture of the skull. Sometimes they may be invaded by bacteria through the openings into the nose, or, in the case of the large sinus in the upper jaw, from the root of a bad tooth, and inflammatory conditions may set in.

Oxygen from the air reaches the blood in a state of diffusion. It is dissolved in the plasma. But the amount the plasma could carry in a state of solution would not be enough for the energy-production of a mammal's body. And here it is that the importance of the red blood corpuscles comes in. They are specialized oxygen-carriers. The haemoglobin, the red substance coloring the red blood-cells, combines chemically with oxygen and so increases enormously the amount of oxygen that any given volume of blood can carry. The oxygen diffuses through into the plasma and the red corpuscles pick it up.

As has already been said, it is to haemoglobin that blood owes its color. The color of oxygen-free haemoglobin differs from that of the haemoglobin-oxygen compound; the former is purple, the latter scarlet. This is why arterial blood is red while venous blood is purplish-blue.

Let us note the structure of the cells involved in this respiratory exchange. The processes are very simple. The cells of the alveolar walls and the red cells of the blood do not perform complex and varied functions; they do not contract and relax, or secrete digestive juices, or transmit nervous impulses. Their duties involve no energy-consuming processes at all; the cells are merely water-containing structures through which dissolved gases diffuse.

We find corresponding to this simplicity of function an extreme simplicity of structure. A human red-cell is little more than a minute bag containing haemoglobin, and so shaped that it has a very large surface.

A lining-cell of our lungs is little more than a thin, flat plate. They are the extreme of cell simplicity in our bodies.

SECTION 6—KIDNEYS AND OTHER EXHAUST ORGANS.

THE next round in our itinerary of the immensely complicated aggregation of living cell-mechanisms which constitutes a human being must be the organs that get rid of the exhaust products of billions of these internal combustion engines. And which also get rid of the waste matters resulting from their wear and tear.

The substances constituting the former class are two, water and carbon dioxide.

The members of the second class are more numerous; the most important is ammonia, but there are also other substances such as uric acid, creatinine and sulphuric acid, containing nitrogen, phosphorous, sulphur and other elements in various forms.

These substances are shed into the blood in small amounts only, and (with the exception of ammonia) their presence does not constitute any immediate danger to the living body.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

The Well-Pressed Man

NEW YORK'S mayoralty campaign was famous for candidates criticising each other's clothes.

"Bugs" Baer

Everybody admits that Jimmy Walker is the best dressed municipal monarch east of the Great Divide.

When it comes to clothes, Jim is an authority inside the subject.

He is an inspiration to other civic overseers. We would like to look as neat as Mayor Walker.

We cannot understand how he looks good when he has only one tailor—and we have almost a dozen. The Ten Royal Tailors of Chicago.

We purchase our clothes out of the finest catalogues obtainable in waiting rooms in railroad stations.

Politics are getting tough when you have to criticise a man's clothes. The old days of Congress gaiters and seersucker dusters are gone.

The public man of today is a representative citizen. He wears a flower in his buttonhole and avoids well-egged vests.

Activities of the welcoming committees have popularized the high hat and spats. No longer do we listen to the Websterian orators shaking dandruff over their audiences and punctuating their tirades with tobacco juice.

In spite of what the dental ads say about the huge majority, a candidate with halitosis would not get four out of five votes.

America has become a well-dressed nation and we want our public officers to look handsome and ironed. Every time you see a defeated candidate he has baggy knees, curly lapels and is wearing a soft hat that looks like the egg-in-the-bag trick.

Photographs of President Hoover and his Cabinet indicate that our natural resources are not limited to a walk-up suit with two pairs of pants.

CABBAGES AND KINGS AGAIN

By Herbert Kaufman

SENSATIONS, like troubles, never come singly. For the past fortnight news wires have fairly sagged under the weight of portentous reports.

So many spectacular events have competed for the international limelight that a hundred happenings of usual front page importance hardly had the chance to hold attention.

Now that the stock market is snaffled and submitting to the traces, the elections over, the Fall decision rendered, a new French premier in the saddle and Hiram Bingham spanked, it's opportune to recall that Dikeman was bucked from his winged broncho into Davy Jones' locker, which hasn't SINCE yielded the slightest clue of that ill-fated ride in Lindbergh's wake.

The odds against lone trans-Atlantic flights are heavy enough without loading them with recklessness. The Montana cowboy stacked the deck against himself by an inadequate gas supply, an inferior plane, and a take-off without previous weather check-ups.

A FOOLHARDY act, even IF a magnificent gesture.

Had Dikeman waited a little longer, his chances would have been immeasurably increased through the use of a just perfected wireless device, which photo-radios meteorological charts to pilots en route, and continuously flashes the course of storm movements.

Even Thomas Alva Edison, whose bask in his own incandescent light was so rudely cut short by the distracting intrusion of bull bellows, must get a tremendous kick out of such a TOUR DE FORCE.

There's no use wasting any further thought on the tariff situation. All the King's horses and men can't put that cracked Humpty back on the wall THIS session.

The lobby investigation had hopelessly blockaded immediate passage of the Hawley Act, and the steady decline of wheat prices will all the more stiffen agriculture's resistance to a bill in which the farmer reads favoritism to industry, and the voiding of campaign pledges to place the plow on a protective parity with the loom and the triphammer.

THE appointment of Mrs. Willebrandt's successor is another important move which scarcely registers on public memory. It's dollars to crullers that you don't even remember his name.

And it's a safe wager that you haven't digested the significance of his statement that, under HIS administration, prohibition will be enforced with meticulous respect for other statutes, and strictly within constitutional and Volstead Act stipulations.

Mr. Lowman, Bishop Cannon and fanaticism, please take notice.

Limitations of space render apology to the distinguished Japanese physician, whose enpassant observations on the possibility of Burbanking future generations, evoked so little enthusiasm from the daily press.

His heartening assurance that selective breeding, assisted by biochemistry, will enable the future to eliminate frail and unfit types, is justified by the proud workings of the Mendelian Law in animal husbandry, poultry raising and grain culture.

NOTHING now seems preposterous in the realm of anthropological evolution, after checking the results of the human system's response to gland manipulation and metabolic control.

If these phrases gag your understanding, turn to the encyclopedia and learn what makes your wheels go round.

You wouldn't think of driving a car without knowledge of its motor and transmission. And two-thirds of prevalent illness, confusion, accidents and market losses are simply due to half-cocked intelligence, and neglect to profit by generally available knowledge.

The difference between a Lindbergh and a Dikeman, a successful investor and a shorn lamb, a well man and an invalid, is largely a matter of caution, thoroughness and knowing what it's all about.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

HERE'S an amusing bit from a friend's letter:

"My cat sits here and looks at me with bored eyes because I don't pay any attention to her. Pretty soon she'll come over and bite me for the same reason. She's just like some people . . . TRIES TO GIVE HERSELF NUISANCE VALUE WHEN SHE FEELS IGNORED."

Nuisance Value . . . that's what you used, frequently, when you were five. Remember? Company visiting. Grown folk, sitting around discussing their own affairs . . . paying no attention to little you. You wanted to be paid attention to . . . you wanted AWFULLY to be paid attention to. You fidgeted. Made small noises. Ventured sociable remarks. But not an eye or ear was turned your way. Rage and rebellion rose within your small soul. Such ignominy was not to be borne! You'd MAKE them pay attention to you. So you YELLED! And instantly you had the stage.

THAT was Nuisance Value . . . as acquired by little persons of five. But many persons prolong Nuisance Value far beyond five. There's Ena Weeks, for example. Ena Weeks was one of those pretty, pouty, petty packages that strong men sometimes marry in absent-minded moments. Years ago, Joe Weeks realized that he'd made a terrible mistake. He stuck it out manfully . . . tried to act the part of the devoted husband . . . but Ena saw through it. Tears, tantrums and sulks failed to revive his interest, but Ena found a way. She went in for Sick Headaches—Minor Operations—Nervous Prostrations.

ENA HAD HIM HOG-TIED WITH HER NUISANCE VALUE.

The typical Office Pest . . . that's another example. Usually it's some disappointed older woman or disgruntled man who has wanted to be Somebody, but never arrived. So they satisfy their rankling souls by making everyone else miserable . . . meddling, investigating, tattling . . . ACHIEVING NUISANCE VALUE.

Ever since the war our whole country has been overrun by similar pests. People who have never been able to create Important Business of their own so they achieve power and place by meddling in other people's business. Reforms are their meat! As long as they can Reform or Investigate something, raise some sort of a rumpus, they're happy. For thereby they get attention. Human mosquitoes! Nuisance Value—they have it, and how!

Text For Today God sent not the Son into the world to judge the world, but that the world should be saved through Him.—John iii:17.

A Good King and His Skull

It Was Crowned With Gold From America.

THE SKULL OF ST. WENCESLAS, BOHEMIA'S KING, DEAD ALMOST 1,000 YEARS.

Here is a picture on which youth and age might meditate, and preachers might preach good sermons.

It shows the skull of St. Wenceslas, the "Good King" of Bohemia, as it is today.

A few days ago, in a great celebration at Prague, this skull, preserved for almost a thousand years, was brought from its resting place and crowned in all honor with a golden diadem sent for the occasion by Czechs living in America.

What was once Bohemia is now Czecho-Slovakia. The good St. Wenceslas, ancient king and patron saint of Bohemia, is now the patron saint of Czecho-Slovakia. All the Czechs venerate him, and do him great honor.

He became king of Bohemia exactly 1,001 years ago. Seven years later, on September 28, 935, he was murdered by his brother Boleslav.

Many kings, good and bad, had their careers ended by murder, and often brothers ambitious for the throne were the murderers.

You see here the complete skull of the old king and saint, minus a few teeth. There were no good dentists in the days of this king, no good toothbrushes either. Teeth did not last.

"The hateful road of old age" of which the father of Hector complained to Achilles, was even more hateful before false teeth, good dentistry, and well made eye glasses and scientific cathartics came to prolong youth and to comfort.

This isn't exactly a cheerful picture. Even the wise DISLIKE the thought of death, while the foolish DREAD it.

But it is a picture to make even the thoughtless think a little.

Kings and peasants, rich and poor, the great and the nobodies, we shall all be like this in a few years.

All the reason for doing as much useful work as possible NOW, while our eyes still look out of the bony sockets, and words still come, for good or evil, from the bony mouth.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Thoughts while strolling: What's become of collectors of birds eggs? Slick Broadway boys who try to look like yokels. Walter Chrysler admiring the skyscraper named for him on Forty-second street. Who remembers when plasterers went to work in street cars?

Luncheon crowds oozing out of skyscrapers like human lava. Francis Hackett, a Kilkenny, Ireland, boy who made good in the city. Delicatessen sign: "Take home a complete dinner—from soup to nuts." The Thirty-eighth street bootblack who wears a heavy black eyeglass ribbon.

The foolhardy who stand on high building ledges to watch parades. Another "French cafe" tries out sidewalk tables. B-r-r-r! Theatrical boarding houses curtained and sullen all day. But stir into activity at night. Nothing so awkward as a German police puppy. Ziegfeld's newest beauty—Ruth Morgan.

Sporty young men who live off their actress sisters. Waggish magic shop announces: "Parachutes for pent house parties." The fellow who doubles for Flo Ziegfeld in the movies. Several new apartment houses stressing the California-Spanish architecture. Arch Selwyn's cigar.

Herbert Bayard Swope going cross town — buckitty, buckitty! Moochers who hang around speakeasy entrances. And gin guzzling flappers known as Babe or Billie. The cellar cafes chantant with Russian cuisine—run by Italians. And with the quiescent gloom of a tomb.

That constant tremble on Park avenue from trains thundering into Grand Central. Nothing makes you feel so middle-class as one of those butlers who wears a white sateen coat. The $1.50 tea rooms near exclusive hotels. Those clubmen who always open their newspapers at the financial page.

Debutantes with snubby noses, generous mouths and freckles. And fearful they will not be noticed. Gigolos who wear platinum chains cater-cornered across their vests. Fannie Hurst and her husband strolling arm in arm. The "dew is still on the rose." Noel Coward's pink muffler.

The legend of Fannie Hurst and her husband being domiciled in far away separate apartments was long ago exploded. Yet so fixed did it become in public thought that people seem surprised when they appear in public together. They are a devoted couple, rarely separated save when he goes on concert tours, and are seen frequently in little restaurants off the beaten path—as moonstruck as two youthful lovers.

The new Waldorf Astoria Hotel rising on Park avenue in the Forties has proven a great magnet for passersby. Because of its traditions, the rapidly mounting structure has inspired more newspaper comment than almost any building since the Woolworth flared up to the skies.

One of the features of the new inn will be a motor entrance tunnel. This will permit patrons to step from their motors to elevators without passing through foyers. Only those who have to endure the long waits to reach hotel motor entrances on the street can appreciate this innovation.

There is keen speculation, too, as to whether the famous Oscar is to be a member of the managerial staff. Oscar is a perpetual fount of newspaper copy. Ruddy-cheeked, moon-faced and with a port-wincy mellowness, he might have stepped from one of those English prints of a Mine Host greeting an arriving coach. Oscar refused to remain parked at a glass-topped desk after his rise from the scullery. He paid personal visits to every department daily.

* * *

An auto with a lighted cross attached to its hood has been racing up and down Broadway late at night recently. It has nothing else to indicate its significance.

"At times," postcards L. S. Denven, "your stuff is O. K. and other times you give us all a pain. Week before last, for instance? What in the world was the matter?

That week I was just shadow columning.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

HOW easy it is to excuse yourself for not saving money.

Others are to blame if your savings account is not expanding.

If other members of your family did not spend so much you might do much better, you say. Not infrequently you tell them this. At the same time you are not making any great self-denials.

If you have no family very likely you blame your friends for their encouragement of your expenditures. You tell yourself that if your friends spent less you would save more.

Yet you seldom object to any line of amusement your crowd suggests by way of having a good time.

You want it understood that you are not a "piker." You want to be considered a good fellow. You like to hear it mentioned that you are a good spender and that you are bound to give hearty sanction to any proposal made.

Then you blame the crowd for your lack of independence and your own failure to exercise discrimination and judgment in money matters.
